

Journals

Thursday 16 Jan'y 1845

Cloudy thick weather throughout blowing fresh gale from the South middle parts heavy rains the watch employed repairing the Mizen top sail

Courses	Winds	Lat	Long
N E by E	S E South	42° 8	162 50

Friday 17 Jan'y

Blowing fresh gale throughout with thick wet weather nothing in sight whatever

Courses	Winds	Lat	Long
N E E	West	40° 12	161° 27

Saturday 18 Jan'y

Blowing heavy throughout with heavy squalls and rain split the main top sail unbutton it and bent another

Courses	Winds	Lat	Long
N E E	West	38° 4	159 12

Sunday 19 Jan'y

Clear pleasant weather with strong breezes throughout this day nothing in sight whatever

Courses	Winds	Lat	Long
N by E	West	35° 37	157 44

Monday 20 Jan'y

Light air throughout with clear hot weather middle part buffeting winds from the Northward saw a large body of Porpoises

Courses	Winds	Lat	Long
N by E	N. N. W. N	34° 25	156 45

Tuesday 21 Jan'y

Calms throughout this day all hands employed cleaning ship out side and in painted the Mizen and Mizzen masts

Courses	Winds	Lat	Long
North		34°	156 24

Journal

Wednesday 22 Jan'y

Calms throughout with wet cloudy weather

Courses	Winds	Lat	Long
N by E

Thursday 23 Jan'y

Moderate breezes throughout this day the watch making season stuff set up the black smiths forge and done some small jobs

Courses	Winds	Lat	Long
N by E	E. S. W	31° 34	156° 18

Friday 24 Jan'y

Calms for the most part of this day with light showers of rain the watch sateling down the fore rigging and tarring the the head stays also repairing a top galeen sail

Courses	Winds	Lat	Long
N by E	W. S. W. S	30 38	156 18

Saturday 25 Jan'y

Blowing strong gales throughout from the Westward with heavy showers of rain steering to the Northward and Eastward the watch employed fitting the rigging and taring down

Courses	Winds	Lat	Long
N E E	S. W. to W	28° 23	153 55

Sunday 26 Jan'y

Blowing strong gale throughout the watch employed fitting rigging shocking by troubled with bed bugs

Courses	Winds	Lat	Long
N E E	West	26° 22	152°

Monday 27 Jan'y

Clear pleasant weather with light breezes throughout got through with the rigging waiting now for fine weather to paint ship

Courses	Winds	Lat	Long
N by E	West	24° 37	150 53