

...was e believed by far the nd if an invasion were the quarter which had believed his fellow-citink the United States on. All they would ciency of rifles and ould have no inclina-
, except for the sake C. said, he was in nt which had been wished to have secura considerable sum in that was rejected, of 800,000 dollars

gentlemen from N. had misunderstood he represented the as being destitute they had fowling he spoke of arms, ch would be useful at they ought not nuskets, but that The gentleman of this, when he is possessed by the eman from New-ad thought prog allusions to his with a hope that n which he had nduct of certain He declared, he with heartfelt at least, modion as he should hanging it, he eeling manner. e blank with a

and negated,

on 800,000, votes in favor

tion was filled hire, purchase armories, in be found ne-

, the follow-of the above ed from the f in the opiveniently al-

the amend-the house,

Extract of a letter from our consul at Gothenburg, in Sweden, dated the 10th of February, 1798, to a merchant in this city.

"We have just received the account of Hamburg having been shut against the English vessels. If it is the case, you know what advantage for the general trade may be found in the free port of Gothenburg. Its situation, at the bottom of the North-Sea, before entering the Baltic, renders it the most proper for the exchange of all American and West-India produce, as well as those of all countries surrounding the north and the Baltic seas. Gothenburg has been declared a free port for twenty years, by an ordinance of his Swedish majesty, dated at Stockholm the 22d of March, 1794. All kinds of merchandize imported by neutral or foreign bottoms, are, & can be, deposited here, without paying the customary duties, but for home consumption: no found-duty to be paid. No privateers to be found passing north-about. All nations have trade connections with Sweden; and here is a squadron fitting out to protect the neutral commerce.

"You may rely upon these circumstances: communicate them to your friends, and depend upon my veracity and friendship to the Americans."

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.

Arrived—Schooner Lydia, Fearson, Havanna, 12 days.

Captain Fearson, of the schooner Lydia, from the Havanna, informs, that an embargo had existed there for 32 days previous to his sailing: that he came out the 12th instant in company with a fleet of 40 sail and upwards, for different ports of the United States, one for which only, (the schooner Hope of New-York) was for this port.

The ship Four Friends, Glenn, and schooner Jane, Conyngham, from hence had arrived—also a ship belonging to this port, from Baltimore. Captain F. does not recollect the name.

The ship Eagle, for Hamburg, put to sea on Sunday last.

Brig Florida, Hayes, from hence to the Havanna, is taken by the British frigate Squirrel, capt. Hardy, and sent into New-Providence.

Sloop Polly, Hunt, of this port, has put into the Havanna, in a very leaky condition.

Several vessels below—names unknown.
Capt. West, of the Porga, left at King-honor, will continue, as it has hitherto been, prevalent in our councils, we hesitate not to declare, that whenever the insolence, violence and aggressions of other nations, shall compel our government to resistance, we are united in one sentiment, that of supporting its measures with all our energy. May that Superintending Power which governs the universe, continue to direct all your measures; that Power to which we ever wish to appeal at every crisis of our national affairs.

To which the President returned the following answer—

To the Inhabitants of the borough of York and its vicinity, in the state of Pennsylvania.
Gentlemen,

THE independent spirit of this manly address from the inhabitants of the borough of York and its vicinity, as it is conformable to the exigencies of the times, and comes from a place where I once had some general acquaintance, is peculiarly agreeable to me.

In preparing the instructions for our envoys to the French republic, I indulged a pacific, and indeed a friendly conciliatory disposition towards peace, as far as the independence of this nation, the dignity of its government, justice to other nations, and fidelity to our own undubitable rights and essential interests, would permit. The general concurrence with me in opinion upon this occasion, as far as there has been opportunity to know the sentiments of the public, and your approbation in particular, has given me great satisfaction.

The confidence you express in the wisdom and rectitude, energy and moderation of the government, in all its concerns with foreign nations, is my consolation as well as yours.

After years of depredations and cruelties, in open violation of the law of nations, and in contempt of solemn treaties, have been borne without even tolerating the means of self-preservation, or the instruments of self-defence, the Olive branch has been spurned, and ambassadors of peace and friendship repeatedly rejected with scorn.—Can still deeper humiliations be demanded of this country?

I most cordially unite with you, in your supplications to that power which rules over all, that the measures of the United States may be directed by his wisdom, and that you, my fellow-citizens, may be under his benevolent protection.

JOHN ADAMS.

The Barbary was a prize vessel, purchased by the supercargo of the Mary. She was bound from Liverpool to Martinique with a cargo worth 60,000l. She had three different engagements with French privateers, the last of which was with a cutter, in which she lost her second mate and several men. The two cooks were cut to pieces and thrown overboard after they had got peaceable possession of the brig.

Captain Thomas spoke the following vessels:

April 3, lat. 20, 43, N. long. 65, 45, ship Flora, of Philadelphia, prize to the French.

April 9, sloop —, captain Pitman, from the Mole, bound to Rhode-Island.

April 17, schooner Little Will, of Philadelphia, bound to New Orleans—all well.
Sailed in company with the schooner Mary for Baltimore.

☞ Died this morning, Mr. Joseph Clarke, architect, an honest and much respected member of society. He was formerly deputy grand master of Free-Masons in this state. In his death the society have to lament the loss of a brother, whose character and exertions reflected great honor on the exalted station which he held. His remains will be conveyed in masonic order, from his late dwelling, No. 21, South High-street, Old Town, to-morrow at 3 o'clock, P. M.
☞ His friends are requested to accept of this invitation to attend his funeral.

PORT of BALTIMORE.

ENTERED.

Brig Barbara, Thomas,	West-Indies
Snow Charlotte, Low,	do.
Sch'r. Adonis, Alden,	do.
Telegraphe, Kilburne,	do.
Hope, Benson,	do.
Felicity, Gardner,	do.
Juno, Price,	do.
Adeline, Tear,	do.
Sloop Nelly, Pease,	do.

CLEARED.

Ship Fidelity, Weems,	West-Indies
Sch'r. Redress, Claiborne,	do.

☞ The Letter-Bag of the brig Cronk, capt. Henry Daancken, for Bremen, will be taken from the Post Office on SATURDAY EVENING next.

NOTICE.

THE subscribers to the Library Company of Baltimore, are hereby informed, that the Library will be shut on Monday next, the 30th instant, and will continue so.

Fed. Cal.

Post. Daily Adv.

1798/04/26