

court be exercised with less expense and greater convenience to the citizen. The committee and the Convention were charged with the duty of recommending to you measures of Retrenchment; and although, as individuals, they may regret that the worthy incumbent of public offices should suffer from the contemplated changes; yet, their interests compared with those of the citizens of the state and the creditors of the state, are too small to impede the great and beneficial changes proposed.

In many portions of the State, an entire change of the judiciary system is loudly called for; and we do not doubt that this particular subject of Reform should receive your special consideration, as well from its importance in other respects, as from its close association with retrenchment. In reference to the labors of the judges in what may be called the "country districts," our citizens are prone to compare them with the labors of other judges in other parts of the State. It is not to be denied that the duties referred to one judge would be perfectly competent to transact all the business. This is a matter to be tested by the public experience, and to be decided upon in accordance with it. The public have too much interest in an efficient administration of the laws, to adopt an unwise or imperfect system; and their right of choice seems as appropriate in regard to the tribunals of justice as to any other public concern. A firm, impartial, and independent judiciary, endowed with the attributes of learning and experience, and dispensing wise decisions with care and industry, may be regarded as the greatest of public blessings. No man who values private rights, or who can do so much to improve the public good, can do so much to impair this solid bulwark of public defence but upon the mode and cost of its structure; upon its adaptation to promote these great ends, the public opinion may rightfully be consulted and expressed. What may suit one condition of circumstances, it may be unwise to continue in a different one; and systems must change, either by expansion or contraction, as public necessity demands. Upon this great question you will decide with calmness; and to your will solemnly expressed, upon due enquiry and deliberation, every true citizen will render the cheerful tribute of his obedience.

It is desired in many of the counties, that the people should directly appoint the Clerks and Registers, instead of appointing them indirectly through their agents, the Governor or Senate. The qualification for local offices would seem to be within the peculiar knowledge of the citizens among whom the office is to be exercised; and their direct action, upon such appointments, would seem not only adapted to procure the best talents and experience for the particular local services, but also more certain to enforce the strict accountability of the officer. The path of this public duty will be watched by the eyes of the appointing power, and he cannot avert from official rectitude, until the strong restraints of interest upon his conduct lose their wonted influence.

Fellow-citizens we have thus endeavored to discharge the duty allotted to us by your appointment, and while we would urge upon you, according to one of the resolutions of the Convention, to "organize Reform Associations in every district," we beg to remind you that all these are but auxiliary means to your individual fidelity and energy. Your individual interests are involved, and we rely upon your manly vigor to defend them from further injury; your individual happiness is in jeopardy, and we urge you to the timely adoption of means whereby its security may be achieved.

This acting, when new comforts shall be added to your homes; when your public burdens are so far relieved, that the blessings of education shall shed upon your children, like the gentle dews of Heaven, the accomplishments of the man, and the enlightened liberty of the citizen; when the clamors of the public creditor shall give place to the proud consciousness of private independence and public faith; when each man shall rise "under his own vine and fig tree, and there be none to hurt him or make him afraid;" BELIEVE US that, in that hour of assured, PRIVATE HAPPINESS and PUBLIC GLORY, you will gratefully remember the time which you shall have given to the CAUSE OF REFORM and RETRENCHMENT. Let our motto then be—"PUBLIC FAITH RESTORED BY PUBLIC ECONOMY," and ere long, the public sentinel, on his elevated post of duty, shall exclaim—"All's well!"

Will materially affect the body if the blood is pure. Every individual, even the most diseased, has within him a germ or root of that pure blood of our common mother Eve; which germ of pure blood is the supporter of his life, and is in a constant struggle to throw off the heterogeneous, corrupt humors, which are the causes of disease in the individual. By purging the body of this diseased individual of his bad humors, you allow the germ of pure blood to gain ground and to make blood of a better quality, and to progressively till the whole mass is regenerated; for the good principle or good pure blood, is always striving to be predominant over the bad or diseased humors. Let all who wish to be of a fine healthy habit who wish to have a sound mind in a sound body; who desire to be able to stand without injury the continual changes of this climate; who desire to have healthy children, use the Brandreth Pills, which will effectually cleanse the blood of all bad or corrupt humors, and restore the human body to the state of health enjoyed before the introduction of mineral medicines. Remember Brandreth Pills place within the reach of all health and long life.

HEMSELEY'S VEGETABLE TONIC,
PREPARED BY
R. F. HEMSELEY,
PHARMACEUTIST—Easton, Md.

NO MEDICINE has acquired in so short a time so deserved a popularity, and none is prepared to present to honorable array of certificates from the Faculty of Medicine and private individuals throughout the State as Hemseley's Vegetable Tonic. In moderate doses, regularly taken, this medicine is a sure preventive of Fever & Ague and Bilious Fever, while it affords in most instances a permanent cure when employed for the removal of these diseases. In all cases of general debility arising from old age, protracted illness, or uniform delicacy and debility of constitution, it is without question one of the most agreeable and efficient tonics ever offered to the public. Let all who are afflicted apply to this remedy with the full expectation of perfect relief. It promises nothing which it is not competent to perform; and must, in a very short time, be the remedy preferred to all others in the various forms of Fever and Ague and in cases of general debility. Full directions for using it will accompany each bottle.

Certificates.
The undersigned, Physicians of Baltimore, having been made acquainted with the ingredients composing "Hemseley's Vegetable Tonic," have no hesitation in saying that the compound, if properly used, cannot fail to confer greatly on the accomplishment of the object proposed in its employment; and do therefore cheerfully recommend it to the afflicted public.

The preparation made by Mr. Hemseley, Apothecary, Easton, Md., and known as "Hemseley's Vegetable Tonic," is in my opinion the best article ever offered to the public for the radical cure of that distressing affection, Intermitting Fever. This composition forms a pleasant tonic, and furnishes a most desirable bitter in cases of constitutional debility resulting from natural infirmity or the ravages of disease. I have recommended this medicine extensively in my practice and have always found it to answer the desired purpose.
CHRIS. C. COX, A. M. M. D.

Mr. R. F. Hemseley, Sir—This is to certify that for a long time I labored under the debilitating influence of that dreadful disease, Ague & Fever, and had recourse to many remedies recommended to me by Physicians and others, all of which proved unavailing. I heard of your celebrated Vegetable Tonic, of which I procured two bottles, and before I had taken it I was entirely restored, and have not since felt any symptoms of its return. It has accomplished more in my case than all other remedies put together, and I most cheerfully recommend it to all those persons who may be laboring under this most wretched disease.

STILL ANOTHER PROOF.
[Copied from the Baltimore daily Sun.]
BALTIMORE, May 1st, 1845.
Dear Sir—It is with pleasure I communicate to you the great benefit I and my family have received from the use of Worsdell's Vegetable Restorative Pills. My daughter, Catharine Bryan, was afflicted twelve months with a disease of the Liver. She had severe pains in the breast and side, sick stomach and headache, which so debilitated her that she could not bear least exertion. Hearing of the good effects produced by Worsdell's Pills, I procured a box from Mr. J. K. Sells, 69 Hanover street. She soon experienced relief, and when she had taken the contents of three boxes, was quite restored to health and enabled to attend to her domestic duties with ease. It is about six months since I commenced using these invaluable Family Pills; during that time I have used no other medicine, as I have found them to be an excellent purifier of the blood and all that is necessary for the preservation of health.
Yours, respectfully,
K. LINDSLEY 115 Lee street.
To Mr. Pearson, Vesey street, New York

Satisfactory accounts from those who have proved the virtues of Worsdell's Pills, are almost daily sent to the proprietor, and the unprecedented great demand for them in every section of the country where their efficacy have become known, is sufficient evidence of their extraordinary qualities.
The office of Worsdell's Pills is to go at once to the root of disease by purifying that principle of life—THE BLOOD. They preserve and improve the health and digestion, relieve the lungs, promote perspiration, remove bile from the stomach and dangerous oppression from the brain; produce serenity of mind; and, in short, give tone, energy, strength, and elasticity, to all the physical functions. They do not contain a atom of Opium, Calomel, or any other deleterious drug, and have been found to be safe in the human system in such a manner, that they may justly be considered unequalled as a universal Family Medicine, being pure, safe, and the most delicate females find the occasional use of them materially beneficial to their general health.

MORE PRACTICAL PROOFS OF
THE EXTRAORDINARY VIRTUES OF
WORSDELL'S PILLS.

Cure of Dyspepsia.
EASTON, Md. May 8th, 1845.
Dear Sir—Duty to the afflicted portion of society, and gratitude to you, Sir, prompts me to communicate to you the great amount of suffering I have endured from Dyspepsia, and the inestimable benefit I have derived from using Worsdell's Vegetable Restorative Pills. About three years ago my digestive organs became weak, and twelve months from that time my system was much debilitated, which compelled me to quit work for two or three weeks at a time. All the medicine prescribed only gave me temporary relief, and I gradually became weaker. I tried various patent medicines with no better success; and at length I had to quit work altogether. I believe it was last October when a pamphlet was left at my house, advising the properties and effects of Worsdell's Pills, which induced me to try them, although I had given up all hopes of recovery, as I had been confined to my house three months—the latter part of the time I was so sick that I could not bear to be out of bed. I commenced, however, using Worsdell's Pills; the first dose I took had no effect; in the evening I took another dose of eight pills, which operated a little; the following day I repeated the same dose, and they produced a brisk purge, which relieved me. This brightened my hopes, and I persevered until I had taken the contents of one box, when, to my astonishment, I was able to go out; and, by persevering with the Pills, I soon recovered strength to enable me to attend to business. For twelve months I had suffered daily with a burning pain in my stomach, attended with pain in my side and severe headaches, and had to abstain from fresh meat.
I have given Worsdell's Pills a fair trial, and they have produced the desired effect, as I have now been able to attend to work steadily for six months; and I feel as well as ever did—I am hearty and relish my food. I sincerely believe I should have died had it not been for the timely use of those truly valuable pills. I feel thankful for the blessing I have received, and desire that all who use them may be equally benefited.
I am your respectfully,
SAML. SATTERFIELD.
To Mr. Geo. Pearson, Vestry St. N. York.

ANOTHER GREAT CURE OF FEVER AND AGUE.
Marsh Hope Bridge, Del., Sep. 20, 1844.
To Dr. WORSDELL,
Sir—The great amount of suffering produced by the Chills and Fever to thousands of my fellow creatures, induces me to make known the benefits I have derived by using your Vegetable Restorative Pills. During the past few years I have suffered much with the chills and fever, for which I have advised with Physicians, and used their prescriptions and other medicines that were recommended, without experiencing the desired relief. Three months ago I had another severe attack, and on hearing some of my neighbors praising your Pills, who had proved their virtues, I was induced to make a trial. I pursued your directions, and procured each box of Pills, in hopes of finding something in relation to the chills and fever, but there being nothing wrote under that head, I felt reluctant to use them, being assured that the Pills were safe and gentle in their effects, I concluded to try them;—I commenced by taking eight pills on going to bed, which had the effect of stopping the chills and fever on the four following evenings, which, to my astonishment, effectually cured me. It is now three months since I first used the pills, and I have had no chills or sickness of any kind; in fact I have, and continue to enjoy, better health than for many years past. My wife, also, has taken your Pills, and I have administered them to my children on several occasions with success. I can confidently recommend them as a family medicine, and an effectual remedy for the chills and fever. Grateful for the blessings I have derived by using your Vegetable Restorative Pills, and hoping you will make this known for the benefit of the suffering public,
I remain, your sincerely,
JOHN W. JAFFERSON.

AGENTS.
The public should remember that C. V. Clickener is the inventor of the Sugar-coated Pills, and that nothing of the sort was ever heard of until he introduced them. Therefore should any other person, seduced by the popularity of his discovery, advertise Sugar-coated Pills, they must be a wretched counterfeit, which it would be dangerous to use, as none but the most ingenious quacks can be found dealing in such a nefarious traffic as palming off counterfeit or genuine medicines. feb 4
