FASHION IDEAS FROM NEW YORK

Novelties for Fall—Color Contrasts—Sailor Collars on Tailored Suits—Dark Shades Fashionable—Modish Hats.

The Autumn fashions have brought in their wake many smart novelties, more especially in trimmings and materials, for the cut of both dresses and coats remain about the same though the death knell of the "hobble" skirt has been sounded and it is no longer worn by well-dressed women. But skirts are still narrow and there is as entire a suppression of the curve of the hips as nature will allow.

Color contrasts are a marked feature of the new fashions. Rarely is one shade only used in the making of a stylish gown. A black satin waist from Doucet has a yoke and deep sleeve ruffles of cream lace and a rather wide girdle of vivid pointsetta-red satin and so it goes.

MANY MODES THIS SEASON.

Continuing right through the year we shall have a wide diversity of fashion. It is impossible any longer to say that any one make is the style to the exclusion of of all others. Narrow skirts are fashionable as has just been said but in Paris the wide skirt of period of 1830 has just been introduced by one of the most exclusive dressmaking houses and appears in the same ball room with the Poiret skirt (the very narrow model) and the new Empire evening frock, and one is just as modish as the other.

TAILORED SUITS WITH SAILOR COLLARS.

Tailored suits for fall are very modish indeed. Some of the Paris importations shown by Lord and Taylor have almost straight seams from the shoulders to the edge of the jacket but the more becoming New York suits are curved in slightly at the waistline thus giving the wearer a more shapely figure.

Some of the smartest of these new suits are made with sailor collars that form long revers down the front. Fancy cheviots in wale effects and mixtures, camel's hair, serge and pebbled woolens are used for these new suits and these come in the greatest variety of weave and color.

FASHIONABLE COLORS.

Dark, sombre colorings will prevail for tailored suits. Black and white will be freely used. The dark navy blues and deep navy blues are losing none of their popularity. Certain new shades of blue called "comet" are also in line with the tendency towards the use of somber hues.

The above design is by The McCall Company, New York, Designers and Makers of McCall Patterns.

Dark prune color is another shade that bids fair to be fashionable. Royal purple has been somewhat timidly put forward by milliners. It appears also in a limited degree, in trimmings, but it can occupy the position only of a passing novelty. The dark prune shade, however is becoming to nearly everyone and will be very fashionable.

The particular shade of brown now is highest favor is dark seal, almost a brown black.

THE COMING SLEEVE

The sleeve is a very important part of this costume this season and even though it be cut in one with the bodice is nearly always most lavishly trimmed. In a vast majority of models the underarm sections of the bodice are cut high and a gusset led into the undersleeve so that there is no large armhole and free movement of the arm is not interferred with, but other models show a slightly enlarged armhole with draped or blouse effect. Sometimes it is only a yoke which is cut in one with the sleeve.

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY.

The big hat will most certainly hold its own throughout the winter. A new shape is the bell with high crown and rather small brim, The trimming may be a huge bow or rosette of ribbon or a plume attached upright at the side or back.

The newest variation of this shape is named "Chanticleer," as it resembles the feather-helmet worn by the heroine in the play, has the brim pinched up in the front in a little pointed peak or "gable."

The smaller type of hats, including the turbans are also to be fashionable. One of the prominent turbans is the Louis XV, it is usually made of draped taffeta.

It acts directly on the organs affected and is at the same time a general restorative tonic for the whole system. It cures female complaint right in the privacy of home. It makes unnecessary the disagreeable questioning, examinations and local treatment so universally insisted upon by doctors, and so abhorrent to every modest woman.

We shall not particularize here as to the symptoms of those peculiar affections incident to women, but those wanting full information as to their symptoms and means of positive cure are referred to the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser—1008 pages, newly revised and up-to-date Edition, sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only; or, in cloth binding for 31 stamps.
