THE MARRIAGE QUESTION.

The professor who announced that "love and romance die out with the sound of the wedding-bells," was the first to start the ball rolling. It would seem a brave woman who marries with this echo in her ears, yet we have not heard that there were fewer marriages during the year. There are unhappy married lives, but a large precentage of these unhappy homes are due to the illness of the wife, mother or daughter.

During a long period of practice, Doctor Pierce found that a prescription made up entirely of roots and herbs, without the use of alcohol, cured ninety-eight per cent. of such cases. After using this remedy for many years in his private practice he put it up in a form that can be had at any store where medicines are handled.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures headache, backache, nervousness, sleeplessness and other consequences of womanly disease. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong and sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

TO TEST "JIM-CROW" LAW

Cases To Be Carried Up to The United States Supreme Court.

For a violation of the "Jim-Crow" law W. H. H. Hart, colored, of Washington, and James Griffith, colored, of Baltimore were Friday afternoon found guilty and fined $5 and $25, respectively, in the Circuit Court for Cecil county. Hart, who is professor of law in Howard University at Washington, conducted his own defense, while Griffith was represented by Senator H. M. McCullough. The fines were not paid, the defendants giving security for the same.

It is the purpose of the defendants to test the constitutionalty of the law, and have filed notice of an appeal to the Court of Appeals. They also intimated that, no matter what the decision of the Court of Appeals would be, they intend carrying the case for a final decision to the United States Supreme Court.

Demurrers were filed in both cases by the defendants to the bill of indictment, and also that it was unconstitutional in that it was in conflict with the Interstate Commerce law. The Court overruled the demurrers.

CANDY FOR CHILDREN.

From Medical Talk.

Nearly all children, especially if they be normal, healthy children, crave for sweets. A great many parents, without any thought or reason in the matter, deny to their children all kinds of sweets. They do this from preconceived notion that sugar and candy and cakes are bad for children. Other parents go to the opposite extreme, and indulge their children in all sorts of confectionery, from the cheapest to the most expensive, allowing them fo eat indigestible cakes, jams, candied fruits and preserves. They both are making a mistake. Children should be allowed to eat sweets—but the proper kind of sweets. Cheap, nasty confectionery should never be given them, neither should they be permitted to have too much jam nor any of that indefinable hodge-podge of stuff that masquerades under the name cake. Beware of cheap painted candies; they are poisonous. But give the children sweets in the form of pure chocolate, honey and syrup made from fruits. A lump of sugar or a stick of good candy now and then will not hurt them. Let them eat molasses, but be sure it is a good quality. Fruit jellies, if unadulterated, and plain cookies that are not too sweet are good for children. Let the children have sweets. The system craves them. They impart warmth and energy. They nourish and build up the tissues. The best time to give the children sweets is at meal time. Let fruits, jelly syrup, molasses, honey or cookies form part of each meal and then children will not so often plead for candy and cake. Let the children have sweets. But see to it that they are furnished the proper kind, at the right time and in a sensible quantity

Harvesting Keiffer Pears.—Those farmers who grow Keiffer pears are engaged in harvesting the crop. The wind s orm of two weeks ago blew off the trees at least one-third of the crop. These were picked up and shipped to market, bringing about 12½ cents a basket. The pears going to market at present are picked from the trees and are bringing from 15 to 20 cents a basket according to shape and color. Dr. J. L. Cornellis the largest grower of Keiffer pears in Queen Anne's and on the Peninsuia. He has seven thousand trees in bearing and estimates that at least 6,000 baskets were blown from the trees by the recent storm. This week he has had a number of Baltimore "hoboes" picking and culling the fruit for market. The Chester River Line, in view of the heavy losses to growers in this section, has reduced the freight from six to four cents a bashet. The Baltimore packers are paying 15 cents a basket for the fruit if it shows up well.
