

by Little & Brown? Which latter labor I will undertake myself with such assistance as I may need from you & Merick & Bemis.

Whereas, if they are willing to take time enough & pains eno^{ugh} to insure the correctness of this Edition, they will have a monopoly of the market?

Mr Bingham will co-operate with you in any steps you may deem it expedient to take & I think you can satisfy these Publishers that it is for their interest to abandon their first idea of getting out an Edition in which despatch is the first consideration. We have enough of those already in the market in which we have all been cruelified as no Christian men ever were before.
And now they must let the public have the assurance that their Edition does not belong to that category or the whole thing will be a failure.

I am very truly Yours
