MARY AND THE LAMB.

Mary had a little lamb
When it was plump and fat
She sold it to the butcher
And bought a merry widow hat.

Then to the poultry yard she went
And slew the chanticleer
And mounted it upon her hat
The truth I do aver.

She wore her hat to church next day.
It was against the rule
For scholars to make goo goo eyes
Within the Sunday school.

And so the teacher turned John out,
But he still lingered near
And waited patiently about
Until Mary did appear.

And then he ran to her and laid
His arm around her form,
As if he said I'm not afraid,
You'll shield me from the storm.

And on together home they went
Although the rain did pour,
The sequel to this story is
Like others told before.

What makes John love Mary so,
The little children cried;
'Cause Mary loves John too you know,
The teacher quick replied.

And you each gentle animal
In confidence may bind,
And make them follow at your call
If you are so inclined.

Just wear a merry widow hat
With a gay plumed chanticleer,
And if you don't capture some young chap
It will be very queer.

STOPS FISH DYNAMITERS

Deputy Game Warden Harry M. Jackson was in Baltimore Saturday in regards to several game protective matters, and made an interesting report of his summer's work on Swan Creek and the Susquehanna River. Mr. Jackson spent two months on Swan Creek after illegal fish nets and dynamiters, who were plying their illegal trade, previous to his arrival, every favorable night. Dead fish were found floating every morning at the mouth of the creek, where the dynamiters were at work.

Mr. Jackson was sent there by private individuals at their own expense to break it up. He succeeded in preventing any further dynamiting by his nightly vigilance and practically freed Swan Creek from illegal nets, obtaining some which had been placed under water by means of a drag. No owners being found the nets were destroyed. It is very unfortunate that the state of Maryland does not arrange to pay these active deputies who have to rough it in all kinds of weather and rely upon private individuals to compensate them for their time.

Mr. Jackson has been compelled to practically rough it in all his work in the game protection, sometimes having to camp out in all kinds of weather in a small tent, provided him by the Maryland State Game and Fish Protective Association. In spite of all difficulties he has been very active and has accomplished a great deal for the protection of game and fish in his own vicinity. With a half dozen paid men as active as Mr. Jackson there would be no difficulty in enforcing the laws throughout the State.

THE HAAG SHOWS UNLOADING

To those who have never seen a big show unloading from its trains of cars a grand sight is in store for them on Wednesday Sept. 21 when the Mighty Haag Railroad Shows will arrive here. To those who have seen shows unload, they will see something very interesting in the system of the Haag Shows, which is an improvement on the usual shows unloading.

The shows will arrive about 4 30 a. m. from Centreville and will start to unload about 5 o'clock and will exhibit here afternoon and evening, on Wednesday, September 21st.

TWENTY-FOUR PINS FOUND IN A NEW JERSEY GIRL

A human pin cushion exists at Patterson, N. J. The marvel is Adeline Wyckoff, daughter of Daniel Wyckoff. Doctors are puzzled. Dr. George Balleray Flood has come to no definite conclusion unless it is that the girl swallowed the pins when young. But this the mother and daughter deny.

Dr. Flood took the pins from the girl's arm, the twenty-fourth removed thus far. A year ago Miss Wyckoff complained of a pain in her arm. Her mother applied remedies for rheumatism but the pain continued. Finally the physician found a pin. That ended the pain, but a few weeks later it returned and the physican found another pin in the same spot. Then at intervals the pin returned and more pins were taken out.

LADY BESS recently belonging to Mr. Medford Roe, of Barclay, was one of the Queen Anne's horses on Tolchester track. Lady Bess was entered in the Free-for-All trot or Pace race and in the 2 17 pace class. The mare is well known by lovers of the turf in both Kent and Queen Annes. Mr. Roe sold her to Mr. Tyson, of Pennsylvania, last week for $800.

A NUMBER of well known capitalists of Centreville are at work formulating plans to organize a trust company to do a general banking business at that place. It is said that Eugene Pennington, who recently resigned as cashier of the Queen Anne's National Bank because of personal difference with two or three of the directors, has been asked to become the head of the new institution.
