SATURDAY, - NOVEMBER 18, 1905

THE NEWS has received a number of letters commenting upon the excellent work done by this paper during the past campaign. They are appreciated, of course. But to the white men the credit of the grand victory belongs. We only did our best to show the voters what was to their interest and what was best for Kent county as we saw it. It was a victory for good government!

P. R. WALLIS, principal of the Annapolis High School, on Friday was elected superintendent and examiner of the public schools of Anne Arundel by the Board of School Commissioners in place of F. Eugene Wathen, deceased. Mr. Wallis was originally from Forest Hill, Harford county, Md., but has lived in Anne Arundel for about five years. He is a graduate of Dickinson College in the class of 1900.

A CORRUPT PRACTICE ACT that will prevent bribery would be one of the greatest blessings Kent county could have. It would do more to purify the politics of the State than any one thing except the last amendment. An association composed of our best citizens should be formed now for the purpose of securing the passage of a Corrupt Practices act. Our leading clergymen, physicians, lawyers and business men would join in the movement, and with proper organization and representation their influence at Annapolis this winter would be irresistible. Then let this same committee enforce the act.

THE Democratic State Editors' Association held an adjourned meeting at the Hotel Rennert on Tuesday, at which a resolution was unanimously adopted, requesting the Board of Public works to appoint Mr. Joseph M. Streett, editor of the Harford Democrat, to the position of State Insurance Commissioner, made vacant by the elevation to the Bench of Mr. Frank I. Duncan, for many years editor of the Baltimore County Democrat. Mr. Streett has been president of the Association ever since its formation, fifteen years ago, and is one of the best known editors as well as one of the most popular and highly esteemed citizens in Maryland.

FIVE guards were "dropped" at the House of Correction last week, viz., G. R. Rider, Wicomico county, brother-in-law of ex-Governor E. E. Jackson; T. B. Greer, Somerset county; Walter Scott, Prince George's county; F. H. Mitchell, Harford county; S. W. Bullen, Queen Anne's county. It was said that by dropping five of the guards, more than $3,000 a year would be saved. It was ascertained after the meeting that those whose names are given above were dropped. Mr. Rider has been employed at the House of Correction for many years, being designated on the pay roll as "purveyor" at a salary of $70 a month. He was appointed and has retained his position through the influence of ex-Governor E. E. Jackson. It was asked by an outsider whether any politics was being played in the removal of these officers. This was hooted at by one of the board, who stated that economy was the only reason for reducing the force.

"We Are Democrats."

It is indeed gratifying to hear from our neighbors across the river that they will vote and work as Democrats. They assert that they do not owe the Republicans anything and that they are as good Democrats as any in their county. The following expressions from the local press will be of interest to the NEWS' readers:

The Centreville Record (Dem.): "This county (Queen Anne's) has sent three Independent Democrats to represent it in the House of Delegates, and their position on the organization question is problematical. A recent conversation with one of the delegates and subsequently with some of the leaders of the Independent movement indicated that it was the desire and intention of all to be classed as Democrats and join them in the organization, provided they were recognized and classed as Democrats. This shows a proper spirit in the beginning and will do much to allay strife and bitterness.

"The newly elected county officials are almost to a man new men, not more than one of them having ever been before the people for an elective office. They heretofore have been classed as staunch Democrats, fully in accord with Democratic principles, though not strictly partisans, and the people will expect them to carry out Democratic principles and administer county affairs on the level, thus giving a square deal to all. They should not forget the fact that seven-eighths of the wealth and intelligence of the county is within the ranks of the Democratic party—all white people—and that it will be a fatal mistake if they suffer themselves to be dominated by the few white and many colored Republicans who, without doubt, elected them to office. While all interests should be duly and fairly considered, yet Republican domination should be studiously avoided. The people of this county will not submit to negro domination, and if attempted trouble will result."

Centreville Observer (Dem.): "The leaders and voters of the Independent Citizens' party have repeatedly reiterated that you are still Democrats, firm and true. You have declared time and again that you have the welfare of our glorious party at heart. * * * You recognize that without their support you cannot retain the place in county affairs that you have so completely won, for the story of election day has shown you plainly that the balance of power in the contest was wielded by the Republicans. Without their support you could not have won, and, knowing this, your best policy must be the welding of party lines. A three cornered fight in the county would insure a Republican victory, and as staunch Democrats this would be as equally deplorable to you as to the regulars. Therefore, let us urge you to be wise. The future control of the county rests in your hands, and if wisely administered the outcome will be a reunited Democracy."

Queenstown News (Dem.): "The Salt River Special which will leave Queen Anne's shortly will not have any "Jim Crow" cars attached.

We hope that when we arrive at Salt River we will not find the water contaminated with sorehead Democrats and chocolate microbes.

The Independents are already inviting the Democrats to join them. Nay, nay, Forrester! Such proximity would make us—whew! we already smell our odor!"

THE organization of the House of Delegates, owing to the fact that the Democrats have elected but a bare majority of that body, at least five of whom were chosen on independent tickets, is attracting a large share of attention at the present time. The indications, however, point to the socalled independents, acting with the Democrats, and to the election of a Democrat speaker. The leading candidates are Mr. Carville D. Benson, of Baltimore county, Dr. Richard S. Hill, of Prince George's, Mr. John V. L. Murphy, of Baltimore city, and Mr. D. P. Smith, of Queen Anne's. The last named member was elected as an independent. The Democrats should have no difficulty electing the president of the Senate, since they have eighteen members of the upper house. Senators Marion V. Brewington, of Wicomico, and John P. Moore, of Worcester, are most talked of for this place.

Oyster Legislation.

One of the most important questions to be considered by the coming Legislature is that of oyster legislation. Now is a critical time for the oystermen of Kent county. The NEWS has ever been their friend and champion and now in this crisis we say to the oystermen "GET TOGETHER!" The Haman bill has some good features but it is framed to deal a death blow to individual rights and make a monopoly of the oyster business.

That the number of men engaged in the industry has decreased about 200 is not denied. That the catch has likewise decreased, is admitted, but we do not see in the Haman bill the relief desired.

Oystermen, you cannot afford to maintain a merely negative position in this matter. It will be useless for your representatives in the Legislature to resort merely to obstructive tactics. It is up to you and them to present a better bill than the Haman bill. If you do not, the Haman bill will be passed over the votes of your representatives.

Now is the time to discuss this matter. Now is the time to organize and work for the common good. Now is the time to protect your rights of free fishery; but remember in doing so, you must formulate a better measure than the Haman bill, and your representatives must be able to convince the advocates of that bill that your remedy will be a better one.

We would suggest a meeting of representative oystermen from every county where the practical steps would be taken to formulate a bill which would save the oyster beds to the people.

The NEWS will take up the Haman bill in later issues and show the injustice and monopoly of its provisions.

COLONEL GRIFFITH DISSENTS.

He Would Not Have Democrats Follow Governor Warfield.

Col. William Ridsely Griffith, commenting on the election and on Mr. William L. Marbury's advice to the Democratic members of the General Assembly to follow the lead of Governor Warfield, as published in THE SUN yesterday, said:

"THE SUN of this morning contains an estimate of the vote of this State, also an article showing what Mr. William L. Marbury has to say about the duty of Democrats in the future." The figures are as follows:

For suffrage amendment	70,064
Against amendment	100,098
Majority against amendment	30,041

"I desire to call the attention of the white voters to this analysis of the above. Take from the about 100,000 votes against the amendment the about 60,000 negro votes and it leaves 40,000 white men who voted against the amendment, to 70,000 for it—all white men. Add to 70,000 white men's votes the 40,000 Republican and assistant Republican votes and we have 110,000 white men's votes in the election. The 70,000 for the amendment is nearly two-thirds of the combined Republican and Democratic white vote of the State.

"If this does not prove, as contended prior to the election, that the large negro vote controls the elections, I do not see what other proof would be stronger.

"Nearly twice as many white men voted for the amendment as against, and if there are any large number of white Republicans, truly the vote cast by those who followed Mr. Marbury and others must have been very small.

"Yet he proposes that the great white men's party shall follow the lead of Governor Warfield, who voted against the amendment.

"No, no, Mr. Marbury; we do not propose to allow the tail to wag the dog."

DEATH'S RIPENED SHEAVES.

Ex-County Commissioner Samuel Todd, Edward Lusby, Mrs. Luther Handy Among the Deceased.

Mrs. Mary E. Handy, wife of Luther Handy, of Baltimore, and sister of the late Wm. B. Wilmer, of Kent, died at her home in Baltimore, Thursday, Nov. 9th, aged 81. The deceased was a native of Kent but during the past ten years has lived in Baltimore. Her husband survives her. The remains were interred in St. Paul's Cemetery Sunday morning, Rev. C. T. Denroche officiating J. N. Dodd, in charge. The pall-bearers were Messrs. George and James Bell, George Beck, Tylden Brice, Charles Jessup, Herbert Stimpson, of Baltimore.

EDWARD LUSBY.

Edward Lusby died at his home, near Chestertown, Monday, after weeks of suffering, aged 51. He suffered a stroke of paralysis a few years ago, but has been able to be about the farm until Thursday when a second attack caused him to take to his bed. He continued to grow worse and died as stated. Mr. Lusby married Miss Lidia Jacobs who survives him with three children. The deceased was a well-known farmer, a man of kind and generous impulses, an indulgent father and hospitable neighbor. The funeral took place Wednesday, interment in Chester Cemetary, Dr. D. L. Greenfield officiating; J. N. Dodd, in charge. The bearers were Messrs. R. D. Hynson, George S. Biddle, Harry Nichols, C. L. Dodd, Henry S. DeFord, Wm. T. Nicholson.

The demise of Ex-County Commissioner Samuel Todd at his home in Galena is noted in our Galena letter in another column.

John A. Jones, the well-known colored Chestertown barber, who conducted a barber shop under the Voshell House for many years, died in Wilmington yesterday. He was about 72 years of age.

AN IMPORTANT CHURCH CONFERENCE.

There is considerable public interest being manifested in the Interchurch Conference on Federation, which convenes in Carnegie Hall, New York, this week. Among the prominent delegates from Maryland will be Rev. F. T. Tagg, editor of the Methodist Protestant and president of the General Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, and Rev. Hugh L. Elderdice, president of the Westminster Theological Seminary, at Westminster, Md.

Both of these delegates, by virtue of their membership in the Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, are particularly interested in the Convention, for the reason that their denomination is now considering the advisability of uniting with the Congregationalists, United Brethren and the Primitive Methodists. Rev. Dr. Tagg is on the program for an address.

At least 500 delegates, appointed by the chief advisory or legislative bodies of many denominations, are expected to participate in the conference. This will be the first time in the history of the Protestant Church in America when it can be said that representatives appointed by authority, representing 30 denominations and nearly 20,000,000 communicants, met on common ground to discuss the power, the influence and the future of a united church. Among the presiding officers of the conference will be Bishop A. W. Wilson, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and who resides in Baltimore.
