Elkton, Md.

J. HARRY COVINGTON, ESQ.,
Easton, Md.

HON. THOMAS A. SMITH,
Candidate for Congress.

A Brass Band will be in attendance. Everybody is invited to meet the speakers and hear the issues of the campaign discussed.

By order of the State Central Committee.

ADAM F. HUEY
SAMUEL J. WICKES,
JOHN M. COMEGYS.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY!

The First District Parker, Davis and Smith League will hold a meeting in the Hall at Galena on Thursday Evening, Oct. 20

All are invited to come out, as we have the promise of several speakers from a distance to address the people on the issues of the campaign.

An oyster roast will be one of the attractions of the occasion. We have ordered a liberal supply of the luscious bivalve. A Band of Music will be given the occasion.

BY ORDER OF COMMITTEE.

HON. JOSHUA W. MILES made one of the most elobuent of all the speeches delivered at the great meeting in Baltimore Monday night.

NEW YORK city has had a startling lesson this week in the evils of the rum traffic. Twenty people died in one night from the effects of drinking cheap whiskey dispensed at a single saloon!

SIDNEY MUDD is opposed to all other kinds of Mudd, and Wm. Jackson don't say other Jackson, but they are both deliberating as to the best method of buying their election. Congressman Jackson will not deny that his only hope is his money!

THE mass meeting next Tuesday will be addressed by Hon. Isaac Lobe Straus, of Baltimore; Austin L. Crothers, Esq., of Elkton; J. Harry Covington, Esq., of Easton, and Hon. Thomas A. Smith, candidate for Congress. These speakers will be heard and every white man is invited to be present.

The Race Question.

Countians are peculiarly interested in the race question. When the Republicans thrust this issue before the people they said to every white man in Chestertown and Kent that the negro was his equal and should be granted equal privileges. We have some excellent colored citizens in this county, but it is not this class to whom we refer, but is the mass of indigent voters to whom we intend so long as we have the ability to exercise the privilege we shall oppose this part of the platform.

Hon. Isidor Rayner in discussing President Roosevelt's relation to the race question at the Lyric, Baltimore, Wednesday night summed up the situation in the following well-chosen words:

"I have no feeling of enmity against the colored race; they have my profoundest sympathy. I wouldn't deprive them of any human privilege that God has given them. I would civilize them, educate them and not deny them a sinecure guarantee accorded to them by the constitution, but the time will never come when you can combine and amalgamate the races. They will never come, and the attempt of the President in this direction is the dream of a fanatic and a visionary that will never be realized.

We can never force upon the people of this country either social or political equality. Providence has decreed otherwise. It is a decree as unbending and unalterable as the laws that govern the universe. The President may cause us no end serious trouble; he may sow the seeds of discord; he may provoke insurrection; he may rouse the feelings of class hatred and revenge; he may fill the towns and hamlets of the South with turbulence and disorder; he may rekindle the fires of prejudice and sectional hatred and cause a deadly conflict of the races, but let me predict to him that he will never subordinate the intelligence and refinement of the people of the South to the rule of barbaric ignorance and degradation, and he will never drive and scourge the people of any Southern Commonwealth into submission to his disastrous policy. He might as well attempt to lash the elements into chaos with the furry of his tongue or drown the tumult of the roaring sea by the chattering of his teeth.

ROOSEVELT entertained a party of colored citizent last week, among whom were Hiram Watty, Amos Rubins and other "distinguished" darkies who are advocating his election. Is this sufficient to stir up all the ardor and ardor of the white citizens of Kent county to do all in their power to place Parker, Davis and Smith in power?

The Steamboat Deal.

One by one the great industries of this country are being merged and consolidated, and now it is the Chester River Steamboat Company that has been drawn into the big "pool." The full account of same is noted in the news columns of this paper to-dav.

This company has served the public in Kent and Queen Anne's counties faithfully and well; its officers have been courteous and efficient, from the Commodore to the stewardess, and its sale for many reasons is regretted. The price is said to have been $200,000, which will hardly cover the cost of the fleet of four elegant steamers, not to count the fine wharf properties.

Any prediction as to the future policy of the controlling influences will, of course, be conjecture, but it is said that there will likely be no boat for Centreville, Queenstown and Kent Island, thus driving all this traffic to go by train to Love Point. It is also predicted that the boat leaving Chestertown will stop at Rock Hall, thus relieving the company of the expense of one or two boats. The next move will be to take the boats off the Claiborne route and divert this travel over the railroad to Love Point. This would make Love Point a thriving, busy centre. The new company did not buy the Queen Anne's Railroad Co.'s boats.

The control of these three steamboat lines by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company puts practically the whole of the bay traffic in its hands. The only independent line left is the Tolchester company, which runs its boats up the Little Choptank River, the Sassafras and to West river, Annapolis and Tolchester. Through its ownership of the B., C. & A. railroad, the N. Y. P. & N., the Delaware Division, its branches and the Delaware, Maryland & Virginia R. R., the Pennsylvania dominates absolutely the entire traffic of the Eastern Shore peninsula.

There have been rumors recently of a consolidation of all these peninsular properties into one system, but it is understood that such a plan has been delayed, because several small blocks of the stock of the N. Y. P. & N. Railroad Company and the Delaware division are held by private interest, who want high prices for their holdings, Recent bids have been made on the Philadelphia exchange for the stock of the N. Y, P. & N. at 100, without bringing any stock out If any such plan of consolidation of all these properties is in contemplation, it will probably be delayed until this outstanding stock is secured by Pennsylvania interests.

For the present it is understood the Chester River Line and the Weems Line will continue to be run separately. Mr. Henry Williams, who has been president of the Weems Line so many years and Mr. Warfield of the Chester River Co.. have resigned, and Captain Willard Thompson, viee-president and general manager of the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway Company, has taken his place at the head of the Lines.

There is already a movement started for an opposition steamboat line out of Chester river and Lankford bay which has behind it some of the most substantial farmers and Citizens of Kent and Queen Anne's counties The headquarters of this new line will be at Chestertown where there is an excellent wharf property not owned by the combine and at which point a large business is transacted.

Do Your Duty.

Democrats, what return would you expect from your farm if you deprived your tenant of horses, farming implements, seed and fertilizers? Not much.

Then what reforms and investigations can you expect if you elect Parker to the Presidency and not elect a Democratic house of Representatives to sustain him?

Supported by a Democratic House all vicious, unconstitutional and extravagant legislation can be blocked, and the House can order and prosecute investigations in the Postoffice Department and Interior Department where grafting and frauds have already been unearthed, and all other departments can be investigated also, for all are suspected of irregularities, grafting, extravagance and fraud. The very fact that the present Congress, Republican in both branches, steadily voted down resolutions of inquiry and investigation gives color to the suspicion of wrongdoing. If not, why were not the investigations made; and why such a hurried adjournment of the Congress, the shortest first session for many years? If there was nothing to conceal, why should the Republicans have opposed investigations? Why did they not let in daylight and prove to the country that the suspicions of irregularities, fraud and extravagance were without foundation?

Elect a Democratic House and the daylight will be let in. Without it nothing will be left to Judge Parker to block bad legislation except the veto power. Of course his Cabinet officers can investigate their several department but not so thoroughly as a congressional committee.

It is, therefore, the duty of every Democrat in Kent and the first Congressional district to vote for Mr. Smith not for his sake, but for the party's sake your own sake and the good of the country. A vote against him is a vote against Judge Parker. If a Democrat simply omits to vote for him, it is a half of a vote against Judge Parker. Do your duty to yourself, to the party, to Judge Parker and the country. Vote the whole Democratic ticket.

DON'T forget the Democratic mass meeting to be held in Stam's Hall next Tuesday. Able speakers will be present to address the people.

THE Kent Building & Loan Co. is loaning money at 5 per cent. on Mortgage

A Change in the Manual Training Work.—Mr. Blades, the manual training instructor of the Chestertown public school, has been notified by the county supt., Mr. Peterson, that hereafter he will be required to spend two days each week in the county schools teaching drawing. This by carefully prepared instruction will distribute the benefits of this fund throughout the county, which we believe is the intent of the law. The instructor has announced to his classes at Chestertown that the shopwork for the girls will be abandoned after this week. This is very unfortunate as the girls particularly like this part of the manual work and have always done, as a general thing, better work in the department than the boys. They object very strenuously to it being dropped from their work and hope that it may be restored.

GALENA ITEMS.

Our young people have been making frequent excursions in the woods after chestnuts during the week, and if not sucessful in getting them, have succeeded in having a good time.

Our young butcher, H. C. Vansant, spent a few days in Baltimore this week.

We are sorry to report the illness of Mrs. V. D. Nickerson, at her home here.

A festival and supper will be held here on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week, in the interest of the M. E. Church here.

Last Saturday afternoon after an illness of less than a week. Dr. F. D. Morrison, Supt. Md. School for the Blind, was called away from earth; and as a result of this calamity a sense of loss is felt not only throughout Maryland, for the influence of a work such as his cannot remain within the boundaries of a single state, but in many other states and even perhaps across the ocean. It is felt in no small degree in our own county, for within the forty years during which Dr. Morrison held the position which he occupied at the time of his death, many students from Kent have been educated under his supervision. Dr. Morrison was born in Harford County in 1837. When a young man he studied law; but was denied admission to the bar in Maryland because of his ardent sympathies with the South. He became a member of the faculty of Girard College, but left there in 1864 to become Supt. of Maryland School for the Blind in Baltimore. At that time the school had been in existence but eleven years, and its work was as yet scarcely begun. Dr. Morrison's skillful management it grew steadily. The building which the school occupied on Saratoga street soon became too small and it was moved to the beautiful building on North Avenue which it now occupies. To this, from time to time other buildings were added, as continual broadening of the work made them necessary. The school is now one of the best of the kind in the Union, and includes among its students a number from other states, who have come there to secure its higher advantages. All this evidences Dr. Morrison's ability in the capacity of Supt. but to the students he was much more, he was a personal friend of each, always ready with a word of sympathy and advice and seeming to carry in his mind the individual need of each one under his care; no child was too small, no request too trifling to receive his kind attention. Only when the day of eternity dawns will it ever be known how many sad hearts have been made glad by his kindness, and how many lives which might have been spent in the darkness of ignorance that is far worse than physical blindness, have been rendered bright and useful by his grand work so nobly done.

AN UNWRITTEN INCIDENT OF THE MILLINGTON FIRE.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I visited the town of Millington the other day for the first time since the fire, and while walking around among the ruins was shown the place where the postoffice stood and was told this little story of true bravery and heroism (what else shall I call it?) of the deputy P. M.'s wife: She filled two bags with the most valuable mail and had them carried out into a corn field, and there she stood guard over them all that awful night in that dreadful thunder storm, while her husband was somewhere else guarding the less valuable mail and her home and all she had was going up in smoke. There she stayed guarding Uncle Sam's property, and when asked in the morning if she too had lost all she said, "Yes, everything, except what I have on my back; but I did not lose a postage stamp of Uncle Sam's" Now, Messrs. Editors, I think that Uncle Sam should at least take off his hat and make a bow to this brave daughter of his and present her with a button off his coat. E. B.

THIS IS THE SEASON OF THE

Elegantly Picturesque in Millinery

The large picture hats are pre-eminent for evening as well as day-time wear. Yet so varied are the shapes, that each individual taste is amply met.

The full autumn showing invites you.

The New Color Schemes of the Season

A dozen different whims have given us the beautiful combinations on these hats—indescribably bold and dashing, or faint and alluring.

When Marie Antoinette sat up all night with a gay party of friends to watch the sun rise, it made dawn pink the fashion. It is here in a marabou hat as soft as a cloud.

Because the Princess de Lambelle affected shades of pink, lavender, blue and green, wonderfully-blended, this combination has been revived.

A certain shade of pale blue is much in vogue, as it matched Marie Antoinette's eyes.

But, besides these, there is the whole gamut of vivid flame colors, ranging from the volcanic yellow of flamme du Fujiyama down to dull, smoulding red.

There Are Also New Shapes

Crowns are high and brims are wide, to go with full skirts and larger sleeves. The hat seen most in Paris at present has a medium high stiff crown, elongated from back to front and slightly sunken at the top. The tall, box-like crown—severe, uncompromising, yet regal—is also a favorite. The trimming is high in front.

A Hint of the Novelties

Trimmings of marabou feathers have taken London, Paris and America by storm.

Taffeta hats are in again, elaborated with every sort of shirring and pleating.

Hand-work plays a larger part in millinery than it has for years. Nodding plumes and softest chiffons with velvets make the richest and most beautiful headgear.

Most of These Hats by Our Own Milliners

Yet they have missed none of the new points brought by cables and letters and models from Paris. It will not be at all strange if you pick up one of them, expecting to see a Paris label inside. We are proud of them all.

$2.00 Black Peau de Gant, $1.05

Imported Black Peau de Gant—pure dye; 24 inches wide. One of the most beautiful silk fabrics, and extremely stylish this season. $1.05 a yard, though market value is $2.00

Our Mail Order Department is equipped to give prompt and accurate service. The McCall Bazar of Fashions mailed free every month on request. Samples of Silks, Dress Goods, Wash Fabrics and so on will be cheerfully sent if you will write for them.
