 York & Lancaster

The royal army consisted of about 40,000 men; the young duke of York's forces 48,760 in an action which lasted 3 days 36,776 persons were said to have been killed the greater part of whom were Lancastrians the number of persons said to have fallen in the contest between the houses of York and Lancaster 91,026

The battle of Tewkesbury was fought under Edward III King of England and is famous as being the first battle in which the use of Cannon was used A.D. 1471

In consequence of the bitter persecution of the Protestants by the order of his Catholic Majesty; the King of Spain they left the Netherlands; famine reigned in the land, Emigration not by a crowded population, but persecution, was fast making the country, not only foreign merchants, but the cities but William sought a refuge among strangers if they could find the means to escape England furnished such an asylum; and the learned the learned in Mechanical skill, and there were already 30,000 Netherlands settled in Sandwich, Norwich, and other places; assigned by Elizabeth, and there was a condition made, that each house should employ one English apprentice; and then by heavy duties on foreign manufactures they protected their own fabrics; and protected the Netherlands and thus was laid the foundation of the great manufacturing trade of England: now to gigantize; cloth making, silk making, was carried by a system that changed the whole trade. The Netherlands were the Indies; it was changed; and never was the Netherlands; vessels went every week to Antwerp loaded with silk, flax and cloth, manufactured in England. Only a few years before Flemish fabrics went from Antwerp to England. It is estimated by fair judges that up to this time 50,000 persons had been put to death in the Provinces in obedience to Edicts.

Ah! happy she, to scape from him whose kiss Had been pollution unto aught so chaste, Who soon had left her charms for Calgath's And spoiled her goodly lands to give his waste No calm domestic peace had ever designed to taste.

I read in Irving's Washington page 190 Washington letter to his Bro Augustus. I was employed to go a journey in the winter and what did I get for it?
 My expenses paid! I was then appointed to conduct a handful of men to the Ohio: What did I get by that? After going to considerable expense in preparation, I was soundly beaten and lost all! Came in had my commission taken from me under the pretence that it was an order from England. I then went out to a Camp to Braddock and lost all; and this is what I have gained by two years service. Ah! How little was he aware of the vast advantages he was gaining in this school of better efficiency. "In the hand of heaven he stood" to be shaped and trained for the highest position a man can claim the favour of his country, and the admiration of all mankind; a Christian patriot, and the greatest of the
