Happy Christmas to all our readers

The Constable Murder.—John Holland and William Hopps, col., were indicted by the Grand Jury, of Cecil Co., on Friday, for the murder of Hon. Albert Constable. The presentment was made by the jury after a thorough investigation into the case and the examination of about 60 witnesses. Holland and Hopps, the former of whom resided near the scene of the murder, were arrested shortly after the crime was committed and were placed in the county jail, where they have since been held. The case was reviewed by the grand jury at the September term, but an adjournment was made without the men being indicted. It is presumed that the State has come into possession of some very important additional evidence.

Asks For A Change.—Rev. J. W. Easley, pastor of Harrison Street M. E. Church, Wilmington, Del., Tuesday evening at the third quarterly conference of the church, announced that he desired a pastoral change at the end of the conference year in March and therefore did not wish to be returned to Harrison Street Church. Mr. Easley is finishing his third year at Harrison Street Church and has had marked success spiritually and financially in the face of conditions that at first were not promising. Mr. Easley is well known in Chestertown and has many friends here. He was some years ago pastor of the M. E. Church, this town.

Capt. Thompson's Scheme.—The Philadelphia papers have the following interesting item concerning our former fellowtownsman, Captain Joseph W. Thompson: "A scheme by which the thousands of conductors and motormen in this city can be given millions of dollars each year by regular riders has been suggested by J. W. Thompson, a West Philadelphian, and already started by him and his friends. The plan outlined by Mr. Thompson is this:—

"If 400,000 out of 1 000,000 people who ride on the street cars every day and buy exchange tickets will give the conductor 10 cents and tell him to keep the change on their first ride each day it will mean $8,000 per day, or, counting 300 business days to the year, it will mean $2,400,000 a year to be divided among the 7,000 or 8,000 conductors and motormen of Philadelphia."

The idea originated with Mr. Thompson, who then started to put it into effect without the knowledge either of the men or the officials of the Traction Company. Mr. Thompson who lives at No. 4705 Hazel avenue, and who was formerly a Captain of a Chesapeake Bay steamer, in which capacity he had in his care the safety of hundreds of people every day, says that few people stop to consider the great responsibility on men in whose charge rest the safety and even the lives of men, women and children. The scheme is now spreading to every section of the city. Many people residing along the region traversed by the Angora and Chester avenue lines have taken up the movement, are now handing the conductor a dime for an exchange ticket every day, without taking the change, and are also interesting their friends to do the same."

Road Building.

With the conclusion of work in Prince George's County, Anne Arundel County, Baltimore and Frederick Counties, over twenty miles of road petitioned for under the provisions of the new State aid road law shall have been surveyed, and the specifications and estimates will be prepared this winter for the work next spring. Over 150 miles of State road have been petitioned for in all, more than twice enough to utilize the amount of State and County appropriation, and nine counties out of twenty-three in the State have filed petitions for these roads, all but one of these desiring to take up the total allotments.

Effort has been made by the Counties to file their petitions before January 1, 1905, in order to obtain the road surveyors, specifications, and estimater free of cost. Wherever this is not done, one half this cost must be borne by the County. Petitions have already been made for so much road that it will be impossible to have all these roads surveyed this year. Queen Anne's County; heads the list with petition for 50 miles Baltimore county, 47½ miles; Harford, 16; Talbot, 19; Allegany and Washington, 4 miles each; Anne Arundel, 2, and other counties are moving in the matter.

Kent county tax-payers should consider this question and take action early. A convention could be called by the county commissioners and the plan explained by informed speakers. Then if it is thought advisable a resolution to this effect could be passed and the improvement started. Kent county tax-payers are burdened with debt and if a method can be devised to decrease this burden it should be adopted at once.
