ROCK HALL NOTES.

The new M. E. pastor Rev. V. P. Northrup arrived here on Saturday. He was met at the steamers wharf by a committee and escorted to the parsonage where he and Mrs. Northrup were warmly received by the Ladies Aid Society. Though hampered by a bad cold from which his voice had completely failed him for several days, he filled his pulpit here Sunday morning and preached a fine sermon on the subject of Citizenship in a Country far from mortal sight, yet by faith is seen, which stirred a large congregation to the closest attention. He made a most favorable impression, giving every one to feel that the reverend gentleman fully intends to be one of us. His text was, "For our Citizenship is in Heaven." Phil. 3: 20.

The largest preparation for shad fishing has been made this season by our watermen than was ever known here before and the outlook at this writing promises an entire failure in the business. The men have invested large sums of money and lost one month of fine oystering weather while planing to catch the shad on the way up the bay. It certainly looks blue to the average fisherman, but they are not altogether without hopes. On the other hand those who have stuck steadfastly to the oyster bars have done well, notwithstanding the low prices of oysters.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Fogwell, of up the country, spent over Sunday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Davis, south of town.

Mrs. Maurice Willson, we are sorry to report was taken to a city hospital last week for treatment by a specialist.

Mr. O. P. Leary has retired from farming, hauling and other outdoor activities and is now taking life as easily as an aggravated case of rheumatism will permit, and while he is shut in workmen are applying a new coat of paint to his dwelling.

A daily boat beginning this week from this place is very much appreciated by shippers and travelers to and from here.

Mr. Chas. H. Smith, near Rock Hall, gave a delightful party at his home on last Saturday evening. The guests arrived at eight o'clock. Music was rendered by Messrs. Walter Briers and Orin Downey. All games were indulged in until the midnight hour. Refreshments consisting of all the delicacies of the season were served in the dining room at ten o'clock. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. John Briers, Mr. and Mrs. Orin Downey, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Nickerson, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Downey, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Bigelow, Misses Essie Smith, Elizabeth Saunders, Lillian Smith, Julia Satterfield, Reva Smith, Louise Downey, Marie Smith, Elma Sutton, Wilhmina Smith, Blanche Kendall, Helen Smith, Helen Sutton, Esther Jones and Ruth Smith. Messrs. Wilbert Walbert, Will Mench, Maxwell Meeks, Chas. Shirley, Edward Clothier, Sudler Loller, Clarence Jonse, John Atkinson, Will Clothier, Edward Fowler, Walter Coleman, Harry Price, Foster Brown, Norris Stevens, Raymond Sutton, Roy Loller, Pierson Bigelow, Chas. Jacquette, Nelson Walbert, Will Durdixg, John Bedwill, Walter Briers, Hugh McClosky, Spencer Smith and Cleveland Porter.

Mrs. John E. Briers, of Baltimore, also Messrs. Wilbert Walbert and Maxwell Meeks, of Worton, were the guests of Mr. Chas. H. Smith the latter part of last week.

Mr. Perkins As "Snake Killer."

Attorney-General Straus has asked former State Senator Clarence W. Perkins to assist him in the examination of the vast number of legislative bills which, during the next week, will be presented to the executive chamber for approval and signature by the Governor. Mr. Perkins, while a member of the Senate, won a well earned distinction for close and critical scrutiny of measures pending in the General-Assembly, and the Attorney-General, mindful of Mr. Perkins' prowess as a discoverer of legislative "snakes," has called in his aid in the work of examining some 1,200 more bills which must be signed by the Governor within the next 10 days.
