

"Mr. M. Nier in case I should demand the mails from the carrier, will you attempt to resist their delivery to me", - to which Mr. McPhee replied "that he would not answer that question further than, that he should ~~be~~ prepare himself against events of that sort as they might occur"; or words to the same import.

The foregoing is about the substance of what took place between Mr. Powell and Mr. McPhee this morning about half past 10 o'clock, in our presence.
