The Sound And Fury Of Racial Madness

.. (Continued from Page 1) .. according to the Anti - Defamation League of B'nai B'rith. Seven, since November, have been directed at Jewish temples or centers. Arrests have been made in only one case.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Police Chief Douglas Hosse said last week that he has ordered a close watch on integrated Fehr Elementary School since rumors last week that it might be bombed. Three colored pupils are enrolled in the school.

ATLANTA — Robert C. Kohler, associate Southeastern director of B'nai B'rith's Anti-Defamation League, said last week that he feared that last week's bomb blast which wrecked an Atlanta synagogue might signal a shift from "systematic anti - Semitic terrorism to violence against human life."

CLINTON, Tenn.—The chairman of the Clinton County School Board said last week that it would cost approximately $250,000 to rebuild Clinton High School, which was wrecked by dynamite blasts two weeks ago. He said that the county court would meet Monday to consider problems caused by the bombing.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. — A 14-year - old white boy received a year in jail (suspended except for 60 days) and was fined a total of $165 and costs as the result of a cross burning on Sept. 10. Sentence was deferred until Feb. 11 in the case of three other youths involved who were placed on probation and ordered to observe a curfew.

NEW YORK—Sixteen youths, members of a gang known as the "stompers" were arrested by police last week after they mauled a number of white Franklin High School pupils on a Brooklyn elevated train. On the day before a group of white boys had attacked some colored pupils outside of the school.

NEW YORK—The NAACP last week issued a statement on the bombing of Jewish temples in the South in which it termed them "The ugly and inevitable fruit of the seeds of racial and religious hatred being sown by demagogic politicians and irresponsible journalists."

RICHMOND — Two Binford Junior High school pupils were treated at the Medical College of Virginia Hospital after they said they had been bruised and scratched in two separate incidents when they were attacked by colored juveniles at the same intersection.

NEW ORLEANS — The district attorney's office last week charged a teen - aged boy and girl, both high school pupils with attempted murder in the stabbing of a white man in a dispute over a bus seat. Bond was recommended at $10,000 each.

CLINTON, Tenn. — Sheriff Glad Woodward said last week that he was convinced that whoever bombed Clinton High School was a Tennessean, possibly a Clinton resident. He declined to give the basis for his belief.

LITTLE ROCK — Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett predicted last week that Congress would revoke the tax - free status of the NAACP. Bennett said he based his guess on the tenor of letters which he had been receiving from Southern and border state members of Congress since he advocated such a step as part of a plan to wreck the NAACP in the South.

Roundup Of The Week's Newsmakers

LONDON — Paul Robeson, internationally famous baritone, sang spirituals before 4,000 persons in a service conducted by the Church of England in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, to raise funds for the defense of 90 persons awaiting trial in South Africa on charges of treason.

LONDON—Eartha Kitt, Pat Boone and the Broadway stars of "My Fair Lady" were among artists named Monday for this year's Royal Command Performance for Queen Elizabeth II.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — A Memphis cotton planter Thursday nominated Governor Faubus for the $5,000 George Washington Honor Medal which is awarded annually by the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa., a non - sectarian, non - political organization formed to "maintain the American way of life."

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Charles P. Howard Sr., who for the past six years has been allied with the Moral Re-armament movement, has been accredited as a correspondent to the United Nations here. He plans to service a number of newspapers through his Howard News Syndicate, 302 Brooklyn Ave., Brooklyn 13, N.Y.

NEW YORK — Mrs. Marguerite Belafonte and Duke Ellington who act as co-chairmen of the 1958 NAACP Freedom Fund campaign, last week announced plans for the $100,000 Freedom Fund Dinner which will be held Nov. 16 in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Roosevelt, New York.

NEW YORK — Harry Belafonte and his family have set up light housekeeping at the Waldorf - Astoria after finding that no midtown Manhattan landlord would rent them an apartment upon their recent return from the singer's recent European tour.

WOODBINE, Ga. — The Rev. Clennon King, in and out of hot water for the past eight years because of his off-again, on - again efforts to fight or go along with racial segregation, is in another jam. His most recently announced plan (for taking skilled colored workers back to Africa) ran into a snag last week when his wife had him arrested on an abandonment warrant. He was jailed in default of $1,000 bail.

CHARLESTOWN, W. Va. — Wiley A. Branton, Arkansas NAACP attorney, told a Charleston audience last week that he had been offered and turned down a "deal" by which he could have become the first colored assistant attorney general in Arkansas if he had used his influence to "Get Governor Faubus off the hook" by securing a "cooling off" period in the integration struggle.

MEMPHIS—The Rev. C.H. Mason, who became involved in a racial controversy when he moved into a formerly all-white neighborhood, was arrested on a charge of aiding and abetting prostitution under a warrant which charged that he permitted his brother-in-law and a former Chicago night club singer to live together unlawfully in his home. He was freed under $500 bond.

They Said It: "Quote And Unquote"

ALTON, Ill.—"In the present world struggle between freedom and Communism we can no longer enjoy the luxury of racial prejudice." — STATE REP. PAUL SIMON, speaking at ceremonies marking the 100th anniversary of the first Lincoln-Douglas debate.

WASHINGTON — "This Southern domination of a Democratic Congress means that colored voters are voting against themselves and their vital interests when they cast a vote for any Democratic congressman or senator." — VAL WASHINGTON, minorities director of the Republican National Committee.

SAN FRANCISCO — "Whole sections of central cities will have to be re-planned and rebuilt — and measures will have to be found to open up all neighborhoods in the metropolitan areas to those colored persons who wish to and can afford to live in them." —DR. MORTON GRODZINS, University of Chicago political science department at annual conference of the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — "The bombing of schools and houses of worship are symptomatic of the type of thing that brought Hitler to power. It could eventually lead to a union between forces of crime and hate groups which would lead to anarchy." —EVANGELIST BILLY GRAHAM at his Charlotte evangelistic crusade.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C.—"Blind insistence on the part of the NAACP has done irreparable harm in race relations. Its activities, if continued, will in great part wreck public education within the Southern states, including North Carolina." — STATE ATTY. GEN. MALCOLM B. SEAWELL.

CHICAGO — "Griffin and other Southern leaders urging massive resistance to racial integration have given the green light to bigots and half-insane race mongers. It ill behooves Griffin to deplore Sunday's bombing of the Atlanta Synagogue." — HARRY GOLDEN, publisher-editor of the North Carolina Israelite.

ATLANTA — ". . .(The bombing) is the payoff for the rabble-rousing in the South. Every political rabble-rousing is the god-father of every sneaking cross burner and dynamiter at work in the South today." — MAYOR WILLIAM A. HARTSFIELD of Atlanta.

COLUMBIA, S.C. — "Billy Graham is well known for his support of the program to mix the races in the South. As a Southerner, his endorsement of racial mixing has done much harm and his presence here on the statehouse property will be misinterpreted as approval of that endorsement." — GOV. GEORGE BELL TIMMERMAN of South Carolina protesting a revival planned on the capitol grounds.

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. — "My only motive in going to South Carolina is to preach Christ and Him crucified. South Carolina has a great Christian heritage and I am certain no citizen would object to the Gospel being preached and people being won to Christ on the Capitol grounds." — EVANGELIST BILLY GRAHAM, announcing plans to go ahead with the scheduled Columbia revival despite the Timmerman protest.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — "We can think we are better than any other race, that we are God's 'pets.' Well, there's no such thing as a 'pet' in God's sight. We think Americans are God's chosen people. I want to tell you we are not. We are not any more the chosen of God than the Russians or Chinese. God loves them as much as He loves us and God hates their sins as He hates our sins." — EVANGELIST BILLY GRAHAM.

BIRMINGHAM — "I don't think it's practical. I don't see any practical way to operate that sets up a duplicated system (public and private) for the 780,000 students in Alabama. I'm not recommending it. My contention is that if you set up private, segregated schools, somebody will set up private integrated schools. And you will have more integration with private schools (which won't be practical) when we haven't been able to build enough public schools." — MACDONALD GALLION, Democratic nominee for attorney general of Alabama.

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — "I sincerely feel that many of them cared little about the substance of the bills. Their only desire, in my opinion, was that Congress should enact legislation which would degrade the Supreme Court in the minds of the American public and the world. —Sen. THOMAS C. HENNINGS Jr., (D-Mo.) commenting upon Supreme Court "Curb" bills introduced in the last session of Congress.

LONDON — "The double school system is untenable from a financial viewpoint and all schools in the South will be integrated in 10 to 20 years for economic reasons." — DR. W. E. B. DUBOIS, in an interview given a Czech magazine writer.

CHICAGO — "I completely indorse the bombings in Peoria and Atlanta and elsewhere. Only when the Jews are afraid to appear in the streets will we be able to keep them in check. It's unfortunate that the bombings have to take place. But they're inevitable." — F. ALLEN MANN, head of the Illinois chapter of the National States Rights Party.

NEW YORK — "The issue is drawn tonight in New York, in Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, San Francisco, Los Angeles—all the great cities where racial segregation has never been buttressed by law, but continues nevertheless in defiance of law. And it is here that a near-majority of America's colored residents now live —and their numbers will increase as social dislocations and economic revolution continue to sweep the Southern people, white and colored, off the land and across Mason and Dixon's line."—HARRY S. ASHMORE, Pulitzer prize winning editor of the Little Rock Arkansas Gazette.

On The Desegregation Battlefront

RAYMOND, Miss. — Rep. John Bell Williams, (D.-Miss.) joined other residents of Raymond last week in raising more than $300 to aid Little Rock in supporting its private segregated schools. In a wire to Governor Faubus, he expressed "Respect" for Faubus' "courage."

BIRMINGHAM — Walter J. Hanna, chairman of the board of trustees of the Alabama Education Fund Foundation, said last week that the corporation will be ready to go into operation of private schools if integration threatens Alabama schools.

NEW ORLEANS — Four white students suspended from Louisiana State University in the wake of integration incidents on the New Orleans campus, said that they would appeal their suspensions to University President Troy Middleton.

JACKSON, Miss. — Gov. James P. Coleman said Tuesday that closing the state's public schools would "do as much harm as the Civil War." Adding that he had no intention of "flipping matches into the gasoline barrel or grabbing headlines," Governor Coleman added that the education of 400,000 school children in Mississippi is "more important than any political career."

FRONT ROYAL, Va. — Local 371 of the Textile Workers Union of America voted to impose a $1 weekly tax on each member to help finance private schools for pupils from the closed integrated Warren County High School. The union represents 2,000 workers, many of whom are colored.

TRENTON, N.J. — A race riot which broke out among 15 problem prisoners at state prison Friday resulted in the death of a prisoner who was stabbed by a white inmate. Another white prisoner was shot by a guard before order was restored. Four other inmates were treated at the prison hospital.

CLINTON, N.Y. — The Hamilton College Chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity reported last week that its national charter has been revoked because it insisted upon a policy of non - discrimination in membership.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—About 300 persons formed a Council of Methodist Laymen last week with the avowed intention of combating church integration. Members of the group said that they would favor a split from the national Methodist Church if it does not change its policy of favoring racial integration.

CHICAGO — Two bombs, exploding almost simultaneously, shattered adjoining buildings occupied by two colored families in a changing neighborhood in the 6800 block of South Morgan St. No one was injured in the blasts which did an estimated $10,000 damage.

BOSTON — Ballistics experts last week identified the bomb thrown into a Jamaica Plain alley near a house where a group of Jehovah's Witnesses had met a short while earlier as an M-2 Army issue hand grenade. Authorities said that it was possible that it had been stolen from the Army or National Guard.

ACCRA, Ghana — A home-made bomb exploded Tuesday in the private chapel of the Roman Catholic bishop of Kumasi. The fifth in a series of such outrages, it was attributed to a group which is attempting to frighten the bishop away so that the post may be held by an African.

LITTLE ROCK — Some 200 colored pupils have transferred from the closed down Horace Mann High School, one of four Little Rock High Schools closed by Governor Faubus. Pulaski County school Superintendent E. F. Dunn said that 205 have enrolled at Wrightsville High, 10 miles south of Little Rock, and that since they had overcrowded that school's capacity, the transfers would have to be nullified.

LITTLE ROCK — Pupils at Little Rock's four high schools have $172.66 each in state money to spend on their education at other accredited public or private schools in the state, according to the state board of education. Under a new law passed by the legislature in August, the money may be transferred to the school attended in monthly installments of $24.50 each.

LITTLE ROCK — Stephen S. Jackson, deputy assistant secretary of Defense for Manpower, met with Pulaski County school officials on Oct. 6 in an effort to get the board to reverse its "all white" policy for enrollment of pupils at the elementary school recently constructed with federal funds for children of Little Rock Air Force Base personnel. No agreement was reached.

FRONT ROYAL, Va. —About 100 Warren County High School pupils began classes last week in a youth center under the instruction of six private teachers. Warren County High has been closed for five weeks under the states' anti - integration laws.

About Politics And Some Politicians

WASHINGTON — The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee charged with uncovering all forms of subversion, has shown no interest in the bombing of the Atlanta Jewish temple. Senator Eastland, committee chairman, was unavailable for comment. Committee Counsel Julien Sourwine, declined to comment on possible committee plans.

NEW YORK — Rep. Kenneth Keating, GOP candidate for Senator from New York, said last week that if he is elected he will fly south to make a personal on-the-spot investigation of synagogue bombings in order to gain information to back proposed legislation which would permit the FBI to move in wherever interstate conspiracies are working to break state felony laws.

NEW YORK — The New York Times, which classes itself as politically independent, last week announced editorially its support of Nelson A. Rockefeller, the GOP candidate for governor of New York.

RALEIGH, N.C. — Governor Hodges said last week that he does not approve of Attorney General Seawell's action in criticizing other southern states for their handling of the school integration problem.

BATON ROUGE, La. — A possible showdown on the attitudes of the National Democratic party and its Southern wing on the question of integration loomed last week after Louisiana Democrats attempted to fire Louisiana National committeeman Camille F. Gravel Jr. National Chairman Paul Butler went to Gravel's defense with a declaration that the Louisiana group was exceeding its authority. Gravel had called segregation "wrong morally."

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—State Representative W. L. (Doc) Martin of Greene County last week urged the Alabama Legislative Council to tighten up on the state's voter registration laws through enactment of a requirement for examinations for all prospective voters.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. — Segregationist John Kasper said last week that his Seaboard White Citizens Council will launch a program this week aimed at abolition of public schools in the United States through state referenda.

SHREVEPORT, La. — The Louisiana States Rights Party is planning parish organizations throughout Louisiana to raise funds to help Little Rock fight school desegregation.

WASHINGTON — The possibility that the school integration controversy may cause a third party movement in the South has resulted in a sharp difference of opinion between Louisiana's Senator Long and Florida's Senator Holland. Long feels that it will, Holland doubts that southerners will sacrifice Congressional chairmanships to which their Democratic seniority entitles them.

The Fight For Justice Through The Courts

SAN JOSE, Calif. — National officers of the American Legion's 40 and 8 Society have been summoned to appear in Superior Court here to show why Santa Clara Voiture 365, which admitted a Chinese-American member, should not be restored its charter which the national office lifted because of the admission.

LITTLE ROCK — The campaign for full operation of private, segregated schools here is awaiting the outcome of a federal court hearing in St. Louis. Temporary classes are being attended by a few of the 3,000 white pupils affected by the school closings. No classes have been set up for the colored pupils.

RICHMOND — The U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals last week upheld a lower court ruling permitting the city of Norfolk to retain "white" and "colored" rest room signs in the courthouse. District Judge Walter Hoffman had dismissed the suit for removal of the signs brought by E. A. Dawley, a Norfolk lawyer, on technical grounds. The appellate court upheld the ruling.

CINCINNATI — Segregationist John Kasper and six Clinton, Tenn., residents went before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 6th Circuit last week on appeal of a lower court conviction of violating a federal court order against interference with integration at Clinton High School.

WASHINGTON — Porter Stewart, a 43-year - old Cincinnati lawyer, was sworn in Tuesday as a justice of the United States Supreme Court. He succeeds a fellow Ohioan, Justice Harold Burton, who retired from the bench at the age of 70.

RICHMOND — The Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals last week named Samuel H. Williams, Lynchburg attorney, to oppose the state in a test case of Virginia's school grant law. The test, initiated by state officials, is believed to be an attempt to delay a U.S. Supreme Court test of the law.

WASHINGTON — An appeal for review by the Supreme Court of a ruling holding that a requirement of eligibility for admission to Louisiana State colleges and universities is illegal was rejected Monday.

WASHINGTON — Three 1956 laws enacted by the Virginia legislature to curb activities of the NAACP will come under scrutiny of the U.S. Supreme Court which agreed last week to review a lower court ruling that they are unconstitutional.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — The Birmingham bus segregation law was repealed last week by the city commission and replaced by a new ordinance which authorizes bus firms to make rules for the seating of passengers. It also makes it a misdemeanor to refuse to obey the requests of bus drivers.

LITTLE ROCK — Mrs. Gertie Garrett, a segregationist and the wife of a Little Rock fireman, filed a suit last week asking the state Supreme Court to rule on the constitutionality of the law under which Governor Faubus closed the Little Rock schools.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. —Lawyers for the Birmingham School Board have asked the United States Supreme Court to dismiss an appeal of a group of Birmingham parents from a lower court ruling that Alabama's school placement law is not unconstitutional on its face.

TALLAHASSEE — County school officials have called upon Governor Leroy Collins for state financial aid in defending public school integration suits. Suits are now pending in Dade County and at Palm Beach.

RALEIGH, N.C. — The State Supreme Court last week quashed the indictment and threw out a four-month suspended sentence given James R. Walker Jr., Raleigh lawyer, on charges of "assaulting" a Northhampton County vote registrar by pointing his finger at her when she refused to register colored voters.

LITTLE ROCK — Governor Faubus Thursday issued an extradition request for Dave Martin, an escapee from an Arkansas prison farm in 1939. Martin was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge in Dover, Del., last week. His fingerprints disclosed that he was the Arkansas escapee.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in *suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Minister Explains Why He Called On Governor

'Warmed up after I prayed...'

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. — "The Governor was a little cool to me at first, but he warmed up after I prayed. We shook hands and he thanked me for coming . . ."

With these words, the Rev. John F. Williams, pastor of First Baptist Church here, described his recent visit with Gov. J. Lindsay Almond to discuss the state's perplexing school segregation problem.

The minister, who took the bulls by the horn by going directly to the Chief Executive of the State, is pastor of this city's largest colored church.

THE 1,200 members of his church are accustomed to his straight-forward approach to problems and his tendency to be outspoken on controversial issues.

The Rev. Mr. Williams suggested that the governor appoint a bi-racial educational commission "so we can sit down and discuss the problems."

He also urged the appointment of colored citizens to the State board of education and the State parole, health and welfare boards.

"I told him that we (colored Virginians) don't feel we have any representation. I suggested that he name some colored people to these boards so we can feel that we belong — the Commonwealth of Virginia and can make some contribution to it," Rev. Williams said.

ASKED ABOUT Gov. Almond's comments, the minister replied:

"I don't think it would be fair for me to divulge what he said to me. But I can say that I was warmly received.

"We talked for about 24 minutes. I mentioned how fair he had been as a judge in Hustings Court and said I was sure that he understood the gravity of the present situation.

"I told him that I am president of the Interdenominational Ministers Alliance of Newport News, state president of the Baptist Training Union, and vice president of the Interracial Ministers Conference here, and that I was not speaking for these organizations, but for myself."

PASTOR OF First Baptist Church here for 10 years, the Rev. Mr. Williams was born in Pittsfield, Mass., but grew up in Philadelphia.

He attended Virginia Union University, and Temple University and studied for two summers at the Virginia Union School of Religion.

A fearless champion of unpopular causes, the Rev. Mr. Williams was central figure in a controversy here several years ago.

At that time he was president of the local NAACP Branch, which met monthly at his church. He objected to the second marriage of Walter White, then NAACP executive secretary.

Members of the chapter wanted to send Mr. White a congratulatory letter, but Rev. Williams refused to sign the letter.

"They (local NAACP members) got mad at me when I said Mr. White shouldn't have married out of the race. I thought it was a slap in the face for all colored women, and said so. I was in the dog house for quite a few years."

HE HAS not held NAACP office since then but has maintained his membership in the organization and has worked tirelessly to attain its objectives of first-class citizenship.

The local NAACP chapter no longer meets at First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Williams feels confident that his visit with Gov. Almond will produce results.

"He (Almond) said something very encouraging to me," the minister confided.

THE CLERGYMAN said his conference with Gov. Almond was prompted by the Governor's refusal to meet with colored organizations.

"The lines of communication were down and I just felt that something should be done. I talked with colored leaders here and we decided not to send a delegation to see the governor as this might be interpreted in some quarters as an attempt to bring pressure to bear."

The Rev. Mr. Williams is highly regarded in his community. Even those who oppose his direct approach, say he is sincere, competent and courageous.

He explains his frankness bluntly by saying: "I speak what I believe."

CAMPAIGNS IN HARLEM — Nelson Rockefeller, Republican candidate for Governor of New York state, waves as he moves along with crowd of Puerto Rican residents of Harlem section of New York, where the candidate campaigned in Spanish. During his two-hour visit, Rockefeller shook hands with hundreds, including storekeepers.

Solon warns 'anarchy' will result if South bucks court

BOSTON, Mass.—Rep. Laurence Curtis of Massachusetts declared here this week that the U.S. faced anarchy if the Supreme Court's public school desegregation decision is not carried out in the South.

Speaking before the Crispus Attucks Republican Club at Freedom House, Rep. Curtis asserted, "The law of the land as declared by the Supreme Court must be enforced.

"If Federal degrees can be evaded or disregarded, we face anarchy. The integrity and jurisdiction of the Supreme Court must be upheld."

Mr. Curtis noted to his audience that Southern obstruction to the abolition of segregation was reported fully in Asia and Africa and aroused interest and emotions.

"The reports," he warned, "create prejudice against America and are harmful to our foreign relations."

Housing for all, says Rockefeller

NEW YORK — "I would as governor, do everything in my power to provide the opportunity for a good home at reasonable cost for every individual and family in this state, irrespective orf race, creed, color or ancestry."

Nelson A. Rockefeller, GOP candidate for governor, made this statement last week to let the voters know where he stands on housing.

He also was critical of the Harriman administration, saying:

"Not a single new major housing program has been initiated by this administration. The governor's lack of a constructive housing program, capable of the job ahead, is obvious."

His program included a pledge of support for continuation of rent control and plugging of loopholes in the present law.

'Housing equality aid is great challenge'

NEW YORK—Dr. Frank S. Horne, executive director of the New York City Commission on Intergroup Relations, declared Thursday that one of the greatest educational challenges today is to assist minority families to "overcome the inertia of segregation" by making full use of state and city laws guaranteeing equal opportunity in housing.

Speaking at the Conference of the United Neighborhood Houses of Upstate New York in Albany, Dr. Horne said that we have "reached the point of transition in our nation where many doors have been unlocked and need only to be tried in order to be opened."

'Race needn't hurt value of property'

NEW YORK — The arrival of a colored family in a previously all - white neighborhood need not affect property values, according to Algernon D. Black arthor of 'Who's My Neighbor', published last week by the Public Affairs Committee, 22 East 38th Street, here.

Everything depends on the attitude of the home-owners, Mr. Black points out. "The property values will either go down, stay stable, or go up depending on the other forces at work in the neighborhood."

"Of course," he adds, "if the arrival of a colored family will bring a deterioration in property values, and if they panic and put up 'For Sale' signs, their actions will glut the market and drive property values down.

"But it is clear that what affects values is not the entrance of the non - white family but the panic selling by the previous residents.

STUDIES SHOW that "if the physical character of the housing and grounds is maintained," Mr. Black continues, and "if city services maintain good neighborhood standards, property values will remain stable no matter who moves in."

Low - income families, colored or white, the author adds, tend not to keep up their homes so well. But the presence of low - income families is a result not a cause of property value decline.

"Now, it is true," Mr. Black adds, "that most colored people have lower incomes than the white population. Most of them have had to live in poorer housing and in poorer neighborhoods than whites.

BUT BEFORE a colored family can afford to buy a house in an all - white neighborhood and before they have the desire to move into such a neighborhood or suburb, they usually have achieved a level of education, employment, and aspiration that indicates that they have just as much interest in keeping up their property as any other family."

In fact, studies show that "they frequently outdo white families in their care of house, planting flowers, painting and repairing and improving their property," Mr. Black remarked.

Candidates spar racially for votes

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (ANP)— The gubernatorial race in Tennessee shapes up as a battle between two opposing schools of thought on the No. 1 issue facing the entire nation currently—integration.

Leading the opposing sides are Commissioner Buford Ellington of Marshall County, and a fellow county resident, James N. McCord, twice governor of the state.

ELLINGTON recently won the Democratic primary nomination as candidate for Governor, but now faces stiff competition in the elections on Nov. 4 with last week's action of McCord in tossing his hat into the ring on a fusion ticket.

Ellington, born and reared in Mississippi, has risen high in Tennessee political circles in his comparatively short residence in the state. He represents and is the outspoken leader in the state for white supremacy. Though he won a plurality of votes, he fell far short of a majority and this has caused state political leaders some concern.

On the other hand, McCord, who is 79 years old, is extremely popular, especially with colored citizens, for his fair consideration of the rights of all citizens of the state.

In accepting the fusion ticket, McCord said: "I am a moderate, believe in and shall accept decisions of courts of record and shall enforce them."

'The West simply must reach Africa'

WASHINGTON "We of the West have no time to lose. We must anticipate events sympathetically to understand African aspirations and help to meet them."

Joseph C. Satterwaite, assistant secretary of state for African affairs, made that statement in a speech last week before the Western Regional Assembly Conference (University of California at Los Angeles-UCLA) in Lake Arrowhead, Calif.

In a sketch of the current status of African nationalism, Africa's struggle for economic development and the policy of the West in regard to these topics, Mr. Satterwaite declared;

"THE URGE to create a national entity and to exercise the prerogatives of self-government is clearly the major political, social and economic force at work in most of Africa today.

"Political observers predict that within the next few years, nearly 75 per cent of the 140,000,000 African still living in dependent territories will be governing themselves."

Mr. Satterwaite told his audience that African nationalism, like the continent itself, is diverse. "We cannot therefor expect," he said, "to find many generalizations that will clearly interpret all the national dramas unfolding on this great continent."

He pointed out that "responsible and articulate Africans today seek equality, dignity and justice for themselves and their fellow countrymen.

"THEY SEEK to bridge as rapidly as possible the great gulf between conditions on their continent and in the Western world. They are clearly determined to eliminate old-fashioned colonialism and racial discrimination from the African continent."

Mr. Satterwaite explained that in Africa's oldest independent states, Ethiopia and Liberia, the prevailing spirit today is that of an awakening fervor, "a growing sense of belonging to a new Africa on the move."

"Insofar as these objectives are progressive, our attitude should obviously be one of sympathy and support," he emphasized, adding;

"Having long recognized that traditional colonialism is coming to an end, the U. S. supports the principle of orderly transition to self-government.

"The speed of this evolution, we believe, should be determined by the capacity of the African populations concerned to assume and discharge the responsibilities of self-government."

HE SAID with elections held, British Sierra Leone in West Africa and Uganda in East Africa are making important steps toward autonomy and self-government.

In America's relationship with Africa, he concluded, "we can and must continue to stand steadfastly for the universal principle of non-discrimination and racial equality."

How To Speak And Write Like A College Graduate

"Now, like thousands of intelligent men and women who have not had college training in English, you can gain the ability to speak and write like a college graduate without going back to school," says Don Bolander of Career Institute, Chicago.

"The new C. I. Method makes it easy. In only 15 minutes a day at home, you can build up your vocabulary, stop making embarrassing mistakes, improve your writing, discover the secrets of interesting conversation."

According to Bolander, "Once you gain a mastery of English, you'll find yourself able to get ahead faster in your job and social life. You'll gain new poise and confidence plus the respect of those around you."

For those interested, Bolander has made available a free 32-page booklet that tells how you can gain the ability to speak and write like a college graduate, in your own home. Just put your name and address on a card or letter and send to Don Bolander, Dept. AA-17, 30 East Adams, Chicago 3, Illinois. The booklet will be mailed promptly with no obligation, of course. advt.

Who's the smarter politician, Dawson (Ill.) or Powell (N.Y.)

By LOUIS LAUTIER

WASHINGTON, (NNPA) — Who is the smarter politician—Rep. William L. Dawson of Chicago or Rep. A. Clayton Powell of Harlem?

Both bear the Democratic tag. But the resemblance stops there.

Dawson was a Republican on Chicago's Southside until 1939 when the late Mayor Edward Kelly sent for him and told him he could write his own ticket if he changed his politics.

Powell cut his political wisdom teeth on soap boxes and as the leader of a campaign for employment of colored persons in Harlem and a bus strike which resulted in the employment of colored persons as bus drivers in NYC.

AS A POLITICAL novice, Powell was friendly with Benjamin J. Davis Jr., Harvard graduate and one of the top Communists of the country. As publisher of the People's Voice, he had as his editor Doxie Wilkerson, the Communist party educational director.

In his early days in the Congress he associated with Vito Marcantonio, American Labor party. He listed himself in early Congressional Directories as co - founder of the National Negro Congress until was branded as a Communist-front.

None of these facts is cited to suggest that Powell was ever a Communist. But they do support the thesis that expediency has been the guiding factor in his political career.

WHEN HE WAS friendly with Davis, the son of the late Republican National Committeeman for Georgia was riding a wave of popularity in Harlem as a member of the NYC Council and as an outspoken champion of the rights of colored people.

Mr. Wilkerson is a former professor of education at Howard University. He was rated highly among educators as an educator. He is an excellent writer. If one ignores Wilkerson's political ideology, Powell perhaps could not have made a better choice.

No one in the Congress was superior to Marcantonio in a working knowledge of the House rules. He had only one equal, John Rankin, a race-baiter from Mississippi. Rankin would not teach Powell the Congressional ropes but Marcantonio did.

But in the years intervening since he first came to Congress in 1945, Powell has moved gradually to the right. Yet he remains the most vocal of the four colored members of Congress in his advocacy of civil rights.

This is one of the causes of his failure to advance in accordance with his party seniority.

DAWSON, after he changed from Republican to Democrat, began to build himself a political machine.

He had seen what had happened to other colored political leaders in Chicago — Ed Wright, Louis B. Anderson, Bob Jackson and Oscar Wright. When the white bosses in Chicago called them down to the Loop and told them they were through, they were finished.

Dawson determined that that would never happen to him. He first built himself a political machine in Chicago's second ward, from which he was the Democratic committeeman, and he still retains that party post.

THEN HE PUT his lieutenants on all Democratic party committees, not only in Chicago and Cook County but in the State of Illinois. As the colored population of Chicago grew, he expanded his strength within the Democratic organization and city and state government.

Colored members of the City Council and colored Democratic members of the Illinois Legislature owe their election to Bill Dawson.

There is nothing domineering about Dawson, but his political lieutenants must toe the mark or lose their political heads.

Dawson and Mayor Martin H. Kennelly did not see eye - to - eye. There was a meeting of the Democratic city committee in 1955 to determine whether Kennelly would succeed himself. After Kennelly had spoken, he asked the committeeman whether they were agreed.

"We are agreed," replied Dawson.

Kennelly told reporters he knew he was through then.

IN 1956, Dawson and the Chicago NAACP differed over the Powell amendment to the Federal-aid-to-school construction bill.

The Powell amendment would deny Federal funds to any school district which was not complying with the Supreme Court decision against segregated public school.

Dawson opposed the Powell amendment. He was against segregated schools but he believed that the Powell amendment would help to defeat the school construction bill.

Officers of the Chicago NAACP opposed his re-election because of his opposition to the Powell amendment. After the Congressional election, and at the next election of the Chicago NAACP, a slate of Dawson-backed candidates took over the NAACP.

COMMENTING on this coup, Dawson made it clear that the present officers were free to run the Chicago NAACP as they see fit. He said he had no request to make of them.

While ex-President Truman was in the White House, Dawson could talk with or see the President whenever he chose.

Powell was in the doghouse during the Truman Administration.

Because Mrs. Truman attended a tea given by the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution after his wife, Hazel Scott, had been refused use of the DAR Constitution Hall here, Powell called Mrs. Truman the "Last Lady of the Land."

From then on Truman blacklisted Powell. The Harlem Congressman was not invited even to official receptions at the White House for members of Congress.

DAWSON IS the secretary of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee and a vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

He also is the chairman of the powerful House Government Operations Committee, the staff of which includes Mrs. Christine Davis, staff director, and Elmer Henderson, counsel for one of the subcommittees.

Carmine G. De Sapio, the Tammany Hall boss, tried to purge Powell from the Democratic party. He said Powell was not a Democrat because he supported President Eisenhower for re-election in 1956.

The Democratic organization, under the nudging of De Sapio, withheld its endorsement from Powell and entered Councilman Earl Brown as the organization candidate against Powell. Gov. Harriman gave Brown his blessings.

Powell licked De Sapio by a 3 to 1 vote. Then he and De Sapio kissed and made up. Powell then came out in support of Gov. Averell Harriman against Nelson Rockefeller, the Republican gubernatorial candidate.

He also endorsed District Attorney Frank Hogan, the Democratic Senatorial candidate, who is running against Rep. Kenneth B. Keating, the Republican nominee.

POWELL HAD previously endorsed Keating because of the latter's leadership of the civil rights fight in 1957 in the House Judiciary Committee and on the House floor.

Powell's ambition is to be chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee. He is the second ranking Democrat on that committee.

If Rep. Graham A. Barden of North Carolina, chairman of that committee should die or retire from Congress for any reason, the only person standing between Powell and chairmanship of the Education and Labor Committee is Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.

African official to give Kansas speech

MANHATTAN, Kan. — A member of Parliament of the Central African Federation from Nyasaland will be the initial speaker at the Sixth Governor's Conference on World Affairs at Kansas State College on Oct. 24 and 25.

The speaker, Monoah Chirwa, will discuss the role of nationalism in Africa and how it is an influence in the world. He is expected, also, to present Africa's viewpoint and race relationships and their effect on world affairs.
