THE Kent and Queen Anne's Fair, advertisement of which will be found on 9th page, will be held on the 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th instants, and promises to be the most attractive ever held at Tolchester Beach. The racing events each day promise some of the best horses on the peninsula, and the purses are large. The premiums in the different classes of exhibits are large, the sum of $2500 being set aside for that purpose. The attractions each day in front of the grand stand are alone worth the price of admission. Be sure and take a trip to the favorite resort that week.

THE rural mail route that has been talked of between Fairlee and Tolchester will very likely not be established. Inspector Plummer, who looked into the matter several weeks ago, says there is not enough business on the route to justify him recommending it and he could not do it. In order to establish a rural delivery 3000 pieces of mail matter per month have to be handled upon the route and this section does not do that amount of business.

THE management of the Wilmington Business School reports good prospects for the fall opening August 31. Kent county was well represented at this school during the past year in the person of Wilbur Hirons, of Chestertown, who graduated from the commercial department of the school. Young Hirons will return for the shorthand course of study this fall.

THE excursion on Wednesday to Annapolis was well attended and quite a number went from Fairlee and other sections of Kent.

THE singing of Master Otto Akraner in Emmanuel Church Sunday was enjoyed by large assemblages. His voice is remarkably strong and mellow for one so young while his rendition of selections from Handel's Messiah was simply beautiful. He is soloist in St. Luke's Epiphany Church, Philadelphia.

DEWEY PARK will be the scene of a big tournament on Wednesday, Sept. 9, 1903. This up the county resort is still holding its position as the popular place for the young and the tournament will be given the best attention of the hustling managers, Messrs. Shallcross & Massey.

THE moonlight excursion on Thursday night on the Emma A. Ford was enjoyed by about 150.

THE members and friends of Crumpton Methodist Protestant church will hold a festival on Friday and Saturday evenings, August 21 and 22, in a tent on Main street. Proceeds for benefit of the church.
