MILL DAM BREAKS!

Muskrats Buorow In The Earth And Cause Serious Damage To Chestertown Mill Dam — Prof. Topping and Strawboard Mill Share To The Loss.

The night force at the Chestertown Strawboard Mill were the first to discover the serious break in the dam at Prof. Thomas H. Topping's mill formally known as Wheland's mill, near town. Prof. Topping lives at the mill and was dreaming of just such an incident when he was aroused and found his dream to be a reality. The roar of rushing water could be heard for some distance as it swept down the ravine and emptied itself into the river.

About thirty feet of the gates were carried away, a big girder in the rail road bridge, a part of Prof. Topping's engine room and the mill was flooded to a depth of about six inches but did little damage.

Scores of fishermen with nets hurried to the pond and reaped a harvest of fish and eels. It is the first time the mill has been dry since 1876 when a similar accident occurred.

The mill pond was used jointly by Prof. Topping and the American Strawboard Company, who will share in the expense of repairing the damage. It is estimated that the cost of repairs will be at least $1,000.

One of the most serious features of the accident is the shutting down of the strawboard mill until these repairs are completed which will probably require about 12 days.

Secret Orders Growing.

A Chestertownian Honored—Justice Parr's Long Service—Jr. Order In Annual Convention.

The Oddfellows of Maryland held their annual meeting in Baltimore this week and elected James W. Chapman Jr., Esq., as Grand Master. This is certainly a high honor for Mr. Chapman and his many friends in Chestertown extend congratulations.

Henry Parr, of Galena, Md. by July 1, 1905, will have served Forty years as Secretary of Kent Lodge No. 74, I.O.O.F. of Galena, Md., without a break. A record possessed by no other man in the United States. Mr. Parr was the representative of Galena Lodge at the session of the Grand Lodge in Baltimore this week. Charles J. Reiche attended as a delegate from Chestertown Lodge, and Wm. T. Harrison, of Rock Hall.

The Jr. O. U. A. M. held their annual meeting in Hagerstown. They number about 274 in Kent county. Among the delegates were Messrs. Wm. F. Malin, of Chestertown; Wm. F. Porter, Rock Hall; Harry Griffith, of Sassafras;

Mr. Fred. G. Usilton was raised to the degree of Master Mason in Chester Lodge on Wednesday evening. Several new members were admitted and will be initiated at next meeting.

HEAVY FROSTS AND FREEZING!

Opinions Prevail That Buds Have Escaped Serious Damage—Time Will Tell,

The severe weather conditions of the past few days which brought to the fruit belt of this vicinity a cold spell attended with snow flurries, ice, hail and heavy frosts, has caused a speculation among prominent growers as to the real extent of the damage done. The general opinion is that if the buds could withstand the rigors of the past two or three nights, they are hardy enough to stand most anything. Strawberries are not in blossom enough in this vicinity and are not supposed to be hurt.

Mr. D. B. Stewart, of the commission firm of D. B. Stewart & Co., who spent Sunday in Kent county, said that he saw window pane ice on ponds in Kent county orchards Sunday morning and that there were some frost.

"Pears, plums and some varieties of peaches were in full bloom," said Mr. Stewart, "and there is no room for doubt that serious damage was done to the tender buds, though it is rather early to determine just how much. Unfortunately, the sun came out bright next morning, increasing the dangers to the fruit.

"I had in my orchards before this spell a fair crop of buds," continued Mr. Stewart, "but I am figuring on at least a 50 per cent. loss by this freeze. In many orchards yellow fruit was badly damaged by the intense cold of last winter."

One of the best informed fruit growers in Kent county says that the freezing weather of Wednesday was the 30th anniversary of the freeze of 1875. In that year the buds were covered with ice and every one despaired of having any peaches but the crop proved to be an unusually big one! It will take several days to see the effect of the cold on the buds.
