

Aug. 26th. I am just offered another Chariot, which has run some time, but is still quite sound. It is neither very light nor very modern, but tolerable in both points. It is priced at £1000, and will take £190 - £230 to put it in complete order, new paint at &c. If your object is only convenience this is not dear, or ill suited to y. purpose. But the other is more elegant, new & full as cheap in proportion to their value - a msg from London for New York with $200 for flakes just arrived - the Embargo on y. articles is continued I turn over