SASSAFRAS NOTES.

Beautiful Service by the Children—Coming and Going of Well-Known People, Etc.

Seventeen head of horses purchased in Kent County, Delaware, by a commissioner from King Edward for the royal stables, were shipped last week from Philadelphia on the Atlantic Transport Steamer, Minehaha. This it is said, is the first purchase of American horses by an European Monarch for his private use. They will be used for breeding purposes.

Rev. W. T. Litsinger, of Warwick, and Mr. Robert S. Griffith, of Sassafras, visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnston on Monday afternoon

Mr. A. Wilson Cochran, one of our young and progressive farmers near town, began Tuesday cutting wheat. He is running two binders.

Mrs. Benjamin Boyles, who has been very sick for some weeks, visited Sassafras on Tuesday.

Mrs. Clara Macklin, of Lincoln, Del." was entertained on Tuesday by Mrs. William H. Spry.

The trustees of the public school met at Sassafras on Wednesday, Messrs. Jacob T. Shallcross, Harry Griffith and Louis Dreka, Sr.

There was quite a large number from here attended the picnic at Golts, on Saturday, at which time the P. O. S. A. joined the public school in raising a beautiful flag presented by that order to the school. The beautiful school grove looked radiant with mirth and pleasure and very fine addresses were made by Rev. V. S. Collins, of Smyrna, and Rev. J. M. Arters, of Odessa. With any quanity of elegant cakes and 30 gallons of ice cream the afternoon was most profitably spent and much enjoyed.

On Sunday morning last Rev. J. H. Beauchamp delivered an address to the graduating class at Townsend. The commencement has been postponed until September owing to the death of Prof. H. R. McCabe.

Mrs. Frank Sylvester, of Sassafras, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Smith Burris, of below Kennedyville, on Tuesday for the day.

Mrs. Clara Macklin, of Lincoln, Del., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Benj. Boyles near town.

Mr. Stephen Boyer, Jr., of near Sassafras, who has been seriously sick for some months left today for Asheville, North Carolina in pursuit of health. Dr. E. W. Jeter, accompaning him.

Children's day was most beautifully observed here in the old historic M. E. Church with a very large attendance. The chancel looked beautiful bedecked with so many lovely roses and beautiful palms and potted plants. Mrs. Fredrick Roberson presided at the organ in her usual elegant style. Mrs. John F. Ernest sang some very sweet music and Misses Bessie Merritt and Miss Edith Atwell rendered some beautiful duets and solos. Superintendent Atwell always does well and all did all they could to make the program interesting and too much praise cannot be given to little Miss Chamberlain, of Philadelphia, for the fine manner of her speaking. We will give the full program next week. We are sorry it has been mislaid. There was over eleven dollars realized. The minister and all seemed pleased with the evening's entertainment.

Miss Alice Dreka returned on Monday after several days visit to Miss Ethel Lofland, of McDonough, Del.

Mr. and Mrs. William Chamberlain, and two daughters are the guests of Mr. Louis Dreka and family.

The little six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fillengame, of near town was seriously kicked by one of his horses on Monday evening which might have proven fatal. As the horses were passing in the stable he slaped one of them on the side. The horse jumped and kicked, and John caught the full force in his face, on the cheek bone. The little fellow is improving and no further result is expected.

Mr. J. Warren, of Wilmington, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Robert Johnston, near town.

Mrs. John F. Ernest and Mrs. Robert S. Griffith were entertained on Wednesday by Mrs. Elwood Roberson, near town, who has been seriously ill since February last, but we are pleased to state that she has entirely recovered.

The summer session of Goldey College is now open, and students may enter at once. Write for the catalogue.
