

Ship Alexander Coffin Four Months out from Home Wednesday December 12th Commences with strong winds from S.E. Middle and latter parts the same Ship Medford in sight ahead. Crew employed on Rigging and picking Oakum. The mate the Jenny employed on the Skow and Daddy Fisher on his Boat, which by the way looks like any thing else but a Boat. Nothing Remarkable happened today.

Thursday December 13th Commences with light winds from S.E. Ship heading N.W. by N. The Medford drawing up with us having shifted her course, and is now steering off more for us, as if for a Span. (This is a word used to imply that Ships Ruff Company and the Officers & Crew, exchange complement visits.) It helps greatly to relieve the Tedium of a Sea Voyage. I hope she will come close to us by morning. Nothing Remarkable happened this day.

Friday December 14th Commences with light winds from S.E. Ship heading N.W. Ship Medford still in sight from ast. At 1 P.M. raised a sail close ahead of us 3 points on our lee bow. She was on a wind steering N.E. when she was ahead of us, she hauled up her main sail and hauled back. Then lowered a boat and the Captain came on board, the Mate (ours) and 3 of us passengers took their boat and a boat crew (of ours) and went on board examining. He proved to be the Hope, Commander of the Medford 25th out 520. Btts 4004pm 12.0 P.M.
They gave us rather discouraging reports from California, so much so that I believe I should have gone about home, could I have got the chance.
We staid on board till nearly 9 P.M. then went on board our own Ship and squared away for California. So ends all well.

Saturday December 15th Commences with light winds from S.E. Ship heading N.W. Ship Medford in sight off deck. At 1 P.M. wind chopped round to S.E. I hope will hang there as long as it did at S.E. If it does I shall give her 3 weeks to San Francisco. The Jenny finished the Skow today and tarred her sides and bottom, so she is abolutely to take lumber ashore at San Francisco, that is if he can get any one to go with it. which I say much doubt. as I think a man will be a fool to work for 5 or 6 dollars when he can make 50 per cent. (Lat 2°11' South

Ship Alex. Coffin 20 days from Valparaiso Across the Line!
Hurra! Hurra! Hurra! for Gold! and for the Gal! we Love! as the poet says Sunday Dec 16th Commences with light winds from S.E. and Calms at 12 P.M. found ourselves 30 miles south of the Line so that now (9 P.M.) we are once more across it. After dinner a fine breeze sprang up and wafted us on our way and by night it blew a pretty stiff breeze. Sunday at any time is a long day, but now it seems longer than usual, we are getting so impatient. But never mind we shall probably spend more than three weeks aboard the Alex Coffin, at least before her arrival at San Francisco. Nothing Remarkable happened this day all well.

Monday Dec 17th Commences with strong winds from S.E. Ship heading N.W. by N. and going along nicely. Nothing remarkable happened this day that I either saw or heard of. As we don't get the Newspaper every morning regularly, it is rather difficult to know what is going on in the busy world around. I for one am in hopes to make enough to this voyage to live ashore the rest of my life, when one can tell something near what is going on.

Tuesday Dec 18th Commences with strong winds from S.E. & S.E. Ship heading N.W. by N. and creeping along towards the land of Gold. He can't get along half fast enough to suit me. I wish I had the patience of Job. I think it would stand me a good turn about now, however I have hopes now of getting in for soon. Nothing Remarkable happened this 24 hours.

Thursday Dec 20th Commences with strong S.E. Trade. Thank God we have got them this side of land.
Ship going along nicely. Nothing Remarkable happened except the loss of 5 Hts, by as many of the Crew & Passengers poor me I haven't lost any yet since we sailed. So ends all well
