GRAND JURY CALLED!

Judge James A. Pearce on Monday gave instructions to Clerk James T. Dixon to summon the Grand Jury to meet in special session June 1st. The jury will consider the propriety and necessity of appointing an expert for the purpose of examining into the finances of the county.

AN IMPORTANT SUIT.

Mrs. Frances P. Reed Employs S. S. Field, of Baltimore, to Set Aside a Deed Given to Her Son, S. Amos Reed.

Suit was entered Tuesday by Mrs. Frances P. Reed, widow, by her attorney S. S. Field, Esq., against S. Amos Reed, Sadie M. Reed, Frank L. Reed and Samuel A., Hallie B., and Lewin U. Reed, infants, in the Circuit Court for Kent County in equity. The petition to the Court says that she is a woman infirm and aged, past 70, and a widow of George R. Reed, who died in 1897; and after his death she looked to and relied upon the defendant, S. Amos Reed, her eldest son and only son who lived near her to take the place of his father.

2. That by the will of her husband she became possessed of five farms in Kent County, &c.; that her said son, being constantly with her and in charge of all her affairs, acquired and exercised great influence over her so that she did pretty much whatever he wished her to do, and it is charged that said S. Amos Reed abused this confidence to secure for himself and his children the deed hereinafter mentioned.

3. That on or about October 10, 1902, Mrs. Reed executed a paper to S. Amos Reed and the other defendants, the contents or effect of which she did not know, except that it was a deed; that said deed was not read over to her, and the execution thereof was procured by undue influence and under the following circumstances; on the 9th of October, 1902, Mrs. Reed received through the mail this anonymous letter:

CHESTERTOWN, MD.

MRS. REED: As a friend I would like to tell you of some of the things I have heard. One is that Fanny has lost her case and that Al Jones intends to sue you for slander. Now, my advice to you is to make over your property to your children, or in trust to your grandchildren; if he does not win his suit you can get it back and if he does win it you will lose everything you have. This must be done quickly or it will be too late, as court commences in a few days. A FRIEND.

Your oratrix was exceedingly frightened and excited by this letter. She showed it to her son, Amos, and he said he knew nothing of it but went with her to Mr. Beck's office. Thereupon her son and Mr. Beck went into another office, leaving her in the outer room. When they came out her son said: "If mother will give me $500, I'll fight Al Jones," and she replied she did not have $500, and thereupon without consultation with her the deed and also a will were executed, one on Oct. 10 and and the other on the 11th of October, 1902, but neither was under stood by her. On the way home she asked what it was she had signed and Amos told her it was too dark to talk about it.

4. That said deed purports to convey to S. Amos Reed for life, with remainder to his children in fee, the most valuable one of said five farms, viz., the home farm of 180 acres; it is charged that it was executed without consideration; that its execution was not voluntary nor did she have any reason or desire to show any preference to Amos and his children; that the said Amos Reed took advantage of the condition of excitement, distress and fear, into which she was thrown by said anonymous letter, and that the execution was procured by undue influence exercised and practised upon her by said Amos Reed when she was too weak, from age, infirmity, fear and excitement to withstand said influence or properly appreciate what she was doing. It is prayed that said deed be declared void and set aside.

W. W. Beck, Esq., represents Mr. S. Amos Reed, and will file an answer to this exhibit. The case will be followed with interest by the public. Mrs. Reed is in a Baltimore Home where she is receiving careful attention.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

Mr. Ephraim C. Stoops, of Worton, died at the Maryland General Hospital, of Baltimore, on Thursday afternoon of acute Bright's disease, aged 74 years. The remains were brought to Still Pond by Undertaker W. H. Krusen by way of Betterton on Friday afternoon. Interment will take place this Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at Chesterville cemetery, Undertaker Krusen in charge.

Mrs. George Ireland, widow of the late Geo. Ireland, died last Saturday at Bohemia, on the Sassafras river. She formerly lived at Massey and was very much beloved. She was a Miss Spry, daughter of Wm. Spry, and was about 60 years of age. She leaves three children, George and Holton Ireland and Miss Ireland. The funeral took place from Galena P. E. Church on Monday, interment at Galena cemetery.

Rev. Albert Ware and Rev. Mr. Edson officiated. The bearers were Messrs. A. F. and Newton Huey, John and Andrew Medders, Jas. and Charles Spry.

William E. Usilton, oldest son of Lieut. Edwin L. and the late Hester Usilton, died at his home in Philadelphia last Friday, May 15. He was 37 years of age and leaves a widow and one child. He had been a sufferer from consumption for quite a while and death came as a welcome end to his sufferings. The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon in Philadelphia and was attended by several orders of which he was a member.

A SERIOUS DROUGHT.

For three weeks this county has been without rain and crops are already suffering. At this writing there are indications of a shower. The thermometer registered 88° and 90° Wednesday and Thursday and May will go on record as the hottest in many years.

The strawberry crop has been cut short one-half while many farmers say the wheat outlook is equally bad. Last year a similar drought cut all crops short. All farm work has been seriously interfered with. Many of our farmers have not finished plowing for corn, and the ground has become so hard and packed that it is impossible to run a plow through it.

The oats crop will be almost an entire failure. Much of this cereal has scarcely made its appearance above the soil. Vegetables of all kinds will be short. The most serious damage will be to the hay crop.

Fruits of almost all kinds were injured by the last frosts. Cherries of the white wax variety, in some parts of the county, withstood the cold nights of April remarkably well, and the present prospect is for a fair yield. Some varieties of apple trees are quite full of fruit. The peach and pear crop will be almost a failure with here and there an exception.

CHURCH NEWS.

Rev. A. P. Prettyman, of Galena, preached a special sermon to the P. O. S. of A., at Galt's, last Sunday afternoon from Gen., 42-11. "We are all one Man's Sons; We are true Men; Thy Servants are not Spies." It was a most excellent discourse and highly appreciated and enjoyed by the large audience that filled the house from door to pulpit, while each received their portion in due season. The choir rendered excellent music. Rev. Walter J. Ford, of Smyrna, was also present and took part in the services.

HOSPITAL FOR CHESTERTOWN.

A prominent physician of Chestertown said to the NEWS representative this week that if any town and county needed a hospital it was Chestertown. A number of convincing arguments in favor of such an institution are at hand and the good the establishment of it would be is self evident. Other towns on the Eastern Shore have succeeded in founding a hospital in their midst and have been given very substantial aid from the State. Cambridge and Salisbury each have a hospital that are doing grand work. Elkton proposes to establish a Union Hospital at that place and a meeting was held there last week to consider plans, etc., to raise sufficient funds to warrant the managers to commence the erection of the building. They have subscribed $1000 already and expect to ask the coming Maryland Legislature to make an appropriation of $4000 or $5000 to aid in its erection.
