

most credit. They put up with the endless hours of work and travel and provided immeasurable moral support. Since this book was written under forced draft, our families were asked to give even more. James and Hadley Cornell and Ruth Friendly lived with us during the writing of this book. They continue to make the difference.

Fred W. Friendly
Martha J. H. Elliott