Southern Flag.

Spur bravely on ye gallant band,
Ye who our rights maintain,
The cause ~~it is~~ it is a glorious one!,
Ye will not fight in vain.

No longer to the ~~South~~ North appeal —
Better your rights sustain,
With musket and with pointed steel —
Then ask them not again.

The "Stars and Stripes" were once our boast:
'Tis folds our dearest pride;
But liberty and rights are lost,
Then lay that flag aside;

And let upon the lofty dome
Secession's Banner wave —
We will protect our southern homes,
'Tis them we'd die to save.

Salisbury, Tenn, 9 April 1860 S.C.M.