

Wednesday eve Oct 8th

Dear Husband. I find myself again

~~this evening~~ ~~that I may~~ hear that you are enjoying the same blessing I have spent this afternoon to your Father's friend there all well & all at home your Father has got his large harvest in & has had a Carpenter there seeing a small job for him. your mother & I sympathize together on account of poor Peter's absence as she often calls you. she express a wish for you to see your Dear babe. she said you would not know her & she had grown so fat and hand some. Benja fetch'd her home for me & is now gone over to see Abby B. Clara & Abby & Saerelia are going to Bedford to morrow in the Boat. Jedidah is well she slept with me last night she will write you soon. Father name's I should call the babe Susan Folger and as no one wants to name her & if you are pleas'd with the name I shall call her so. I think I heard you say you had as lief it would be that name as any other if not write me what to name her. I went a visiting most all last week went to Capt. Pease spent the day and from there up to Caroline's and stay'd with her and Clara three nights & from there to Aunt Virginia's and spent the day last Friday. a great deal of other visiting I have done so you see my friends have not been unkindfull of me. and many invitations I have not as yet excepted. the Doctor says he shall bring me the bill of sale of your part of the Ship ^{you} he thinks it will amount to over eleven hundred dollars. I have paid Benj that ten dollars you borrow'd of him it was my own choice he said he would lend me money if I need ^{main} of your Father says he will

There is no thing about mention that's right what's his name is like to the Grandfather
