

Ship Clemmell's N.E. London 1840
Monday Whose twenty four hours from the P.W.
Jan 20 and squally

Lat 46° 16' Long 132° 39'

Tues begins this day with heavy gales from P.W.
Jan 21 Middle and Potter part the same

Lat 43° 30'

Wednes Whose twenty four hours more pleasant Jan 22 better set double drift tops and steering to the East the wind from the N.W. on bent the fore sail and the foremast and the mast of the foremast of the P.W. on bent the day

Lat 44° 40'

Thursday Begins this day with thick fog and Jan 23 rainy weather Middle part the same Potter part spoke the Polar Hunter of Hall named for 663 whale 350 sperm

Lat 44° 43'

Friday Commences this day with fresh breeze from the westward Jan 24 saw two whales Middle and Potter part the same saw a number of white whales loose struck 3 of the the 1st part cut from the line off with the spear from the same whale one and took him along side at 10 P.M. commencing at 2 A.M. finished cutting at day the 2nd a mother whale came struck him and cut him in 2 pieces the Polar Hunter got a whale

Lat 45° 00' Long 139° 17'

Saturday All this day fine pleasant weather Jan 25 saw a plenty of whales struck one and killed him and cut him in the Polar Hunter in site So Enay

Lat 45° 00' Long 139° 22'

1840 Cruising for Whales
Jan 26 Commences this day with fine weather saw P.W. for 663 whales struck one and killed one both in along side

Latitude 45° 00' Long 139° 22'

Monday We have fine pleasant weather cut the whale Jan 27 head off and put her by the Polar Hunter in site the Potter part cut the whale in broke the after back saw more whales loose much better took her along side So Enay

Lat 45° 00'

Tues All this day fine pleasant weather cut Jan 28 the whale's head off and put her by the Potter so 663 oil down Pot cut the whale in So Enay Lat 45° 06'

Wednes Whose twenty four hours fine pleasant Jan 29 better choiced off the after hatch side the whale Lat 45° 12'

Thurs Commences this day with fine weather the Jan 30 the wind S.E. heading to the Eastward Lat strong breeze and thick rainy weather
Lat 46° 44'

Friday Begins this day with strong breeze from Jan 31 the South Middle part thick rainy Potter part chase and catch finished backing So Enay
Lat 46° 50'

Saturday Whose twenty four hours heavy gales Feb 1 from the P.W. commencing Lat 47° 34' Long 139° 29'

Sunday Commences this day with fresh breeze Feb 2 from the P.W. Middle and Potter part the same
So Enay