

restrict the estate during my mother's life to fire wood, and the use of such ripe & mature timber as may be required for fanning. I know nothing of the matter ^{but} if such has been your practice you must desist, and pay for what you have used.

I take advantage of the same opportunity to ask what you have done in reference to the silver?

Have you deprived your mother of the use of it, and if so have you surrendered it for distribution? If she has the entire use of it, I have nothing more to say

Yours &c &c
W. A. May