Catharine Faringer Pltff. Trustee vs. Eliza Ramsay and William Chrisman. Deft.

The Commission met on the 30th day of October 1849 at 4 o'clock P.M. at the office of the Commissioner. Present. William M. Addison Solr for Complainant and Charles A. Pitts for defendants.

The deposition of William C. Beale (being duly sworn) a witness on the part of the Complainant.

To the first Interrogatory he saith I am acquainted with

Jacob Faringer deceased twelve or thirteen years.

To the second Interrogatory he saith that some five years ago I advertised the house for sale, Mr. Faringer was there and bid for the house but it was knocked down to a man by the name of MacDonald and he failed to comply with the terms of the sale and said Faringer came to see me in the course of that or the next week, and agreed to take the house at the same price bid by MacDonald but requested me to let some one go and look at the house. I told him yes. The next day he told me he would take the house. We then went to a Lawyers office and had the papers drawn up, when he came to execute the papers he brought the papers in a handkerchief and paid it to me, Miss Eliza Ramsay was with him, And he told me then that he was buying it for a friend of his, and that his wife should never have any benefit from any property of his, that he had been treated damned badly.

The House referred to was on the South west corner of Canal and Lombard Streets. The Deed was made to Eliza Ramsay. I conveyed it there by his directions and did not know until then that it was for her. The deed was executed I think at Mr. Bell's office at the corner of Fayette and St. Paul's Streets. This was the only deed that I ever made to Eliza Ramsay. The paper of which I speak was the deed to Eliza Ramsay.

To the third Interrogatory he saith I was down on Lombard Street some time afterwards and said Faringer pointed out a house and said that he had just bought it under the hammer. He said that it was a good property.

To the Fourth Interrogatory he saith that he said that he had been treated badly by his wife and his wife's brother.

To the Fifth Interrogatory he saith that his business and occupation was that of a Tinsmith House Builder and I considered his circumstances good. as he appeared to have a good deal of money. and eight or nine years ago I knew him to own property on Orleans Street. He was considered a first rate salesman and I always understood before and since his death that he and his partner were the most efficient men in the market.

Note. The defendants Solicitor excepts to so much of the answers of this witness as relates to the declarations of Jacob Faringer. And so much of his answers as relates to papers not produced.

Being Cross Examined. To the First Cross Interrogatory. He saith Faringer told me so on my way to the Magistrates office to execute the papers. he did not tell me a word about buying it for a friend until he was on his way to the Magistrates.

To the second Cross Interrogatory he saith the price was Eight hundred Dollars I think.

To the Third Cross Interrogatory he saith the money was paid in Mr. Bells office.

To the Fourth Cross Interrogatory, he saith I do not know whether the whole amount was paid in Cash but it strikes me that part was paid in a note which was transferred to David N. Brown by me (And being shown a note marked R.D.B. No 1 saith) this is the note referred to which was received in part payment of the house.

Being Re-examined by Complainants Counsel to the first additional Interrogatory he saith that he did not wish the whole payment to be in Cash because he could not spare that amount from his business
