VOL. 66. CHESTERTOWN, MD., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1904. NO. 26

Well Marked

Our Fall and Winter Clothing for Men, Boys and Children is in, and marked as usual—in plain figures. We open the line with much the same feeling of confidence that a fellow enjoys when he knows he has a good thing. We never thought that a suit could fit too well, nor look too nice, but they can cost too much and the selection can consume too much of your time. And while ready made clothing is immeasurably better than it use to be, we're spared no pains to get the best. Now is the time to get your FALL SUIT.

A BIG OYSTER ROAST

Distinguished Railroad and Government Officials Guests of Mr. Wilbur W. Hubbard—Capt. Robert S. Emory a Model Host.

Some months ago when the Pennsylvania Railroad Company were hestitating about changing the site of their depot, Mr. W. W. Hubbard with commendable public spirit, offered to overcome part of the difficulty and to give an oyster roast to officials! The change was made and yesterday a special train under Conductor Bice came to Chestertown bringing the following guests: E. F. Brooks, general superintendent of Pennsylvania Railroad; R.L. Holliday, superintendent of Delaware Division; C. E. Kingston, Division Freight Agent of Pennsylvania R. R. Governor and Mrs. Preston Lea, and daughters, Misses Alice and E, M. Lea, of Delaware; James Buckelew, Chief engineer of Penn. R. R; United States Senator Wm. C. Sproull, of Penn; Mr. John Warner, Mrs. E. T. Warner, of Wilmington; R. Harry Webster, of Belair.

This company was met at the depot by Mr. W. W. Hubbard and wife, Dr. J. W. Cain and wife, Mrs. Allan Harris, Mrs. D. L. Greenfield, J. D. Bacchus, W. B. Copper, W. G. Evans, George and Eben F. Perkins, Jr., Capt. R. S. Emory and Edw W. Emory, and driven to the elegant home of Capt. Emory on Chester river.

The basement had been transformed into a veritable bower of rustic beauty. The tables were adorned with large pumpkins hollowed and filled with chrysanthemums and beautiful ferns while in the big open fire place a cheerful blaze shot out from the big logs. Chefs Bradshaw, Worrell, Cann and Miller served the oysters hot and juicy while other features of the menu consisted of terrapin, salads, beat biscuits, celery, &c, prepared under the eye of Mrs. Hubbard.

The favors consisted of red lettered "R. R." flags with gilded sticks, and rampkins filled with chocolate and almonds. After the repast the guests left Chestertown about 2 o'clock greatly pleased with the elegant reception and entertainment.

ORGAN RECITAL.

Musical circles have been stirred this week by an event of unusual merit which occured Tuesday evening in the Chestertown M. E. Church. It was the organ recital given under the management of Miss Anna G. Lambert and Dr. A. S. Hall and the affair proved a grand success.

Miss Nettie Osborne Crane, a former resident of Chestertown, but now of Baltimore, was the organist and leader and her talent is simply wonderful. As a singer she has a good voice, as a leader she is an expert and as a queen of the pipe organ she reigns supreme. It was in the rendition of "The Holy Night" by Dudley Buck that she proved her best, although "In Paradisum" was well played but the ability of the organ was here lacking rather than that of the player. It lacks the stops with which to show off the beauties of this composition by Du bois.

Mrs. Dr. James W. Cain's solo, "Judith," was equisite, the coloring beautiful and her tones distinct and full of melody. She made a most favorable impression upon the large audience. Mr. George White in his rendition of "The Lord is my Shepherd" by Prof. Perry C. Orem, showed his splendid baritone voice and was warmly congratulated on the rendition. The chorus work was of a very high standard and difficult to excel. The whole program as published in the NEWS was presented. The chorus was composed of the following: Sopranos, Mrs. Dr. Cain, Mrs. Allan Harris, Mrs. Frank M. Miller, Misses Burtie Burchinal, Sophia Eller, Laura Thomas, Anna G Lambert, Hallie Toulson, Susie Dunbracco; Altos, Misses Fannie Stuart, Violet Evans, Addie Hurlock, Mabel Toulson, Ethel Coleman; bassos, Dr. J. W. Cain, Fred. G. Usilton, George White, E. F. Hitch, Houston Toulson, F. Davis, W. L. White,; tenors, Dr. A. S. Hall, Prof. A. M. Culp, M. W. Thomas, J. C. Loud, Thos. W. Perkins, T. S. Bordley.

There is a proposition to arrange a cantata the proceeds to be divided among the four churches. It's a good move. Push it.

A sumptuous supper served by willing hands and directed by that expert caterer, Mr. A. S. Crawford, was enjoyed to the full, while in another parlor was a table of refreshments where the guests regaled themselves at will. Music was furnished by Prof. Farren and his cute little 11-year old daughter, Mary, on the violin while other guests rendered vocal music. Faybe, all of Brooklyn; Misses Ida Hockwin and Katie Acton, Philadelphia; Miss Jennie O'Bryan and Mr. Jos. O'Donovan, of Washington; Miss Mary Warner, of Goyanstown, and a host of others.

One of the prettiest events of the present season in Baltimore was the wedding of Miss Mary Elizabeth Hulme, the beautiful and attractive daughter of Mrs. Thomas A. Hulme, of 2201 St. Paul street, and Mr. S. Harry Conover, of Boston, Mass., which was solemnized at 7 o'clock in St. Michael and All Angels' Protestant Episcopal Church.

The event was particularly interesting to the younger social set of the city and Philadelphia, as the bride is well known and very popular in both cities. The maid of honor, Miss Charlotte C. Hulme, a sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids, Misses L. Zaidee, Fanny and Alice Hulme, sisters of the bride, and Miss Inez Phillips, of Cleveland, were beautifully attired in white organdies over white silk and lace, trimmed with Duchess lace. They wore white picture hats made of lace and chiffon, and carried white chrysanthemums. The bride was given away by her brother. Mr. T. Albert Hulme, of Balto. She was attired most becomingly in a gown of white crepe de chine over taffeta, shirred waist and skirt, and trimned with real lace. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. A bridal veil fell gracefully from the head of the bride and was caught with a spray of orange blossoms and a diamond sunburst, the gift of the groom. At the altar the bride was met by the groom and his brother, the best man, Mr. S A. Conover, of Boston. Col. and Mrs. Wm. J. Vannort, of Chestertown, were among the out-of-town guests.
