spiritless and imbecile before the world.—To declare war, and thus invite the seizure of California, or some other similar act, would be an alternative anything but comfortable. Her position is of the most unenviable kind. A valuable portion of her territory torn from her, in the first instance, by a revolution, and now transferred to a neighboring republic—another portion (California) in a condition of revolt, if not of independence, as relates to the supreme government—her leading soldier and chieftain just driven into exile—her President the other day seized by a mob, and held for some hours a prisoner—with little national strength—no harmony in her popular mind—her aspect as a nation is indeed deplorable. Is it probable that, under these circumstances, she will declare war, or commence any act of aggression or retaliation against the United States? A few weeks longer, and we shall know her decision."

THE PAST.

Commodore Stockton's squadron sailed yesterday, immediately upon the reception of despatches from Major Donelson at Washington. The Princeton, with the commodore, left the rest of the squadron, as we learn, under a full head of steam, direct for Washington city. The brig Porpoise, it is stated, is bound for the same place. The St. Mary's and Saratoga have sailed for Pensacola, where they will join Commodore Conner's squadron. We can state nothing positively in regard to the objects of this sudden and unexpected departure. The unanimous concurrence by our government in the great measure of annexation, and the absolute certainty of its speedy consummation by the people, may possibly lead to important consequences, unless the threats and official bulletins of foreign powers are mere verbaet præterea nihil. In this view of the subject, the present attitude of Texas is one of no ordinary interest, and may justify the above extraordinary mode of conveying intelligence to the government of the U. States.

We understand that Commodore Stockton expects to be in Washington in seven days from his departure.-Galveston News, June 24.

ANNEXATION.—The Princeton, on her departure, continued firing salutes as long as she was in hearing distance, in manifestation of joy on account of the unanimous consent of our government given to the joint resolutions—the news of which she will be the first bearer to the government of the United States.

The U. States revenue-cutter Woodbury, during this day, has fired repeated salutes in commemoration of the same great and glorious occasion. This afternoon the salutes of the Woodbury have been responded to by the ship Austin; during which time the American and Texian flags were seen in union, floating to the breeze from the mast-head of the noble old ship. Ibid.

FROM CAPE MAY.

MELANCHOLY CASUALTY.—We learn from the passengers on board the steamer Portsmouth, which arrived in this city from the Capes last evening, that the rumors of poisoning and sickness at the house of Mr. Ludlow, have been highly exaggerated. There has been no poisoning, and the only sickness is a few cases of common summer cholera, occasioned by imprudence in eating too much ice cream or green fruit and corn. It is said that a lady, named Miss Cooper, has died, but the report is contradicted.

The Portsmouth brought to this city the body of Mr. John Troubat, Jr., of the firm of Alibone and Troubat, who was drowned in the surf, at 12 o'clk. on Wednesday, noon. It appears that he ventured out too far, and was carried by the undertow beyond succor, and was drowned before any effort was made to save him. A number of persons witnessed the casualty, but their energies seemed paralyzed. His sister was upon the beachin a carriage and witnessed the distressing circumstance, and was almost distracted. Mr. T. had a life preserver with him at the time, but it is supposed that his fright deprived him of the power of using it. The body was recovered about eight o'clk. in the evening, near the light-house, and was brought to this city yesterday afternoon and delivered to his relatives for interment. This circumstance and the little sickness that prevails, has cast a temporary gloom over every thing at the Capes. All places are subject to such casualties.—Philad. Ledger.

THE DUMB MADE TO SPEAK.

CAN IT BE SO.—The Lexington (Ky.) Observer states that Jacob F. Todhunter, born deaf and dumb, aged twenty-five years, has been taught to articulate by his instructor, Robert T. Anderson. The editor was incredulous when he heard this statement, bade himself "good morning," made himself distinctly understood in conversation, and read a chapter in the Bible with ease and clearness.

The fact is certainly one well calculated to excite wonder, and proves how much can be accomplished by philanthropy and perseverance even in cases almost hopeless of success. Though astonishing, we believe that the fact is nothing new. We have seen it before stated in several instances that the dumb had been taught to speak, and recently published an account of the process by which it was accomplished. We are assured by an aged gentleman of this city, celebrated in former days for his medical skill, that he was present fifty years ago at an exhibition of the deaf and dumb in London, and among the exercises were the speaking of a hymn by a deaf and dumb girl. She uttered the words clearly and distinctly, but in one tone of voice thro'out, a defect that was owing to her deafness, which prevented her giving the proper cadence and inflections of sound. It seems singular that a fact known so many years ago should not have led to the more extensive use of the means which society is now reaping the benefits have lain for years unnoticed after their discovery, until some utilitarian mind has seized and turned them to practical account, and made the advantages of general benefit.

☞ 'Worms kill thousands,' and are much more dangerous to human life than is generally supposed, because parents are not aware that the majority of diseases under which their children appear to suffer, arise altogether from worms; and while they are tampering with medicines that are of no avail, the children pine away and soon die. The remedy is sure. Dr. Sherman's Worm Lozenges we know to be a specific. They kill the worms and bring them away, when all other means fail. Equally good and successful is Dr. Sherman's Cough Lozenges.—They allay all irritation from coughing, promote expectoration, and in a short time restore to perfect health. Even the most obstinate cases of cough give way when the sufferer has appeared to be far gone in consumption, they raised him up. Are you troubled with headache? Try Sherman's Camphor Lozenges—they will cure you in a short space of time, as well as relieve from palpitation, cramps, nervous diseases, and painful affections of the bowels. And Sherman's Poor Man's Plaster is decidedly the best strengthening plaster in the world. It cures rheumatism, weakness and pain in the back, chest, &c., and will act like a charm. Do not be imposed upon by spurious articles, but ask for Dr. Sherman's preparations, and see that you get the genuine.

Baltimore Market.

[PRICES of GRAIN &c.—corrected weekly.]

Baltimore, July 22, 1845.

The market for Wheat remains much at noted last week, in reference to prices; but the supply has been rather more ample, and its condition better; we quote 85 to 90 cents for good to prime new red, and 80 for inferior; and for white 90 to 95 cents have been paid.

Corn has been scarce, white commanding 42 to 43, and yellow 44 to 45 cents.

Oats have sold at 31 to 32 cents for old crop, and 30 to 31 for new.

There is a better demand, just at this time, for most descriptions of grain than has existed for some time previous.

POSTSCRIPT

PER STEAMER OSIRIS.

Death of William Stewart at the Penitentiary.—We learn from the Balt. Clipper of yesterday that William Stewart closed his mortal existence on Saturday morning last, about 11 o'clock. He has been confined about seven years, and has proven a most excellent prisoner.

A short time before his death, Stewart sent for Mr. Roberts, the deputy warden, and told him in the presence of several others, that he desired, in view of his approaching dissolution, to renew his protestations of innocence of the awful crime for which he had so long been suffering. He told Mr. Roberts that he had not, directly or indirectly, participated in the murder; and that the first intimation he had that the foul deed had been done, was through the officers who arrested him at the steamboat on the day he returned from the Eastern Shore. He was asked if he suspicioned any person of being the perpetrator, and after hesitating a short time, said, that he had himself been arrested on suspicion, tried on suspicion, and convicted on suspicion, and as he was about to appear before his God, and in view of [illegible] that he had undergone, he would not let the name of the suspicioned party pass his lips, for fear that he might be as innocent as himself. This conversation took place about 9 o'clock, and at 11 he died as the good man dieth, in the triumph of the Christian faith. He was buried yesterday morning at 8 o'clock, in the Trinity burial ground, on the Gay street Road, and his remains were followed to the grave by several officers of the institution and other persons. The services at the grave were performed by the Rev. Mr. Wyatt, son of the Rev. Dr. Wyatt.

From the New York Herald Extra of Saturday morning.

TERRIBLE CONFLAGRATION IN NEW YORK—Over one hundred Buildings burned—$10,000,000 of property destroyed—Serious loss of life—Tremendous Explosion.

The greatest, the most terrible fire that has occurred in this city since the great conflagration of December, 1835, is now spreading devastation throughout the lower part of the city. Over one hundred Buildings, according to the best calculations, are now on fire, or have been levelled with the ground!—Most of them were large three, four and five story houses, and occupied principally by importing and other merchants.

It is a close estimate to set the loss thus far at TEN MILLIONS OF DOLLARS.

This dreadful fire broke out at half-past three o'clock this morning in New street, about three doors from the corner of Exchange Place, in a sperm oil store. It then spread to a chair factory, the next door towards Exchange Place; then through to Broad st. and to the corner of Exchange Place, where it communicated to a building occupied by some persons who [illegible] had a large quantity of saltpetre on storage, or else were manufacturers of fireworks, for in 15 minutes after it caught fire the whole blew up with a tremendous explosion, carrying six or seven buildings with it, and shaking the whole city like an earthquake. The concussion was so great as to smash more than half a million panes of glass in the neighborhood. Immediately after the explosion, fire was discovered at four different points showing that the entire block in the rear was in a complete blaze.

By last night's mail we have additional particulars of the great fire in the city of N. York. It was got under about 10 o'clock on Saturday morning.

The loss is variously estimated at from five to ten millions of dollars, and the number of houses consumed at from 300 to 500. In Exchange Place 53 warehouses were burnt, and 48 in Broad street.—About 16,500 bales of cotton was consumed. It is supposed that some 15 or 20 persons were killed by the explosion and by falling walls. At least 15 firemen were in the hospital seriously wounded. The mayor had ordered out the military to protect the property of the sufferers.

Will materially affect the body if the blood is pure. Every individual, even the most diseased, has within him a germ or root of that pure blood of our common mother Eve; which germ of pure blood is the supporter of his life, and is in constant struggle to throw off the heterogeneous, corrupt humors, which are the causes of disease in the individual. By purging the body of this diseased individual of its bad humors, you allow the germ of pure blood to gain ground and to make blood of a better quality, and so progressively till the whole mass is regenerated; for the good principle or good pure blood, is always striving to be predominant over the bad or diseased humors. Let all who wish to be of a fine healthy habit; who wish to have a sound mind in a sound body; who desire to be able to stand without injury the continual changes of this climate; who desire to have healthy children, use the Brandreth Pills, which will effectually cleanse the blood of all bad or corrupt humors, and restore the human body to the state of health enjoyed before the introduction of mineral medicines. Remember Brandreth Pills place within the reach of all health and long life.
