The pleasing announcement is made that Mr. Wright Lorimer and his superb company of 150 players will begin an engagement of two weeks in "The Shepherd King," at the Academy of Music, Baltimore, on Monday, November 6th, giving matinees on Wednesday and Saturday of each week. Mr. Lorimer was seen on two different occasions at the Academy of Music last season in this remarkable success and hundreds of people from all accessible points in Maryland and Pennsylvania made the journey to Baltimore to see the star and his wonderful production.

The brotherly love of David and Jonathan, renowned since the world began, forms the basis of the play of "The Shepherd King." It is a beautiful story; one that historians have dwelt upon through the ages, poets have treated it in innumerable forms and prose writers have idealized it into countless tales. Into this story of friendship are added the mighty deeds of valor of the shepherd lad, who, called from the Hills of Bethlehem, where he tending his fathers herds, to sing to King Saul and still his madness, he goes forth to meet the Giant Goliath slays him in single combat "with sling and stones" and becomes king.

"The Shepherd King" is realistic in its scenery, elaborate in its production and beautiful in its character and in the story it tells of the rise of the simple shepherd to the throne of Israel. The solidity and richness of the regal palace of Saul at Gibeah, the beauty and naturalness of the scene of the camp of the Israelites, showing the river sparkling and dashing in the distance with the ever moving clouds changing in tint each movement overhead, the gloomy and superstitious air that seems to pervade the Cave of the Witch of Endor, and the magnificent picture of the throne-room at the palace with the Oriental ornamentation, are all scenes that have not been equalled in grandeur and sumptuousness in any production ever made.

Orders for seats accompanied by remittances will be mailed upon receipt. The prices for the evening and Saturday Matinee being 25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00 and $1.50. Special Wednesday Matinee, 25c to $1.00.

GAMBLING TO GALLOWS.

Road To Ruin Followed By Simpers—Charged With Waylaying Father.

Like hundred of others who can trace their ruin to the outlaw race track at Elkton and Iron Hill, John M. Simpers, the murderer of Albert Constable, who was hanged Friday last, can so lay the blame of his misspent life.

Born within a few hundreds yards of the fair grounds at Elkton young Simpers spent almost his entire time around the track. There he grew to learn all about crap shooting, racing and touting. He worked little, yet every penny he secured went to the crap game, and it was not a long or difficult jump from the crap table to the first theft.

His stepfather named Marquee, or Marquis, was also a devotee of the track, and employed his time in making books and otherwise keeping busy at the outlaw tracks. Five years ago this man was robbed of about $2,100 while on his way home from the track.

Young Simpers was charged with the robbery and was driven from home. Then he began leading the roving life which ultimately led him to robbery, horse stealing and murder, near his former home.

There was never a direct charge made against young Simpers regarding the $2,100, but it never was heard of again, and no one was ever arrested on the charge. Simpers always denied it stoutly, and declared he was nowhere near his stepfather at the time.
