this Institution, are Charles M. Keyser, Rev. J. N. McJilton, Rev. George P. Nice, John R. Moore, Edmund Smith, place vacant by death, Enoch Pratt, John R. Kelso, E. M. Greenway, Jr., George Small and Edward J. Church, Esqs.

The sympathy and fatherly kindness to them must make an everlasting impression on their young hearts. In addition to their receiving a good English education, many of them are taught music, both instrumental and vocal, in which they appear to make considerable proficiency. They are also taught different trades which make quite a profitable return to the city. The amount bestowed upon this Institution by the city could not be better appropriated.

LIBERTY STREET.

The property holders on the south east side of Liberty street, at the intersection of Baltimore street, have made frequent complaints of damage sustained by the large flow of water coming down Liberty street being dammed up by the railroad and crossing-stones, and thereby filling their cellars. An examination of these facts will convince you that there is sufficient cause for complaint.

The able report of the Sewerage Commission, established in 1862, recommends the tunneling of this street. They advise that a three foot tunnel from Lexington to Baltimore street, and one of four feet from thence to its outlet. The ability of which this commission is composed, commends its suggestions to your favorable attention. A tunnel of the character recommended would give you a street similar to others, with the bed raised in the centre with gutters on each side, and thus get rid of the crossing stones. This improvement is much needed.

The cost would be moderate, and the value of the property on the line of the street would be considerably enhanced.

CHATSWORTH RUN.

During the past year the attention of the Council was called to the necessity of tunneling this run. This stream, which makes a winding passage through the city, is in a most dilapidated condition; the stench arising from it during the summer causes much sickness, many cases terminating fatally.

The sewerage commission have laid down a plan for straightening and tunneling it, and if their views are carried out, this dreadful nuisance will

this Institution, are Charles M. Keyser, Rev. J. N. McJilton, Rev. George P. Nice, John R. Moore, Edmund Smith, place vacant by death, Enoch Pratt, John R. Kelso, E. M. Greenway, Jr., George Small and Edward J. Church, Esqs.

The sympathy and fatherly kindness to them must make an everlasting impression on their young hearts. In addition to their receiving a good English education, many of them are taught music, both instrumental and vocal, in which they appear to make considerable proficiency. They are also taught different trades which make quite a profitable return to the city. The amount bestowed upon this Institution by the city could not be better appropriated.

LIBERTY STREET.

The property holders on the south east side of Liberty street, at the intersection of Baltimore street, have made frequent complaints of damage sustained by the large flow of water coming down Liberty street being dammed up by the railroad and crossing-stones, and thereby filling their cellars. An examination of these facts will convince you that there is sufficient cause for complaint.

The able report of the Sewerage Commission, established in 1862, recommends the tunneling of this street. They advise that a three foot tunnel from Lexington to Baltimore street, and one of four feet from thence to its outlet. The ability of which this commission is composed, commends its suggestions to your favorable attention. A tunnel of the character recommended would give you a street similar to others, with the bed raised in the centre with gutters on each side, and thus get rid of the crossing stones. This improvement is much needed.

The cost would be moderate, and the value of the property on the line of the street would be considerably enhanced.

CHATSWORTH RUN.

During the past year the attention of the Council was called to the necessity of tunneling this run. This stream, which makes a winding passage through the city, is in a most dilapidated condition; the stench arising from it during the summer causes much sickness, many cases terminating fatally.

The sewerage commission have laid down a plan for straightening and tunneling it, and if their views are carried out, this dreadful nuisance will