

A Good puzzle.

A Man died and left 17 Oxen, to be divided between three sons; The eldest to have one half,
The next one third, And the youngest one ninth.
How can it be done without One or more of them.

The Vizier lent them an Ox, Divided them equal, and gave his own Ox home again. How was it done.