GENERAL REMARKS.

Many years of experience and success in their profession inspire the Principals of this Institution with confidence in appealing anew to the consideration of those who design entering their daughters or wards as pupils. Due regard being had to the moral and religious, as well as to the physical and intellectual culture of their pupils, it is the constant aim of the Principals to render them valuable and accomplished members of society, and, by the inculcation of sound principles and habits of strict refinement, to fit them for any position to which their future career may lead them.

The situation of this Institution is in one of the most healthful and beautiful parts of Maryland—accessible by railroad and turnpike from every part of the Union. Four accommodation trains pass daily to and from the Cities of Baltimore and Washington. The house is large and commodious, and, from an elevated plateau, commands an extensive view of the surrounding country. The play-grounds are on an extensive scale—shaded by groves of evergreens and oaks—where the pupils may exercise or study at will, being removed from everything calculated to distract their attention. They will here realize every physical advantage in regard to exercise and recreation. The rules are such as to insure the comfort, welfare, and happiness of a well regulated family.
