In Consequence of a Message from Both Branches to attend the Mayor, he appeared in the Council Chamber and delivered the following Communication to wit —

City of Baltimore April 30th 1801

Gentlemen of the City Council

Soon after you last rose I discovered that the ordinance to prevent and remove Nuisances in the City and precincts and the Supplement thereto which expired on the first day of March last were not continued. I presume from inattention, as they are undoubtedly of the utmost importance being the only ones that provide against incumbering the Streets, and throwing or having offensive matter on them, and altho perhaps not so complete on the subject as might be prepared yet without them or some Substitute it will be impossible to execute the duties that will be expected from the officers of the police, and therefore I have considered it necessary to convene you on the occasion —
