MOODY & LUSBY.

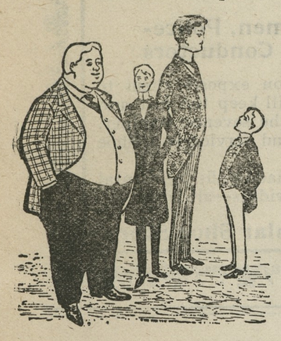

What have you done with all your Clothing?

asked a patron the other day. Sold it we answered. Yes—since we notified the public that all winter goods would be closed at reduced prices in order to make room for our Spring arrivals. Our stock has shrunken very materially. People of Kent and Queen Anne counties have availed themselves, knowing when we advertise reduced prices, it is bona fide, and means something.

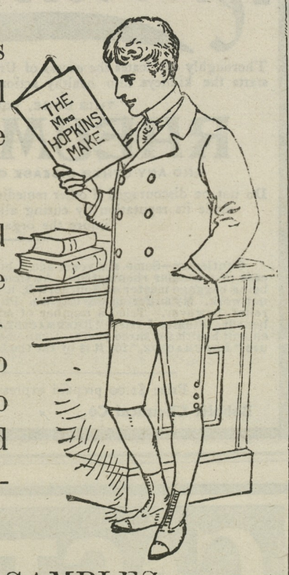

We still have a fair line of Men's Suits, and if you need a suit and we have your size, better see about it.

We will swap dollars with you on all remaining Winter Suits and Overcoats, which will be a very substantial cut from our former low prices and an incentive sufficient to induce any in need when they see the values.

We can fit most any who come even this late in the season, because our output being so large, we necessarially have a good many ODD SUITS left. DON'T DELAY TOO LONG THOUGH.

Boys' and Children's Suits and Overcoats will be closed likewise and we can suit anybody most.

Underwear, Gloves and all winter stuffs will be closed out likewise at uniformly cut-price prices to everybody, according to our well-established straight forward principles.

Our line of SPRING SAMPLES are now ready for inspection representing the largest exclusive Merchant Tailoring concern in the United States; so to you that are very difficult to fit in ready-to-wear Clothing, we extend a cordial invitation to come inspect same. Respectfully,

MOODY & LUSBY

NEEDS AN ASSEMBLY HALL.

Chestertown School Making an Effort to Secure Seats for the Hall from the People of the Town.

It was the intention, at first, of those immediately concerned in building the new school house that the building should not be used for a school until it was completed and entirely prepared for use as such. But the funds appropriated for building and equipping the house proved insufficient for that purpose and the building had to be used before it was completed, the condition of the old building rendering this absolutely necessary.

The most that could be done at the time was to secure seats for the class rooms, without which, of course, the house could not be used at all; but seats were not provided for the assembly hall and we repeat with emphasis that no modern school building can be considered as affording ample opportunities for complete school work when the building is without an assembly hall.

The building has been in use now for about three months and the need of the assembly hall has been constantly felt by those immediately concerned in directing the work. The teachers and the school examiner have decided to bring the matter to the attention of the patrons and friends of the school and to ask for contributions with which to seat the hall. This can be done for about $300. On reflection it must be apparent to every person that an assembly hall in a school of this size is a very necessary adjunct.

The three important factors in education are the teacher, the parent and the child, and every effort should be made to establish the closest and most friendly relations between them. They should be brought together frequently to sustain and strengthen one another in their respective parts of the work. In union there is strength. But there are other uses for the hall besides that of an assembly room. There are exercises which cannot be given the pupils except in such a room, and without which the school cannot do its best work. Appreciating such conditions, the teachers have determined to call on the people of Chestertown for contributions with which to accomplish the desired object, and it is hoped and believed that they will respond. Lists were prepared and presented last evening to several prominent citizens with the most gratifying results. Mr. Wilbur Eliason heads the list with $50. The names of other contributors will be published next week.

THERE are now 76 phones in Chestertown and lack but four to enable us to obtain a power generator. The installation of the generator would mean quicker service.
