"Experience has taught the people," after more than four years' constant use of "Dr. Ross's Medicinal Lozenges," that they are the best, safest, and most pleasant preparations in use. The Cough Lozenges act like a charm in the most violent cases of cough, allaying all irritation, and produce free expectation when other means have been tried in vain. The Doctor's "Warm Lozenges" are unequalled; they are speedy in their effects, and give no quarter; the worms can stand no chance. And who has not heard of his celebrated "Camphor Lozenges"? They relieve the headache in five minutes, and are a specific for sea sickness, palpitation, loss of spirits, and the various nervous affections arising from sedentary habits. The Doctor's preparations are no humbug—they are simply suscipiums—they are all that they are recommended. One trial will satisfy the most sceptical of their virtues. Eleventh Annual Report of the UNION DORCAS SOCIETY.

THE Board of Officers of the Union Dorcas Society, respectfully present their Annual Report.

Eleven years have passed since the organization of the above society, and we present our grateful thanks to Almighty God for allowing us the privilege of alleviating the sorrows and supporting the wants of our suffering and feeble brethren. During the present year our Committees have visited and assisted, as far as their limited means would allow, all the poor within their knowledge, whom they thought required assistance.

On November nine, one was visited and assisted; three, whom we visited in December ten, all indisposed, several very sick. In January, ten, three sick. In February, eleven, three sick. On the 25th of this month, our aged and much loved pensioner, Mrs. D. W. W. exchanged a world of sorrow and affliction for one of perpetual joy and happiness. We think it due to her memory that we pause and dwell a few moments upon her character as a Christian.

She was a pensioner on this society for more than five years, and it was the universal testimony of all who visited her, than she was "an Israelite indeed in whom there appeared no guile." Through her poverty and affliction she adorned her Christian profession by bearing the fruits of the Holy Spirit in rich abundance. For meekness, humility, gratitude and cheerful resignation to all the dispensations of Providence, we think she has left few equals and no superiors. She lived to a good old age, being in her eighty-ninth year when she died, and like a ripe sheaf of corn, was gathered into the garner of her Lord and Master, where she will be safely housed until the resurrection morn shall break in full splendor upon her delighted vision, never more to be obscured by the trials and sufferings of a probationary state. "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like her's."

In March, ten persons were visited and assisted—three were sick, one died. In April, seven—one sick. In May, six—one sick. In June, six—one sick. In July, six—one very sick. In August, six—one very sick. In September, seven—one sick, one died. In October, nine—one sick, one died.

The Treasurer reports a balance in the Treasury of $87 64 1/2 Received from annual subscribers, 29 50 Donations in cash, 92 36 Fines, 43 8

Received 8129 94 Expended 105 77

Remaining in the Treasury, 824 17 Received donations for wood, groceries, mercantile, &c.—amount not known.

The Board present their thanks to the Juvenile Whigs of Easton for a donation of "two dollars and fifty cents." This speaks well for you, young whigs, and is well worthy of imitation. May you ever continue to remember the poor, and always be willing to give part of your substance toward supplying their wants. You are young now, and the most of you enjoy health and are surrounded by kind friends. Should it please God to deprive you of these blessings, may their place be supplied by "Him who sticks closer than a brother."

Though the amount remaining in the Treasury is small, yet it is much larger than it has been for several years, in consequence of the health of our town. The most of our contributors have been more or less indisposed during the present season, but only one of two have been ill. We could have spent much more, but were fearful the sick would probably have to suffer for nursing, medicine, &c.

The piercing wind and the withering leaves remind us that winter will soon be here. Many of us anticipate much pleasure during this social season. Though cold without we have both food and raiment and friends around us. When the mantle of winter covers the earth and the shrill blast whistles over the land, how sad must that heart feel who has not wherewith to procure the common necessaries of life. Perhaps they are not alone, but others may be dependent upon them for their support. Parents, what would be your feelings were your children crying for bread and you had none to give them? Children, if you were poor and had aged parents who looked to you for support, would you not be grateful to those who would assist you in relieving their wants? Among our Pensioners are Parents and Children in destitute circumstances. Feel for them as you would wish others to feel for you in like circumstances, and we are sure you will give according to your ability.

The most of our Pensioners are aged and afflicted females. When young they probably never thought they would be dependent upon public charity for their support. The thought that we shall be left alone in our old age, without friends or the means of procuring the comforts necessary to our situations, is enough to subdue the bravest heart.

We ought not only to consider it a duty but a privilege to give to the poor. Is it not a pleasure to be able to lessen the sorrows of those around us? The poor are the Lords. Are not all things His? Why carrying bread to the hungry and clothing to the naked, are we not acting as His ministers and agents? Be liberal. We are dependent upon your bounty for the means of supplying the wants of the poor during the approaching winter. We return our thanks to our friends for aiding us, and hope others (who have never before assisted us) will do likewise, and know by happy experience that it is more blessed to give than to receive.

There will be a meeting of the "Total Abstinence Temperance Society" held this evening at 7 o'clock in the Methodist Episcopal Church. The members and all others friendly to the cause are solicited to attend. An address will be delivered. By order, Nov. 18. Wm. T. ROWLENSON, Sec.
