PLAIN TALKS WITH OUR FARMERS!

[Written expressly for the NEWS.]

Before entering further into discussion of agricultural matters, I wish to say that as the writer of "Plain talks with our Farmers," it is not my intention to criticise harshly or poke fun at any letter received by the KENT NEWS, but to encourage all to write their opinions of the subjects under discussion. Avoid at all times any unnecessary foolishness. My own views are honestly given and I hold myself responsible for them. This column will hold three good letters each week and by keeping it full it gives us "A Farmers Institute" in continuous session the year round.

If you have any questions you want answered on farm matters try the KENT NEWS Question Box, but don't be disappointed if they are not answered in the next issue for you must remember there are others.

In answer to "Over Forty's" letter, we beg to refer him to the bureau of statistics, department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., for detailed information of a decrease in soil fertility of our sections. Then we would like to ask him how he accounts for the increase he speaks of, since he admits that clover is a partial failure, at the same time calling his attention to the fact that we keep very few cattle in proportion to the acreage, hence the impossibilities of increasing the fertility from this source. We would like to look over that 10 acre lot as we think the soil conditions warrant very much better results than "Over Forty" is getting. We hope in the near future to take up Peaches and their culture, but do not want to wait for time to tell us what our neighbors already know and want all to contribute any information they think will be helpful.

We heartily agree with Mr. Augustine Hendrickson on the manure question and give our reasons why. First, we call a heavy dressing of manure thirty tons per acre, but this is far above the average, so we will reduce it to twenty tons. The average farm yard manure will contain per ton nine pounds of nitrogen, three pounds phosphoric acid and six pounds of potash. These quantities multiplied by twenty, gives nitrogen 180 pounds, potash 120 pounds and phosphoric acid 60 pounds, making the fertilizing value of the 20 ton per acre an even fifty dollars, without taking into account the benefits due to its great bulk, which increases in the soil its ability to absorb and hold moisture.

17 SHEEP DROWNED!

While Walking On Thin Ice Near Rock Hall They Break Through.

Mr. Frank Wheat tells of a strange incident which occured on the farm tenanted by ex-Sheriff E. J. Plummer a few days ago. The farm is located on a prong of the bay, two of the fields being indentured by a stream of water which was covered by ice. A flock of 17 sheep attempted to cross this ice one morning this week and it would not bear their weight. The leader went through the ice and the others one by one tumbled into the icy water and were drowned! This is quite a loss to Mr. Plummer.

Armstrong; Constables, Wm. H. Hamilton, John W. Duyer and John H. Morgan. They were all elected Nov. 4th, 1857. He bought the Start farm now owned by Capt. Emory in 1861 and removed thereon but did not remain. At the age of 52 the farm, the whole proceeds of which, $5280, was paid as security money. He was deputy internal revenue collector under Geo. M. Russum, and in 1870 was made mail clerk on the railroad which position he filled for ten years. He then went into store-keeping and in 1896 was made justice. Since this time the deceased has been in poor health during all of which he had the sweet and patient attention of his devoted wife and loving children.

NAVIGATION OPEN.

Gratitude Reaches Chestertown Wednesday Night—Ice Boat Goes To Betterton—Experience of Capt. Kirwan at Annapolis by the News' Special Correspondent—Bugeye Carrie Gets Through.

The steamer Gratitude in charge of Captains Clarke, Vandyke and Gibson reached Chestertown at 8 P. M. Wednesday, it being the first boat to arrive here since January 25th. Capt. Clarke says he encountered considerable ice at the mouth of the river but thinks the Emma Ford will have no trouble today.

Dr. Beal and Mr. Wm. Wagner boarded the steamer at Rock Hall to go to Baltimore hoping that the ice would be too heavy for her to reach Chestertown! But they were mistaken, they came to town, and reached Baltimore Thursday.

Rock Hall has had a daily boat this week.

A letter from Capt. W. C. Eliason says: "I have prevailed on the Harbor Board sending the State ice boat up the bay to cut out the ice in Sassafras River around Betterton and Elk River. This will allow the ice to drift down so we can soon get up there with our boats. We are so sure of it that we are making a change in our schedule to Tuesday. If we succeed in making the trip we will make out our spring schedule. The Tolchester Co. made two trips to Tolchester Saturday and will continue same hereafter.

A letter from Annapolis to the KENT NEWS tells of a hard battle the steamer Susquehanna had in fighting ice one day last week. Said he: "The Susquehanna had on Wednesday the largest cargo for over a year and the greater part of it was consigned to Galesville and Chalk Point merchants. As soon as she reached the mouth of West river the sound of her whistle brought crowds of the inhabitahts to the shores. Provisions were running short, as many of the storekeepers had been put to the necessity of driving to this city during the past few weeks. After watching the steamer's battle with the 12 inch ice for a short time, the residents fearing that Captain Kirwin would give up the fight and return to Baltimore without making the landing, went out on the ice with horses and wagons and sleds and sleighs. They begged the captain to give them the goods consigned to them and while the steamer was slowly making her way through the ice, freight of all sorts was being passed over the sides all along the two and a half miles to the wharf. Under ordinary circumstances the steamer would have made the river run to the wharf in about 10 or 12 minutes, but it took her eight hours and a half to do it Wednesday. During that time a barrel of flour and a keg of lard was passed to its owner, and when the Susquehanna reached her wharf this had all been sold and made into bread. Captain Kirwin himself was given a piece of the hot bread as soon as he reached the wharf.

Now that the ice has been broken it is thought that it will be easy to reach the wharves on the regular days from now on."

Our correspondent further writes, "Annapolis is one of the greatest places you ever heard of. It catches all kinds of boats going up and down the bay. I have seen nine steamers tied up here over night; five masted ships, large tug boats, 8 canal boats on which a wedding took place one night, sail vessels, &c Five hundred workmen are at work in the navy yard, brick layers are getting $5 per day and some cement workers get $10 per day. Annapolis consumes one hundred quarters of beef per day which comes by boat and train. Butter sells for forty cents per pound and eggs 35 cents"

The bugeye Carrie is the first boat to arrive in Baltimore loaded with oysters from Rock Hall since Christmas.
