the Making thereof.

Catherine Hoather being likewise sworne saith

That the Same to the deceased halfe an houre before M.r King That at that time the deceased could not Speak but was in a Raving Condition M.r King came and M.r Sweatnam asking him what he wanted, he wanted, M.r King asked him what he wanted, whether he respected I want you. M.r King said M.r Sweatnam if you will have your business sealed I will do it for you or if you will I'le make your Will for You but the Dec.d made no Answer then M.r King told him he did not know how Soon or how Late Your time may be to which the deceased supposed he did not know within that halfe houre M.r King asked him again if he would have his Will made he said Ay Ay, the Deponent made him Some Water gruell and he observing no Tarrow said he had Tarrow and asked why could he not have them, M.r Tilden came after who asked M.r Sweatnam to make his Will who said he would oppose himselfe and then do it. M.r Tilden bid the Deponent and other Allaby to go out of the Room Saying that he would not declare his mind for them and afterwards heard him Say no Trouble Lord but good Lady don't hurt me as She was taking his head, Dos not know that he ever Said any Lords Prayer but Swearing and Shattering

M.r John Salter being likewise Sworne Saith

He happened to be there when Jeffery Power Nathaniel Hyatson William Dunn Henry Hosier, William Smith & the Dec.d were there and heard the Dec.d had made his Will that Morning, M.r Sweatnam was Sent on affairs two persons Supporting him Speak to him but he made no Answer Some time after lifting up his hand, uttered these words. Will ye, will ye, with a great deale of Force and Vehemency but said nothing more the Said Deponent Staid two hours or more before Which time the Deceased was put to bed where he seemed to be in an Agony and could not perceive any Sense in him that M.r Miller told him that the persons Codemy told him they could not prove the Will &c.a that the Deceased was Sensible all the time of Making it & that M.r Sweatnam died in a Week afterwards

Joshua Sweatnam being also Sworne Saith

The Monday before his Will was made desired him to go Over Chester River among people that that Debt was due to him, he desired Thomas Yeocke and this Deponent to Call on John Sweatnam and desire him to Come to him for he was very Sick and after admired he did not Come to See him Saying that as he had ever but and admired he did not Come and See him in his Sickness for this Deponent thought to Go down to Wye River very So Sick that he could not go while he was talking these words to me and Thomas Yeocke Came a Servant from M.r Tilden for Silk and Thatson to make a Coat for M.r King whereupon M.r Sweatnam was Concerned & Said they know what I have in my house and why should I give it away & Desired them to call John Sweatnam to Come away to him for he did not know but they might advise him which would be worse if John Sweatnam did not come Quickly and Said again for all that I have taken Care for it for him that he was his own Brothers Son that he had no relations in this Country to