Mr. Gilbert Reed is visiting at the home of his mother, Mrs. Jas. C. Moore, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gordon spent a few days last week in Wilmington and Philadelphia.

Miss Nellie Davis, of Wilmington, spent a week end visit at the home of her mother, Mrs. Richard Poore.

Mr. Harry Moore and daughter, of Wilmington, are visiting at the home of his brother, Mr. J. G. Moore, this week.

Miss Lilly Jones returned home to Philadelphia Sunday after a pleasant two week's visit with her sister, Mrs. Ella Disharoon.

Mr. J. E. Higman visited his aunt, Miss Priscilla Carroll, who is sick in Wilmington, Del., last week, and found her a little improved.

Miss Fannie Hurtt and Mrs. J. B. W. Aydelotte, both of whom have been on the sick list the past two weeks, we are glad to hear are convalescent.

A festival and pie social will be held at Gillespie & Moffett's Hall, tonight, Saturday, March 11. Proceeds for benefit of the Millington Base Ball Club.

Our town is becoming over-run by stray dogs and cats that are brought in and turned loose on the town. What's the matter with the dog catcher, or have we none?

Mr. Howard Baker suffered a broken leg on last Tuesday morning. He was using a team and in some way the wagon wheel passed over his leg. Dr. Jeter reduced the fracture and Mr. Baker is getting on very nicely.

The Hub Annex is progressing finely and when completed will add to the appearance of the town and make quite an addition to the floor space of the store. Mr. Hollins expects to be ready to put in a big line of fine shoes in the near future.

When entering her home yard Tuesday evening last a young lady of our town was met by a strange dog who thinking he was cornered attacked her and bit her but fortunately did not draw the blood. She kicked him out of the yard after being bitten. Who ever owns that dog better keep him home.

Mrs. James Poore, her little daughter, Marie, and her mother, Mrs. Richard Poore, returned last week after spending several days with relatives in Wilmington. During this visit Mrs. R. Poore called at the Delaware Hospital and had an operation performed on one of her eyes which was entirely successful.

Mr. Gove Everett is assembling lumber on his lot near the depot preparatory to the erection of a large barn and stable which we understand will when competed be occupied by Mr. Samuel Merchant, our new liveryman, who is now using Mr. D. H. Anderson's stables until he can get larger and more central accommodation.

Miss Helen Price who left about two weeks ago for the West, writes that she is now delightfully located at Hinsdale, Ill., 16 miles from Chicago, where she has a position in the fine sanitarium there. She says the town has a number of millionaires among its inhabitants and is most beautifully kept, some of the residences being the finest she has seen.

Mr. William England, brother of Mr. Charles England, a prominent farmer of near Chesterville, died on Saturday morning last at the home of Mr. Thos. Wallace, near No. 10 school, of pneumonia, aged 74 years. Father Daily, of St. Dennis' Church, Galena, was called on Saturday morning and administered to him in his last moments the spiritual consolation of the church. He was buried on Monday at 10 o'clock a. m., from St. Dennis' Church, where Father Daily conducted the mass, and interment made at the Catholic Cemetery.

Mr. James C. Moore, a retired merchant of Millington, died at his home on Cypress street on Wednesday March 8, at 2 o'clock, in the morning after a short illness, aged 76 years, 11 months. Mr. Moore has been growing more feeble with the advance of years for some time but has been able to go about until about a week ago. He attended church services three times on last Sunday week. On Wednesday of last week he began complaining of a toothache and neuralgia and the pains became worse until they seemed to affect his heart and in a short time he lapsed into a comatose condition and knew very little after that until the end came. At times for short intervals he seemed to recognize his friends but could make no expression. Mr. Moore was born and raised in Kent county, Del., near Hazletville, where he married Miss Johanna Green, daughter of the late Jonathan P. Green, who later moved to Millington where he died some years ago. Mr. Moore when a young man learned the trade of a blacksmith and in 1865 he moved to Millington and opened a shop near the spot where the residence of J. G. Moore now stands. Some years later he started up a merchantile business and was very successful. After a few years his son, J. G. Moore succeeded him in the blacksmith business and after his children all grew up he closed out his mercantile business and retired to private life. After the death of his first wife Mr. Moore married Mrs. Sallie Reed, widow of the late Caleb Reed, who survives him. Mr. Moore is survived by two sons, Jonathan G. and Harry D. Moore. He was a veteran of the Civil War having served in a Delaware Regiment, a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and an honorary member of the P. O. S. of A. Funeral services were held at Trinity M. E. Church, South, of which he was a member, at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. J. A. Rood, the pastor. A few comrades, a remnant of the G. A. R. in this community, attended his funeral as a guard of honor. Washington Camp No. 42 P. O. S. of A. also attended in a body and services at the grave were performed after the ritual of the order. Interment was made at Millington cemetery. J. L. Smith funeral director.

STILL POND ITEMS.

Mrs. Laura Norris is visiting friends at Warwick and Middletown, Del.

Mrs. Fred. Ford and little daughter, Velma, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Thompson.

Mrs. Howard Woodall, of Odessa, visited Mrs. E. B. Schofield the past week.

Mr. George Harper, Jr., of New York, visited relatives here the past week.

Mr. Wilmer Ford has been visiting friends in Baltimore.

The Epworth League will be led Sunday evening by Mr. Carl Norris. Topic, "Numerous and Dangerous Foes."

DEATH'S DOINGS.

Mrs. Rebecca Emory Perkins, relict of Dr. B. B. Perkins, died in Phiadelphia Tuesday at the home of daughter, Mrs. C. S. Emory, after a long illness, aged 76. She leaves B. Frank Perkins, Sheridan, Wyoming; Emory Perkins and Mrs. C. S. Emory, Philadelpeia. The interment took place yesterday in Chester cemetery, Dr. Barrett officiating, J. E. Ferguson, undertaker; the bearers were C. S. Emory, J. Lawrence, Herbert E., Thos. W., Eben F. Perkins and Edw. W. Emory.

MRS. JAMES BROWN.

Mrs. Maria S. Brown, wife of James Brown, died Monday morning at her residence, Ripley, near Church Hill, of rheumatism, from which she had been a sufferer for a number of years. Mrs. Brown was the daughter of Vincent M. and Margaret Emory Page, and was born at Unadilla, N. Y., in 1839. Besides her husband she is survived by four children, Arthur N., James P., Helen E. and Ernest B. Brown. The funeral services were held at St. Luke's Church, Church Hill, on Thursday last, at 2 o'clock.

MARGARET LOUISE BECK

Miss Margaret Louise, the beloved daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Beck, died at the home of her parents, near Hanesville, last Sunday of tuberculosis, aged 22 years. The deceased had taught in the public shools of the county until her health broke down and proved capable in every respect. She spent some months at Eudowood but failed to overcome the disease and was brought home to spend her last days. She was a most lovable and affectionate lady and the big crowd at the funeral attested the high esteem in which she was held. Funeral services were held Tuesday, conducted by Rev. G. A. Morris, interment in Wesley Chapel cemetery, the pallbearers being Robert A. Ayres, Thomas Fowler, Raymond Hudson, Corbett Cooper, Albert Bacon and Romie Younger. Undertaker, Chas. L. Dodd.

A Loving Tribute.

The deceased was a graduate of Washington College and for nearly two years taught in the public schools of Kent. As she stood on the stage that bright June day in 1908 and received her certificate of proficiency and scholarship, no more perfect picture of health and loveliness was rarely seen, and no brighter promises of a life of usefulness and happiness could be imagined. But too soon all was changed, for the anticipations of the bright, lovely girl and her loved ones were turned into forbodings that were all too soon realized. Germs of that fatal and terrible destroyer consumpton began to manifest themselves, planted in her system by circumstances not under her control. Bravely, nobly, patiently did she fight disease and only her immediate family know how acutely she suffered to overcome the destroyer. The finest nursing and medical skill that could be had failed to stay the inroads of the disease and like a beautiful flower the young life faded and drew to a close.

To know Louise was to love and appreciate her. When we recall the many happy hours spent in her home and in her society there comes to our aching hearts a sacred memory of the influence which we shall forever cherish as dear as life to us. And while we cannot understand the mysteries of God, we have learned to bow our heads in resignation to His will and humbly say, "Thy will be done." Gladly would we have kept her longer, and we feel that earth has been robbed of a great joy and light, but we are sure that Heaven has become enriched. Heaven is nearer to us because it is her home, and we will never think of it without thinking of her occupying one of the mansions prepared for those whose delight is in the law of Lord. In vain will we question why God has robbed us of our treasure, why a young life so useful, so willing to make sacrifices for others, a life so willing to be spent to make others happy, should be taken from us, but we realize His ways are not our ways, and that He doeth all things well.

Then too, we have the sweet remembrance of her dying testimony, and the consolation that her young life will not be without its holy influence, and that she is but another link in the chain that binds her loved ones on earth to those in heaven. In all her sufferings there was not the slightest murmur, and she passed to the great beyond leaving behind the fragrance of a beautiful life, and the hope of a union in that home where there are no tears, and where all sorrow shall pass away.

The cloud rests heavily over the darkened home today, but it has its silver lining, and though the days to come will be dark and dreary without the sunshine of her presence yet behind all is the sun still shining and we shall meet again bye and bye. In loving sympathy tears dim our vision, and yet should we not rejoice that in our home there bloomed a flower, so sweet, so lovely, yet so frail, that the Good Gardner thought best to transplant it to a better land where it will continue to bloom as one of the brightest and purest that deck the fields of heaven. Knowing this, then—

Who could wish to call her
From a home of light above?
Who could wish that God had left her
Here, to cheer us with her love.
Ever with her love to guide us,
In the paths of good and right,
May we, like her, enter Heaven
With a soul all pure and white.

ROCK HALL NOTES.

March "sure is" making a vigorous effort to do honor to its name. Here we are blocked in on the 8th day by one of the biggest snows of the winter. Sleighing parties out in full force. No cause to complain, though, we have had a fine winter as a whole.

Asa Kendall, one of Piney Neck's prominent watermen, passed to the great beyond on Saturday. Another respected citizen has left us.

Mrs. Alexander, who has been spending several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Kramer, in the city, as invalid, returned to her home here on Thursday of last week much improved, but still a long way from complete recovery. She is hoping for as much recuperation as possible ere Wednesday next so as to be able to participate largely in one of the most joyous events of her household. May she fully succeed is the prayer of Max and lots of other people.

Mumps is on a savage rampage in this section. Some are seriously affected and one case has been taken to a city hospital we hear.

Last night (Friday) the young people of this place presented a splendid entertainment in Jr. O. U. A. M. hall for the benefit of the M. E. Church.

Rev. Mr. Northrup goes to Wilmington on Monday to attend the annual Conference. His parishoners of course, expect his return for a second years pastorate here.

Mr. James Davis and son, Arnold, of up the county, were visiting their parents and other members of their family here on Sunday.

Mr. T. B. Durding continues improvements to his farm, one of which is a herculean job of clearing off the line between his and the Copper and Wickes properties, along which he will erect an up-to-date wire fence. His overseer seems equal to the task.

Mr. A. Alexander is also making improvements along the line between his and Mr. Durding's farms. He has also felled the large popular tree on the Copper property which has for some time stood as a menace to passers-by.

Many of our watermen, because of the complete failure of last season's shad fishing, concluded last fall to forego shad fishing the coming season, but owing to the low prices of oysters, that conclusion has been rescinded, and now many are making preparations for shad fishing this season.

Dredgers working the lumps off Miller's Island are finding quick sales for their stock at 42½c cents per bushel, while our oyster buyers cannot get more than 27 or 30 cents a bushel for tonged oysters off Swan Point bar. Our buyers claim they cannot get any more for good stock than they get for inferior stock. When a comparison is made between the results of the two sections of the same parts of the bay, it looks like a loose screw needs tighting up some where.

WORTON SCHOOL AVERAGES.

Averages made by pupils of Worton Public School for the month of February:

REV. J. M. HOLMES WEDS; TAKES A WASHINGTON BRIDE

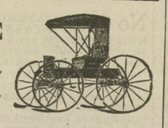

Rev. John M. Holmes, pastor of First Methodist Protestant Church in Alexandria, Va., and well known in Chestertown, and Miss E. Virginia Ferguson, of Washington, were married on Monday in the latter city. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride in the Berkshire Apartments by Rev. Dr. J. M. Sheridan, of Baltimore, who is the president of the Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church. Rev. Mr. Holmes was a widower, his first wife having died in Baltimore several years ago. He has two children, a daughter, Miss Lulu Holmes, and a son, John M. Holmes, Jr., who is connected with the Johns Hopkins University Y. M. C. A. The wedding was a quiet affair. The couple will reside in Alexandria. The bride is an active worker in Rhode Island Methodist Protestant Church in Washington, and it has been during the pastorate of Dr. Holmes in Alexandria (two years) that he met her.

Dr. Holmes has been a member of the Methodist Protestant Conference for over 30 years, and he is one of the most prominent members. He has served in Baltimore as pastor of West Baltimore, Mount Lebanon and Allnut Memorial churches. His pastorates at each lasted five years. Dr. Holmes has also served churches in a number of towns in the state. He is not only known as a builder of churches but a successful moneyraiser in the churches.

THE Pomona Telephone Co. has been organized with the following subscribers: Miss Lizzie Baker, George M. Hadaway, Walter S. Trew, T. R. Starr, Wm. C. Townsend, Edw. W. Emory and R. C. Leaverton, agent for company. It is expected that the line to Cliff City will be completed in a short time as but two more subscribers are required.

The Best Show in Town

THE FAIRLEE MINSTRELS were fine and Guy Bros. did well, but all who have visited Jefferson & Bros. Store seem to agree that the grand display of Spring Goods for 1911 constitutes the best show in town. The Dress Goods, White Goods, Laces, Embroideries, Staple Articles, etc., etc., surpass in variety and quality all other standards of excellence reached in the five years' history of the Store. In short, the store is making a new record for itself. All are cordially invited to the best show in town.

☞ADMISSION FREE.

Silk Foulards and Cotton Voiles

These fabrics will be used extensively this season. Foulards at the following prices: 69c, 85c, and 90c per yard. The blue, with white dot, will make a stylish dress.

Cotton Voile, both fancy and plain, at 50c and 25c respectively. We have the fancy voile in the colors—white, black, light blue, lavender, old rose and green. Daintier goods than these can nowhere be found, and if you are contemplating buying an evening dress, you should see these beautiful voiles at 50c per yard.

Silk Messaline

Our line of Messalines was filled in last week, and now about all colors are represented. These silks (27 inches wide) and prices of same are very popular. 85c and 90c per yard.

Flaxon

This comparatively new material appears in many designs this spring. The plain, striped, large and small checked, and colored, make a choice selection for spring and summer dresses. Prices 18c and 25c.

Dress Goods

Our line of Dress Goods is the best yet. Serges, Voiles, Striped Mohairs, Santoys and Panamas take the lead, and we are prepared to please you in all the newest weaves. We can show a large assortment at all these prices, according to value, 25c, 50c, 60c, 75c, $1.00 $1.25, $1.50 per yard.

Ginghams and Percales

Our sales since January 1 in Ginghams and Percales have far exceeded those of former years. Here's the reason for it—more and better patterns. Ginghams, 8c, 10c, 12c and 15c per yard. Percales, 12½c per yard.

Suits

The beautiful Spring Suits have arrived and it will be a pleasure to show them to you. Their style, quality and kind of material will greatly attract you. We purchased the best moderate priced suits that could be bought in New York and Philadelphia. We are making a specialty of ordering suits from measurements, and we guarantee a fit.
