

Journal of a whaling voyage at twelve o'clock they was released for dinner and questioned a gained was Gaudelines turned too with the same faithful promises and was released Pakchocianowski was very indisubordinate to the Capt. and set down the ship the wanted men do a stroke of work on board of their and used all kinds of profane language to the Capt. at six o'clock P. M. every man consents to turn too with the promises of being obedient and was all men released from their chains

Saturday March 25th

This day was squally weather sent up the tops at day light see porpoises the crew that complains of sickness was caught in throwing about three lbs of meat in the pig trough Capt. Guss, tells them they can have as they want to eat but he wants something more steering by the wind heading East by north

Lat 14° 21' S Lon 03° 48' W

Capt Guss master
 Sunday March 26

This day was pleasant weather with light squalls
 steering east by north
 Lat 12° 56' S Lon 02° 33' W

Monday March 27th

This day good weather
 steering east by north
 by the wind

Tuesday March 28th

This day good weather steering east
 by the wind
 Lat 10° 43' S Lon 02° 43' E

Wednesday March 29th

This day moderate
 Mr. Johnson is sick
 the ship keeper is sick Mrs. Guss is sick
 all with diarrhoea
 Mrs. Antone tongue broke out with venereal disease

Thursday March 30th

This day was calm Mrs.
 Guss is much better
 the ship keeper is on the mend Mr. Johnson
 still keeps the same so ends this day with seeing a finback and dolphins Mr. Antone tongue disease is the Pot and he is receiving phiois and Blue stone wash and ointment for medical treatment
 Lat 09° 09' S Lon 04° 12' E