THE INVOLUNTARY INCONSTANT. 133

LETTER XXX.

FROM THE MARQUIS OF D TO LORD
ROBERT FILLIGARD.

I Am in a little kind of consternation, my dear Lord; I cannot say that I am absolutely alarmed, but rather surpris'd, or so. Miss Francfort is gone to Bristol for a week, with Miss Sutton to see a friend, who is ill there. She did not ask me to go with her, but, on the contrary, said, that as she was obliged to leave me, I might possibly be glad to take that opportunity
