April Term 1867.

Twigg and Christopher Keeley, in the life time of said Twigg. Twigg struck the division in the life time of said Twigg Sen.R the division land between them and gave Keeley his choice. Keeley chose the said part.

To the 3d Interrogatory I was near about the same spot, a short time after there a fence was erected upon the land I noticed at the division that they struck a stake at the end of the division land by the river of the Canal and I was that the fence ran to said Stake, at the other end of said division land near said River I noticed a Gum apple tree which stood 8 or 10 feet from said division land I saw under said apple tree when they were stepping the land, the apple tree I think leans over the land I was present when said division land was made by said Keeley and Twigg, and agreed upon between them.

To 4th Interrogatory during the life time of said Twigg I saw him upon the land West of the division fence and saw hands there farming said land which I supposed to be the lands of said Twigg I saw hands at work on the lower part East of the division fence which I supposed to be said Keeleys hands I was not near enough to see whose hands they were I did not notice particularly I merely supposed each part was working there and part, and did not notice particularly with the persons were at work

Adjourned to 3 Oclock P.M.

Said Commissioner met at the Officers said Court at the hour of 3 Oclock P.M. but neither during that day any further testimony at the above land came for the undersigned adjourned to agree at such time and place as might be agreed upon if it should be necessary to take any additional evidence.

The undersigned further certifies that after having given notice to the respective Solicitors he proceeded to the residence of the late James Twigg about three Miles from Oldtown said and there on the 27th day of March in the year 1866 took the following described Deposition.

Catherine Twigg a witness of lawful age produced sworn and examined on the part of John Young, to interrogatories to her propounded by said Young, which said Interrogatories and Answers hereunto returned.

To 1st Interrogatory I knew the late James Twigg he was my husband I knew my said husband and Keeley had a talk when he was on his death bed about the divisions said property which had already been made by the parties themselves my husband and Keeley agreed at that time that there should be another division or partition of said land by some disinterested parties my said husband being dissatisfied with the former division. The said partition was made on the second or Sunday said division was made to enable each party to get work on their land I supposed the first division was not a permanent one as they afterwards agreed to have another made by disinterested
