No admission to impartiality or partiality - we trust they shall keep free of all excitement
- though this case has produced excitement abroad, but such influence has to effect or harm - it is here simply to investigate the truth of the charge against the deft.

I am to condemn it fairly & to pronounce any other cause, above of we are acting for ourselves - but only in the cause of Justice of men to the God^d as the D^{ty} & the duty upon all of us is clear, though painful.

The crime charged by the Grand Jury upon the prisoner is that of wilful murder

They are to have all proof of your case before them & explanation of D^y - the instruction of the Court to them to try if the charge is true.
