"IS HE A DEMOCRAT.—This question naturally comes up in the mind of every one who looks at the course and reads the the speeches now being made by Judge Douglas. We find him everywhere assailing the Administration, and Mr. Breckinridge. He has nothing to say against John Bell, nor against his old rival and enemy Lincoln. With the Know-Nothing candidate, John Bell, he has tion entered into coalition in various States, and is prepared to do so wherever such THEN AND Now .- "Times change, farm,) about seven miles from Centreville, of January next. coalition can be made available against and we change with them." SEWARD .- Senator Seward, who followed so closely in the footsteps of Lincoln in proclaiming the "irrepressible conflict," seems to flatter himself with the idea that the battle has been fought and the sectional victory won by the Northern Abolitionists. He said in the course of his speech at Boston on Monday eve- Yoke of ning, alluding to Lincoln's expected triumph. "Tell your fellow-citizens that with this victory comes the end of the power of slavery in this country." This is the consummation of the "irrepressible conflict," as announced after its original author, by the acting supporter of his rival Lincoln, and aspirant for the new ressible," the victory is the destruction of the Constitutional rights of the South?
