Washington College,

CHESTERTOWN, MD.
The One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Session Begins September 20, 1905.

The college offers three courses of study—CLASSICAL, LATIN-SCIENTIFIC. SCIENTIFIC—each leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

The elective system enables each student to select the studies suited to his particular needs. Two Sub-freshman classes are maintained for the benefit of those who desire a thorough preparation for college.

The Normal Department is recognized by the State as a part of the system of public education. A diploma entitles the holder to teach in any county of the State without examination.

Students are provided with good board and comfortable, well furnished quarters. The buildings are equipped with every modern convenience—steam heat, electric lights, baths.

Here students may pursue their work in a highly moral community, amid beautiful and healthful surroundings, under careful supervision of health and habits, at very low rates.

Is it right?

Is it right that a property-owner should lose $4.20 to let a dealer make 50 cents? A dealer makes 50 cents more on fourteen gallons of ready-for-use paint, at $1.50 per gallon, than our agent does on eight gallons of L. & M. paint and six gallons of linseed oil, which make fourteen gallons of the best paint in the world, at $1.20 per gallon; the property-owner loses just $4.20. Is it right?

It only requires 4 gallons of L. & M. and 3 gallons linseed oil to paint a moderate sized house.

Ten Thousand Churches painted with Longman & Martinez L. & M. Paint. Liberal quantity given to churches when bought from Smith & Graham, Chestertown; F. H. Harper & Son, Still Pond; J. W. Ivens, Worton; Clements & Co., Crumpton, Md.

PHYSICIANS recommend "Pepsimint," he new granular, effervescent remedy for Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, and Mental Exhaustion. Guaranteed harmless. Pleasant to take. 10 pua 25 ag12.

NEW HAMPSHIRE has an egg farm that is about the biggest thing in the line yet heard of. This farm contains eight hundred acres, and six hundred houses, accommodating eight thousand and four hundred hens. Gathering eggs daily on this farm must be a little matter like picking up sixty or eighty bushels of eggs a day.

ONE of the worst things about the average American is that he will sell anything he owns if he can get his price. This disposition on his part tends to make him always unsettled. When a man has a good farm, a good home, good neighbors and a good income, where can he possibly go to better his condition? In fact, where could he go where he would be worse off? Lots of men find this truth out at an expense of a lot of money and peace of mind. The sensible thing for men to do in nine cases out of ten is to settle down contented, so far as expecting to find a home where everything is all right, and carefully study how they may make the old farm productive, their lives of more use to their families and to the world. Nowhere in the world can there be found better conditions than right here in Delaware. Many a man has missed it by selling out and going north, south or west in an effort to better his condition.

DON'T SELL GOLD EGGS.

3101 Small Oysters In a Half Bushel—Don't Keep Them, Throw Them Overboard.

Our oystermen are in good spirits over the immense young growth of oysters. Michael McNamee, of Queenstown while oystering the other day, saved a half bushel of the little ones that he culled and counted them and found there were 3101 small oysters. He says some of them were very small but, as they grow fast, by next season most of them would be marketable.

The St. Michaels Comet gives this timely warning to her oystermen, which is applicable to ours. Read the grains of food it contains:

That there is something radically wrong in the present oyster law seems to be growing more apparent every day.

This year Nature has attempted to replenish the barren bottoms of the Chesapeake and its tributaries by covering them with a young growth of oysters of all sizes—from the size of a grain of corn to 1 and 2 inches.

Under the law the catching of these small oysters is forbidden, and there is no demand for them in the market of the consumers. But what is the embarrassing situation that now confronts us? Numerous vessels belonging to the planters of Virginia and elsewhere are now in our waters bribing our tongmen to violate the cull law, made for their own protection, by catching everything in the shape of an oyster, in order that they may deposit these seed on their own private planting grounds.

Our tongmen must know that by so doing they are killing the goose that lays the golden egg. In the name of common sense, when can we ever expect to have an adequate supply of marketable oysters when those who are most directly interested in the business men whose wives and children get their bread and butter out of this industry—when these tongmen are hourly digging up the very seed that nature has so munificently provided, and for a paltry consideration are denuding their own prolific fields to enrich the barren bottoms of more enterprising and more prosperous neighbors in an adjoining state?

In former years it has been customary for planters from other states to come here in the spring. But in late years the supply of oysters has become so small at the end of the oyster season and the prices so high in consequence, that spring planters have become fewer in number.

Hence, having learned of the myriads of small oysters now appearing in the Chesapeake and its tributaries, they are swarming our rivers and taking away nature's bountiful supply—taking off that which enriches them and makes us very poor indeed.

AFFLICTED WITH TYPHOID.

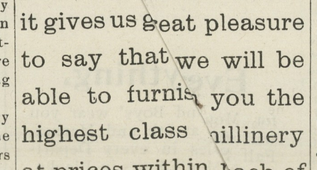

Three Deaths Within Ten Weeks in the Tribbitt Family at Henderson, Md.

DOVER, Del., Sept. 8—The Tribbitt family, children of James Tribbitt, of Henderson, already afflicted beyond all understanding by the visitation of typhoid of a fatal nature, remain in the shadow of the valley of death. Fannie 13 years old, and one of the farmer's most attractive daughters, was buried to-day. Thus thrice within ten weeks has the "insatiate archer" pierced this family circle with his darts. First the mother was taken, then the eldest daughter, now the youngest daughter. The family originally numbered nine, of this number only one, the father, has not been stricken down with the disease. Several are still seriously ill. Almost a similar situation exists at the home of Enoch Satterfield, at Ingleside, where the family is seized with the disease, but there have as yet been no fatalities. Dr. Enoch George, a state health officer, is investigating the cases, which are singular from the fact that there is no general outbreak or [illegible]
