John Fen, Sworne upon the holy Evan:
:gelists, to the said Interrogatories saith.
To the first, that he knoweth not this Will, but that he was a witnesse to another Will of Walter Russells, but he know:
:eth not what date it bore nor what is become of it, but that he heard Walter Russell, give Charles Russell ord: then to remember his brother William in his Will, whereupon Charles demanded of Walter, what it was that was due to his brother William, & he replyed six thousand pounds of lod: which he decla:
:red he would have put into his said Will.
To the second he Cannot Sweare
To the third he Cannot Sweare
To the fourth he Cannot Sweare
To the fifth he cannot Sweare

Anne Russell Sworne saith.
To the first Interogatorie that shee know:
:eth not this will, but that shee knoweth there was another Will, but Walter Russell upon his death bed the night before he dyed desired Thomas Harguest to remember his poore brother William Russell that was at the Southward to which Harguest answered he knew not

Not what was betweene them, where: upon Walter Replyed you know well enough there is 6000 lod: to be sent him in goods to the Southward in case he returne not, & if he returnes againe he knows his owne business.
To the second she Cannot Sweare
To the third shee Cannot Sweare
To the fourth shee saith that William Russell receaved the Rent of her husband Charles Russell.
To the fifth shee Cannot Sweare.

Elizabeth Harguest Sworne upon the holy Evangelists Saith
To the first Interrogatorie, that Walter Russell made another Will before he made this now shewed her, she knoweth not what date it beared, & shee knoweth not in whose keeping it is, that she gave it to Charles Russells wife, she said Charles affirming that Cap: Josiah Fendall had ordered him to Call for it.
To the second she doth suppose it was because the six thousand pounds of lod:
was not paid to William Russell, there:
:fore she thought the land was William Russell's & she heard her brother Walter
