GOOD LIVING

Quite often results in bad health, because what is termed "good living" is usually the gratification of the palate without reference to the nutrition of the body. When the good liver is a business man and rises from a full meal to plunge at once into work requiring mental effort the result is almost sure to be disastrous, because digestion draws upon the same nervous forces which are employed in thought. In time the stomach becomes diseased, the processes of digestion and nutrition are imperfectly performed and there is a physical breakdown.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It eliminates the effete poisonous matter which originates in the system as a consequence of imperfect digestion. It gives sound health to the whole body.

"I wish to say to the world that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has proved a great blessing to me," writes Mrs. Ellen E. Bacon, of Shutesbury, Franklin Co., Mass. "Prior to September, 1897, I had doctored for my stomach trouble for several years, going through a course of treatment without any real benefit. In September, 1896, I had very sick spells and grew worse; could eat but little. I commenced in September, 1897, to take Dr. Pierce's medicine, and in a short time I could eat and work. I have gained twenty pounds in two months."

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

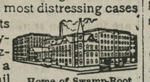

If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Home of Swamp-Root.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Mrs. Fred Unrath,
President Country Club, Benton Harbor, Mich.

"After my first baby was born I did not seem to regain my strength although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband insisted that I take Wine of Cardui for a week and see what it would do for me. I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength and health slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise."

Wine of Cardui reinforces the organs of generation for the ordeal of pregnancy and childbirth. It prevents miscarriage. No woman who takes Wine of Cardui need fear the coming of her child. If Mrs. Unrath had taken Wine of Cardui before her baby came she would not have been weakened as she was. Her rapid recovery should commend this great remedy to every expectant mother. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow.

STEAMER GOES BACK FOR HAT.

Captain Clark, of The B. S. Ford, Recovers Passenger's Panama.

"Captain, my hat's overboard!" The speaker was a Baltimore youth, the place aboard the steamer B. S. Ford, of the Chester Steamboat Company, steaming rapidly down the Chester river, and time about 2 30 P. M. Wednesday last. The youth had taken a young woman friend for a pleasant day on the water and while engrossed in conversation with the lady on the foredeck a sudden blast from Boreas' bellows had wafted his hat from his head. In consternation he had watched it float serenely astern on the crest of an emerald-green billow, and then had rushed madly about the boat in search of Captain Clark, leaving the young woman in paroxysms of mirth occasioned by the expression of the young man's face as the hat disappeared.

"How long ago was it?" asked the Captain.

"Five minutes, I guess, was the reply.

The Captain smiled a commiserating smile.

"I'm afraid it's a goner," he said, sympathetically.

"But, Captain, It's a Panama—It's worth a small fortune!" cried the youth, frantically.

"Well," said the skipper, quietly, "We'll see what can be done. Hard aport there!" he called to the man in the pilot house, and slowly the big craft swung about and began to retrace her course. Passengers and crew crowded to the rail and watched anxiously the broad expanse of water, each intent upon discovering the tiny speck that would be the hat, and meantime sundry comments were made to each other at the extraordinary idea of a steamer's being stopped and turned back to hunt for a hat. All seemed to enjoy the novelty of the occurrence.

Finally a colored deck hand cried out: "Dah she is, Cap'n!" and a dozen willing fingers, following the negro's, pointed in the direction. The engines were reversed, the helm put hard and the boat veered about and headed for the speck. This brought the sun across the line of vision and its brilliant scintillations hid the floating speck. Thereupon the ladies among the watchers, turning to each other, anxiously questioned:

"Do you see it? I've lost sight of it now!" and after a moment added: Oh, I do hope they'll find it!"

Again the boat was turned in order to get rid of the glare again the hat was sighted, farther away than before. Then succeeded a series of maneuvers to get it alongside. Back, forward, aport, the big craft was sent. Now the speck on the water disappeared from view in the glare of the sun and again someone sighted it. All sorts of instructions were shouted at the Captain, who, on the upper deck, kept directing the pilot in his endless turnings back and forth of the wheel. Excitement was high and the hat had not been seen for some time, when Quartermaster F. Addison Emory called out:

"There it is—one point off starboard, Cap'n!"

Another turn of the wheel and a few revolutions of the paddles and the hat was alongside. Amid breathless suspense Mr. Emory caught the "floater" on a boathook and it was hauled aboard amid resounding cheers. It was sent to the laundry today, and the owner, much relieved but feeling very foolish, sought his lady, while the other passengers went back to their seats to discuss the incident. The Ford resumed her course 20 minutes late.

Captain Clark found the pair in a far corner of the saloon a few moments later and refused to listen to thanks.

"You're only too welcome," he said. "But that was the first time I ever did such a thing, and of course I would not do it for a hat of less value. The only other time I ever stopped," he continued, referring to a notebook, "was in June, 1900, off Sparrows Point—and that was to pick up a suicide."

This is said along Light street to have been the first instance of the kind in local steamboat annals.

But the main fact, after all, is that the youth still has his Panama, and there is a new story along the wharves.

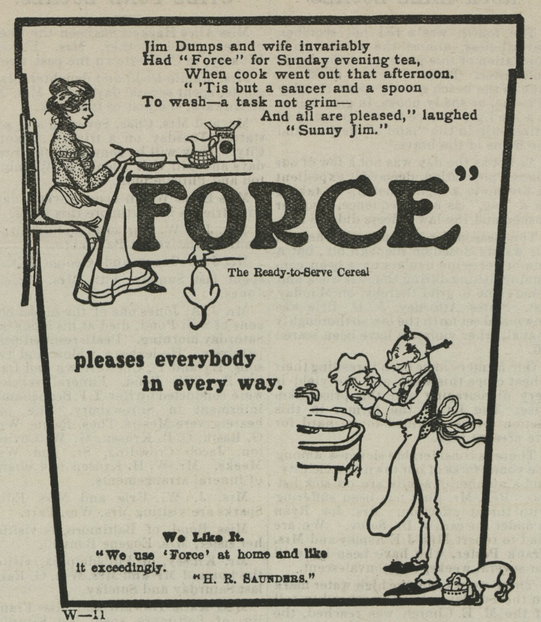

Mr. Hiram M. Brown, who was on the steamer, says he asked the young man what the hat cost and he replied, "the price was $20, but I didn't pay quite so much for it."

THE combination to break down the power of the McComas-Stone combination is said to be complete and its leaders generally predict success. Congressmen Wachter, Mudd and Jackson had a conference at Atlantic City, which Mr. Wachter says was merely a chance meeting, all three having gone to the seaside because they needed a toning up.

THE Harvard graduate who slept for four weeks at a stretch must have been in "fast" company or else dazed by imbibing too much education. Some one well asks, "if a Harvard graduate sleeps so long, how can the common, illiterate herd be expected to keep wide awake?"
