FEED the birds and rabbits.

PEACE on earth, good will to all men, including our enemies.

THE year 1911 should see some move on the part of Chestertown merchants to get more trade. Think about it and lets get together. A little more business and less politics for 1911.

CHRISTMAS without the children and their Santa Claus would be like a tree bereft of its foliage. The purity and simplicity of childhood points to Him who was the greatest gift to mankind.

LET us forget the past, if possible, in our Xmas cheer and make the homecomings bright and joyous. Don't complain if you haven't everything in the world you would like to have. Remember that this is the garden spot of the world and the paradise of Maryland. This year, while other sections were visited by a distressing drouth, you had a good season. While other sections were visited by disease, our county was healthy (the doctors say more so than they ever saw it.) While the crops in some sections were injured, yours grew to perfection. Look up and be glad.

THE TRUE NATURE.

As we join in the glad festival celebration let us not overlook its true nature. The Saviour whose birth is celebrated is the most exalted of all examples of purity of life and conduct. His coming was the stimulus to a higher type of manhood. The gift thus graciously made to mankind has been humbly imitated by the human family and the interchange of Christmas tokens is therefore most suggestive. This is too often lost sight of and the celebration of the holiday is often permitted to descend to a lower level. To make the most of the occasion, the recollection of why Christmas is celebrated is essentially important.

The appeal of Christmas is not to the selfish part of ourselves. The very fact that we love to see our children enjoy the holiday, should remind us of our duty beyond them and ourselves. Recognition of Divine mercy ought to teach us our obligations to others. Hence the poor and helpless should appeal to our sympathies. He is a happy student of religious teaching who finds opportunity to contribute to the infirm, the sick and the poverty-stricken—and we are all under obligation to do this in so far as our means will permit. One thing is certain, and that is, it is far from a correct celebration of the Christmas holiday to indulge ourselves if there are others at our door who are suffering.

It is not the province of the press, however, to encroach upon the pulpit. It is, however, the part of the press to use its influence for better lives and better impulses and to insist that the groundwork shall be morality. As each Christmas festival recurs the press seeks to do its part in speeding men to higher levels. This duty is again our pleasure. Whilst we wish all our readers a Merry Christmas, may we not also wish them an unselfish and useful one?

NIGHT MAN AT PUMP HOUSE.

The following petition is being circulated in Chestertown:

To the Hon. Water Board of Chestertown:

We, the undersigned, citizens and tax-payers, in the town of Chestertown, county of Kent, State of Maryland, realizing the importance of a reasonable and immediate water pressure in order to effectively battle with fire, do hereby petition the water Board of Chestertown to devise ways and means by which there will be a reasonable and effective pressure on the water mains at all times.

We refer the Water Board to a recommendation by the Citizens' Committee recommending "a man in continuous service at the Pump House." This will improve present conditions and will suffice until better improvements can be made.

We ask that immediate steps be taken in this direction.

This is a very important matter, and every citizen of the town favorable to a quick service in case of fire should make known his wishes by signing this petition. If the Water Board's finances will not justify this expenditure, we would suggest that the petition be turned over to the Town Commissioners.

A GREATER SUNDAY SUN.

The Baltimore SUN has determined to publish a Sunday newspaper divided up into many classified sections, with color comics, stories, sports, social happenings and, in fact, the whole thing that goes with the Sunday entertainer of today. The first issue with the new features will appear January 1.

The SUN will doubtless do the thing thoroughly, as is its habit. The comics will include Happy Hooligan, Buster Brown, the Katzenjammers and other well-known laugh-making characters. Some papers rely upon the colored funny sheet and some upon the finely printed and illustrated magazine supplement. THE SUN is going to have both.

SAFETY BEYOND ALL ELSE.

Banking circles have been stirred somewhat this week by the announcement that one institution has determined to pay 4 per cent. on savings deposits. All the Kent county banks pay 3 per cent., that is, they share equally with the depositors which is considered by careful business men as a fair, safe and equitable proposition. The high rate of interest was tried for several years and discontinued for many good reasons.

It is true there are a few banking institutions which pay the high rate of interest but if the reader will investigate these institutions they will find them old and well established banks with a good sized surplus on which to draw in case of losses by weak paper or failure to make loans at a good rate, etc. It is the banks with a large surplus that can best afford to pay a high rate of interest but even these voted in the last State and National Bank Association that it was not safe banking.

This community has been particularly fortunate in the soundness and stability of its financial institutions. They have by their wise, experienced and conservative management merited the confidence of the public and we believe will continue to do so. They have met every need of the public, paid every demand made upon them and are the pride of our people. This safe and sound condition will exist so long as men of good judgment, wisdom and experience are in control of these institutions. For after all is said and done it is the surplus, success and good management of a bank which inspires confidence in its safety. The public should therefore in the matter of depositing their money look into these features which will naturally lead them into a safe and wise selection.

MESSAGE OF CHRISTMAS.

This is the season when the whole Christian world sings in unison. Christianity has its many faiths, and sometimes there is clabing and discord, but at Christmas the bells ring in harmony, for all celebrate the birth of the Christchild.

What the birth signified was made known to the world when above the star-lit plains of Bethlehem the angels sang to wondering shepherds the glad story of peace and good-will. That was a glorious message which the world has been slowly but surely learning to accept.

Each Christmas witnesses some advance in peace, good-will, and joy, for whatever may be said to the contrary, the world is steadily improving. Nations are drawn into closer association with each other as they come under the influence of Christian civilization. They may still be armed to the teeth, but they do not fly at each other's throats so readily as they did in former days. A few diplomats sitting together and amicably arranging arbitration treaties now take the place of generals and armies. And the work, when it is done, leaves no sad memories of slaughtered men, wasted countries, broken hearts and untold misery.

That which we see in the improved relations of nation with nation we also see in the everyday life of every community where the birth of the Prince of Peace is commemorated. The message of Christmas, then, is peace, and in its train are joy, good-will, brotherhood, and all those other qualities which are surely making this world more heavenlike.

THE 21st series of stock of the Kent Building and Loan Company will be opened on Monday, January 2, 1911, at the Court House, Chestertown, Md., between 7.30 and 8.30 p. m. The company's last statement showed assets of $62,152.32. The stock has been maturing at the end of 6½ years and gives the shareholders an excellent investment Communicate by mail if it is inconvenient to call.
