HEALTH

"I don't think we could keep house without Thedford's Black-Draught. We have used it in the family for over two years with the best of results. I have not had a doctor in the house for that length of time. It is a doctor in itself and always ready to make a person well and happy."—JAMES HALL, Jacksonville, Ill.

Because this great medicine relieves stomach pains, frees the constipated bowels and invigorates the torpid liver and weakened kidneys is necessary in the home where Thedford's Black-Draught is kept. Families living in the country, miles from any physician, have been kept in health for years with this medicine as their only doctor. Thedford's Black-Draught cures biliousness, dyspepsia, colds, chills and fever, bad blood, headaches, diarrhœa, constipation, colic and almost every other ailment because the stomach, bowels liver and kidneys so nearly control the health.

NO DOCTOR

THAWLEY-COPPER WEDDING.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was solemnized Wednesday evening May 31, 1905, at Crumpton, M. E. Parsonage, the contracting parties being Clara Ella Thawley, daughter of Mrs. A. Thawely, and of the late Alexander Thawley, and Mr. Hope Copper, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Copper, both of Queen Anne's County. The bridal party entered the parsonage, preceded by the best man, Mr. Howard Story, and Miss Edith Smith, as maid of honor, attired in paris muslin with persian trimmings and carried a large bouquet of pink caranations and ferns tied with white ribbon. The bride wore a becoming gown of white silk, with chiffon and gloves to match and carried white carnations. The groom and best man wore conventional black, the bride also wore a locket, gift of the groom. Immediately after the ceremony, the bridal party were driven to the home of the bride's parents, where a reception was held. They will reside on a farm near Chestertown.

Hick's Forecasts For June.

The storm period, extending from the 7th to the 12th, promises to bring some of the most general and severe disturbances of the month. We predict that the weather and storm conditions during the last half of June will safely indicate what may generally be expected quite through the month of July.

From about the 10th to the 15th of June is an annual period of maximum electrical and magnetic excitement. Earth currents, seismic and volcanic disturbances, great thunder storms and downpours of rain, as a rule reach a crisis about this time. Such results should not surprise any of our readers from about the 9th to the 13th of the present month. Great warmth, attended by high humidity and very low barometer, will be warnings of probable danger that none can afford to despise or neglect. The blending of the Mars influence with the June solstice period indicates that thunder showers may transpire during the afternoons and evenings, up to and through the reactionary storm period covering the 14th to the 17th.

This is a time when haymakers will be under constraint in harvesting their crops. Grasses and grains that will stand without material loss until the June solstice showers subside, will be safer uncut, unless small quantities are reaped at a time and handled with great promptness and care.

The Vulcan storm period extending from the 20th to the 24th, is central on the 21st, the central day of the summer solstice period. This period will bring very high temperature, low barometer and threatening storms.

The moon being on the celestial equator on the 24th and in apogee on the 25th, in every probability thunder storms, June showers and great electrical unrest will continue into the reactionary storm period, central on 26, 27th and 28. It will be very natural, but not as a rule dangerous, for electrical clouds to flash and blaze all through the nights at this part of the June solstice.

It is proper that we repeat what we have often said, that there is the greatest danger in taking shelter under green trees during these June thunder storms. We repeat, also, the warning of danger to live stock from lightning in crowded barns and sheds, and from exposure to wire fences. Every season we hear of much stock being killed by lightning, in consequence of flocks and herds huddling under trees and against wire fences in thunder storms. These suggestions may seem unimportant to some, but correct statistics of loss and death by lightning, especially in the month of June, would put a different meaning into the proposition.

If heavy rains and storms occur at the beginning of the Mars period, say from the 10th to the 15th, the same may be expected to continue at the reactionary period, 26 to 28th, and at the storm periods through much of July. If dry weather and high temperatures lead into the opening of the Mars period in any wide section, July will bring a hurtful degree of warmth and drought to that section. At the same time another extreme may begin and continue through the same period. We have said, and we will believe that a marked shortage of rainfall will be felt over much of the great central, western, northwestern and southwestern grain belts, before the crops of the present season are matured.

WHEN THE JAPS WERE NOT VICTORS.

Officials in high places at Washington think that the yellow men of Japan will now cast wistful eyes at the Philippines and will not be long in getting up a fight with Uncle Sam. The fact is recalled that the United States once fought a naval battle with Japan, in which the Japanese were not victors. The American force, commanded by David S. McDougal, consisted of the Wyoming, a second class 72 ton sloop, carrying six guns. The Japanese had three improvised warships, converted merchantmen, mounting twenty guns among them. These were aided by seven land forts with thirty guns of the best type of the time. The action, fought July 10, 1862, lasted one hour. At the end of that time the Japs didn't have any warships left and the seven forts had retired from business. The Wyoming was a little battered, but still in the ring. The victors of the Orient today should not become too ambitious because of their great success.
