Cook in Comfort

You no longer need wear yourself out with the weakening heat of an intensely hot kitchen. You can cook in comfort.

Here is a stove that gives no outside heat. All its heat is concentrated at the burners. An intense blue flame (hotter than either white or red) is thrown upwards but not around. All the heat is utilized in cooking — none in outside heating.

New Perfection
WICK BLUE FLAME

entirely removes the discomfort of cooking. Apply a match and immediately the stove is ready. Instantly an intense heat is projected upwards against the pot, pan, kettle or boiler, and yet there is no surrounding heat—no smell—no smoke.

Cautionary Note: Be sure you get this stove—see that the name-plate reads "New Perfection."

Why? Because The New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove is scientifically and practically perfect. You cannot use too much wick—it is automatically controlled. You get the maximum heat—no smoke. The burner is simple. One wipe with a cloth cleans it—consequently there is no smell.

The New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove is wonderful for year-round use, but especially in summer. Its heat operates upward to pan, pot, or kettle, but not beyond or around. It is useless for heating a room.

It has a Cabinet Top with shelf for keeping plates and food hot.

It has long turquoise-blue enamel chimneys. The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

BY THE AIR LANES

Charles K. Hamilton Flies From New York To Philadelphia And Return.

New York, June 13—Charles K. Hamilton today ran the first aerial express between New York and Philadelphia, and set a hot pace for a special train, over which he flew.

Rising from Governors Island at 17 minutes before 8 o'clock this morning, he flew in a straight course over the Kill Von Kull to South Elizabeth, N. J., where he wheeled his aeroplone over a train on the Pennsylvania railroad, and at an altitude varying from 400 to 1,000 feet kept abreast in the lead of the train all the way to a field near North Philadelphia Station, where he landed, among the wild shouts of 75,000 persons.

The distance from his starting point to the landing field was estimated at 86 miles, and he covered it in 1 hour and 50 minutes.

Comes Down In Swamp.

After a rest of nearly two hours, he again started on the return trip, this time, with the aid of a brisk breeze, flying in advance of the train, and when within 20 miles of Governors Island, at South Amboy, N. J., a faulty spark plug in his motor forced him to descend in a swamp with such force that his propeller was splintered and he was delayed two hours.

Men were dispatched from Governors Island with a new propeller, and when this had been put in place he resumed his journy, landing in a beautiful glide on Governors Island, within a few feet of his tent, at 6.41 o'clock.

No Equal of Its Kind.

Other aviators have made longer cross-country flights, and in speed and altitude today's performance has been surpassed, but never before has an aeroplane taken a railroad's schedule, following the line of steel rails and telegraph wires and flying over cities and villages, wherever the iron road led the way.

Dog Cripples Aeroplane.

Just before the machine started on its long journey, the little dog ran across the parade ground dragging behind him the dead branch of a tree, and that branch caught in the machine as it sped over the sand, splintering the new propeller.

This happened at 11 minutes after 7 o'clock. Workmen ran to the aeroplane tent and brought out the propeller that Glenn H. Curtiss had used on his machine in making the flight from Albany to New York. Nineteen minutes later the new propeller was in place, and 35 minutes after 7 the aeroplane again leaped from the parade ground.

Everywhere in the harbor whistles shrieked and boomed, and far away on the Battery wall the feeble chorus of the cheering crowd could be heard. Higher and higher the machine rose ond four minutes after it had risen from the sand it had entirely disappeared in the low-hanging clouds.

A thin, gauzy haze lay over the waters of New York Bay when Mr. Hamilton, master of the bird of bamboo and canvas, raised into the air and soared once around Governor's Island and then in an almost due southerly direction.

Fast Train Pursued Him.

One minute and a half after Hamilton's start the word was flashed over the wires to the Pennsylvania terminal in Jersey City and the special train was after him. Hamilton's route to Elizabeth, where it was hoped the train would meet him, lay for 16 miles over the waters of the lower harbor and the Kill von Kull, behind Staten Island—two miles farther than the distance to Elizabeth from Jeasey City by rail.

No sight of an aeroplane at Elizabeth. No sight of one at South Elizabeth. But at Rahway, 19.4 miles out by rail, the engineer glimpsed something shaped like a huge dragon fly far ahead of him and far above him, faint against the gray skies. He put on more speed and the sense of pursuit seemed to communicate itself telepathically to Hamilton's wife, and to his mother, Mrs. N. Beaudette. Mrs. Hamilton was peering out the window, her hair fluttering in the wind.

"Oh, We Have Found Him."

"Oh!" she cried to a friend. "We found him. He's with us.

But the mother could not speak at all.

"Won't you sit down?" entreated one of the party, offering an arm.

"I can't she sobbed, while the tears of pleasure streamed down her cheeks.

And truly it was a beautiful sight, enough to bring the tears. Four hundred feet above the earth, skimming directly above the railroad tracks and ahead of the rushing locomotive, glided aeroplane, too far distant as yet to make the crackle of its exhaust heard above the roar of the steam engine and the rattle of the train. The motion was one of continual oscillation. Tilting gently, first to one side and then the other, and rising and falling over aerial hills and into valleys the eyes could not see. The aeroplane seemed to pour itself through space with the fluidity of a stream seeking its channel.

The Best-Wearing and the Most Comfortable Dollar Corset is the "HOUSEWIFE"

The Housewife is a two-in-one corset—equally good for work and for dress purposes

TIME was, when a woman was forced to wear her old corsets when she did housework--her new corsets were too stiff and uncomfortable, or they "cut" under the arms.

Then we introduced the "HOUSEWIFE" Corset---and now thousands of women are wearing it.

It is comfortable from the first minute—you can wear it at home and do your work in absolute ease—and its lines are so graceful that you can wear your best gown over it and look better than you ever looked before.

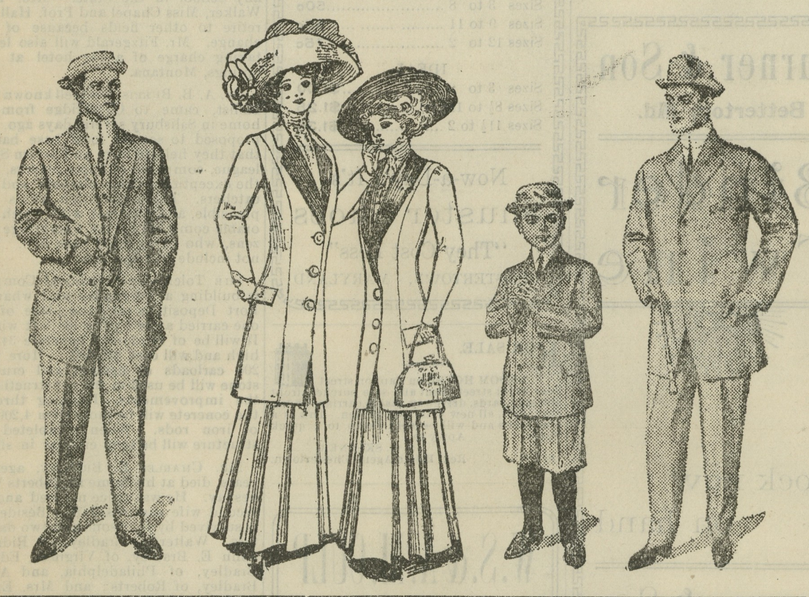

The "HOUSEWIFE" Corset is made of light, firm white batiste, cut low under the arms for comfort, and double-boned for durability.

It will outwear two pairs of the ordinary dollar corsets.

All sizes from 18 to 30—at $1.00 a pair.
