THE DEMOGRATIC PARTY

and the Republicans too, have their platforms, but our platform for giving honest bargains at the lowest prices, is in a class by itself.

Our new stock of goods has just been received, direct from the manufacturers. (That is our secret of selling so cheap). Our shelves are loaded down with goods of excellent patterns and tempting styles. These goods are "goods" in the real sense of the word. Goods that can be depended upon for their reliability and durability.

Our prices too, are eyesores to our competitors and justly so, for haven't we shown our ability to undersell all other stores?

But all this newspaper talk don't amount to a row of pins. What the people want are "bargains," and genuine ones at that. So without further talk, we quote as follows:

YE PIOUS PILGRIMS.

Ye Buck Was Shot on Ye Lord's Day, but They Ate It.

That the pious pilgrims of Plymouth rock were not without some sense of humor is shown in this account of a colonial Thanksgiving church service and dinner, written in the year 1714 by the Rev. Lawrence Conant of the Old South parish in Danvers, Mass.:

"Ye governor was in ye house and her majesty's commissioners of ye customs, and they sat together in a high seat of ye pulpit stairs. Ye governor appears very devout and attentive, although he favors episcopacy. He was dressed in a black velvet coat bordered with gold lace, and buff breeches with gold buckles at ye knees and white silk stockings.

"There was a disturbance in ye galleries, where it was filled with divers negroes, mulattoes and Indians, and a negro called Pomp Shorter, belonging to Mr. Gardiner, was called forth and put in ye broad aisle, where he was reproved with great carefulness and solemnity.

"He was put in ye deacons' seat, between two deacons, in view of ye whole congregation, but ye sexton was ordered by Mr. Prescott to take him out because of his levity and strange contortion of countenance, giving grave scandal to ye grave deacons, and put him in ye lobby under ye stairs.

"When ye services at ye meeting house were ended ye council and other dignitaries were entertained at ye house of Mr. Epes on ye hill near by, and we had a bountiful Thanksgiving dinner, with bear's meat and venison, the last of which was a fine buck shot in ye woods near by.

"After ye blessing was craved by Mr. Garrick of Wrentham word came that ye buck was shot on ye Lord's day by Pequot, an Indian, who came to Mr. Epes with a lye in his mouth, like Ananias of old. Ye council, therefore, refused to eat ye venison, but it was afterward decided that Pequot should receive forty stripes save one for lying and profaning ye Lord's day, restore Mr. Epes ye cost of ye deer, and considering this a just and righteous sentence on ye sinful heathen, and that a blessing had been craved on ye meat, ye council all partook of it but Mr. Shepard, whose conscience was tender on ye point of ye venison."

AT THE CAPITAL.

How Thanksgiving Day Is Observed In the Foreign Legations.

Our American feast is observed in the foreign legations at Washington by customs peculiar to the mother country, and the dishes known in the "father's house" are most in evidence, even though the American fowl has its place. Sir Henry Mortimer Durand presides at the feast in the household of the British embassy and gathers about him a coterie of friends. Here the custom of the country represented and the one adopted bear a resemblance, and the day is observed without a marked change in their mode of living.

But in the legations of the Japanese, the Korean and the South American the conformity to American observances, induced by the markets abounding in American foods, means a decided change on the menu cards, and yet with but few exceptions the diplomats and attaches make an effort to observe the customs in our country.

The Chinese form an exception, for in several instances the presiding genius of the Chinese kitchen has refused to become enthused into any flights of gastronomical idealisms by Thanksgiving or any other Christian feast. Yet the spread made on that day is of true Celestial magnificence. And when the meal is over, with its varied dishes, the Chinese minister and his close attaches, no doubt, adjourn to the smoking room with their pipes and hop doi and the feeling that "all the world is China, and China is like heaven."—Ina Capitola Emery in Household.

The Arrival of the Pilgrims.

Two hundred and eighty-four years have passed since the faint line of the Atlantic coast shimmered before the straining eyes of the Puritan forefathers. It was on the 21st day of November, in 1620, the first New England Thanksgiving day, that the Mayflower, with its little company of pilgrims—there were 102—came to anchor at Cape Cod. They had had a stormy voyage of over nine weeks from the time they sailed from Leyden, the "goodly & pleasante citie, which had been ther resting place near 12 years," to seek "from God a straight way for themselves, for their little ones and for all their substance," and more than once had the small and overburdened vessel been threatened with shipwreck.

A Boy's Thanksgiving Menu.

No real Thanksgiving dinner would be complete without pie; indeed, it is said that a certain eight-year-old lad, on being asked to write out what he considered a good bill of fare, offered this:

Furst Corse.
Mince Pie.
Sekond Corse.
Pumpkin Pie and Terkey.
Third Corse.
Lemon Pie. Terkey. Cranberries.
Fourth Corse.
Custard Pie. Apple Pie. Mince Pie.
Chocolate Cake. Ice Cream.
Plum Pudding.
Dessert.
Pie.

Our Turkey Crop.

The turkey crop of the United States finds its first important market at Thanksgiving, when, according to a reliable estimate, about 6,000,000 of the birds are sold. It is raised in small lots all over the country, each farmer contributing a few. This crop of 6,000,000 Thanksgiving turkeys, if all of them were marching in single file, would stretch from Boston to San Francisco and as far as Denver on the return journey.
